The War Today . . .

By De Witt Mackenzie
Associated Press War Analyst

BRITISH Prime Minister Winston Churchill last night stalked through fresh ruins made by Hitler's new "non-stop" blitz on London and held up his fingers in the famous "V" sign as he told the crowds with grim belligerency:

"We'll stick it out and give it!"

This sudden renewal of the aerial offensive is a nasty affair. Still, I don't believe we need regard it as a phenomenon.

It is in part an answer to the unprecedented Anglo-American bombing of western Europe and the reich which daily and nightly is blasting away the foundations of Hitler's Festung Europa. Indications are, however, that it is being conducted more for its moral effect on the world at large than for military reasons.

THE fuehrer's primary object undoubtedly is to convince both his own people and foreign nations that the reich still possesses great striking power in the air.

He aims at sustaining morale at home and at creating a bargaining point for use in case some unforeseen event should impel the Allies to abandon their demand for unconditional surrender and consider peace negotiations.

However, while the present German raids are the most severe since the terrible blitz of 1940-41, there's no sign that Hitler any longer can command sufficient air strength to bring London to its knees, or anything like it.

The Nazis are using much smaller bombing fleets than in the old days, because their Luftwaffe is only a shadow of its former self, but they're employing more powerful bombs.

The net result is that they are causing a lot of promiscuous destruction which has little military value and are killing a good many unfortunate civilians. In short, from the military viewpoint the raids thus far have had only a "nuisance value".

THE peace angle is important from Hitler's viewpoint. It long has been apparent that he is conducting a war of attrition in the hope of wearing down the Allies to a point where they will compromise. Recently it has been disclosed, too, that his agents have been putting out peace feelers in many quarters.

These overtures, though, have contemplated a negotiated peace which would enable the Nazis to salvage much from the wreckage. Thus the sum total is that we must smash Hitler on the battlefield.

Marshal Stalin reminded the world again this week that the only way to crush the Nazis is to invade western Europe and get them between two vast military millstones.

With this the Allied high command not only agrees, but Premier Churchill a couple of days ago described in forceful terms the terrific air drive in preparation for the invasion from Britain.

EVEN as Stalin and Churchill were speaking, the Anglo-American bombing effort was swelling to a volume exceeding anything heretofore seen and Churchill promised that this would increase sharply to a pitch greater than even has been conjured up in the imagination.

Our primary objective at the moment is to render Hitler's air force impotent and thus ease the bloody routes up the strongly-defended shores of the English channel.

Americans who have just reached Spain enroute home after 13 months internment in Germany — diplomats, newsmen and relief workers — say Germany can be beaten on the battlefield, but warn us that there's almost no sign of internal collapse visible to the observer.

This report comes through Taylor Henry, Associated Press correspondent, who was one of the internees. Henry records that while the German fighting strength has decreased, morale seems to have tightened to meet the emergency.

CURZON LINE REJECTED BY POLES, PAPER SAYS

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 25—The Polish government-in-exile was reported today to have sent to Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden a refusal to accept the Curzon line as a future Polish-Russian frontier and to have expressed displeasure at Prime Minister Churchill's support of the Soviet demands.

The semi-official Polish newspaper Dziennik Polski, which said Thursday the Curzon line was not acceptable, intimated the Soviet-Polish dispute has reached an impasse and that marked differences have arisen between the British and Polish governments over the boundary issue.

Marshal Stalin's rejection of the latest compromise offer of the Polish government in London was regarded as an almost foregone conclusion.

The Russian reply to a proposal for the boundaries, reportedly transmitted by Churchill, is expected to restate Soviet insistence for acceptance now of the Curzon line and some reshuffling of the Polish cabinet.

Senate Over-Rides Roosevelt Veto To Make Tax Bill Law

72 To 14 Vote Returned As Legislators Follow House In Handing President Setback; Barkley's Letter To Executive May Result In Greater Unity

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—A determined senate teamed up with the house today to over-ride President Roosevelt and enact a $2,315,200,000 tax increase bill over his caustic veto.

The senate vote was announced as 72 to 14, far more than the necessary two-thirds majority.

The President's veto message sparked a congressional revolt which from the very start left no doubt as to the final outcome of the second wartime tax measure, which Mr. Roosevelt called inadequate.

Sen. Barkley's dramatic resignation as senate Democratic leader yesterday only furnished visual proof of a seemingly inevitable break between the White House and Capitol Hill.

The senate Democrats promptly demonstrated a new independence by unanimously reelecting the genial, ruddy-faced Kentuckian to the position.

The house used votes, not words, to make plain its displeasure over the tax veto. Democrats joined Republicans in rolling up a 299 to 95 vote to over-ride the veto yesterday. The senate followed suit today.

Barkley helped clear the atmosphere by dispatching a letter of friendship to President Roosevelt last night, but even the generally conciliatory tone of this missive did not completely bridge the gaping breach between the executive and legislative branches of the government. Barkley made it clear that in the future there must be cooperation both ways.

Although expressing the deepest desire for continuation of the traditionaly cordial relations between the two, Barkley declared:

"In this great crisis of our nation's history we all must seek some common ground upon which we can meet and have confidence in one another. That applies to all branches of government. If we cannot trust one another in this tragic period of the history of our nation and of the world, how can the people trust us?"

It was evident Barkley was willing to go a long way to smooth out the turmoil which for 48 hours threatened to rip the Democratic party into dissident pieces at the beginning of a presidential campaign.

Mr. Roosevelt took the first step toward harmony Wednesday night when he urged Barkley to reconsider his intention to resign. Even if he went through with the resignation, Mr. Roosevelt said he hoped his colleagues would reelect him to the leadership unanimously.

A strangely formal pattern produced just that result yesterday. Barkley told a Democratic caucus he was determined to resign and his resignation was accepted.

A few minutes later a delegation informed him he had been reelected unanimously. He accepted and came out of the tangled situation with vastly-increased prestige.

Barkley's letter to Mr. Roosevelt struck a keynote of Democratic re-action to the brisk interchange over the veto.

"I realize that in these terrific times you are burdened with a responsibility no American president has ever borne," he wrote.

"Throughout this perilous period my heart has gone out to you in sympathetic understanding, not only of your great responsibility, but your high purpose in meeting that responsibility.

"I want you to know that that faith in you endures in me today and will continue to endure because I have recognized in you a spokesman of the people, whose chief desire was to advance their welfare and their happiness."

In another expression of his "confidence and affection" toward the President, Barkley expressed hope for continuation of "the personal and official relations which have been to me a source of infinite pride."

Sen. McKellar (D) of Tennessee who presided over the caucus, commented that the action "cleared the air—it's a great thing."

Sen. George saw the fast-breaking series of events as tending to solidify public sentiment back of the war effort.

ALLIES IMPROVE BRIDGEHEAD LINE

Nazi Attacks Smashed Near Carroceto And Cassino

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, Feb. 25—German forces ringing the Anzio beach-head, now swollen to 10 divisions, pecked at American-British lines Thursday in two fruitless attacks southwest of Carroceto as the Fifth army steadily improved its positions, it was announced today.

The enemy likewise in light force assaulted French positions on Monte Abate a mile and a half east of Terelle on the Cassino front, but artillery fire broke up the thrust, and on the lower Garigliano sector German probing attempts were blocked.

7-Inch Snow Falls

Despite a 7-inch snowfall, Allied troops improved their positions on Monte Castellone in the mountains west of the village of Cairo, midway between Cassino and Terelle.

The new German division added to the nine which have been containing the Anzio beach-head for some days was said to have been brought from northern Italy.

The two beach-head attacks were launched by only a company of infantry in each case—usually about 200 men. They were repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy, it was announced.

Tank Concentration Routed

Allied artillery got the range of a German tank concentration in the Carroceto area and forced it to disperse.

The passing of the fifth day without major developments gave the Fifth army valuable time to strengthen its defenses against an expected full-scale German offensive in the beach-head area.

The Germans made a number of nuisance infiltrations around Allied outposts south of the Nazis' main rallying point at Carroceto, but a Fifth army spokesman said all these were under control.

British Eighth army patrols found German positions still firm.

Here Are Increases Set Under New Tax Legislation

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—The nation's tax bill was increased by $2,300,000,000 to a new record total of more than $42,000,000.000 annually today as the second wartime revenue act.

First general effects of the new legislation will be felt when higher postal rates become effective 30 days hence.

Then, on April 1, higher excise taxes become effective, jumping the levy on liquor from $6 to $9 a gallon, or about 11 cents a drink on 100-proof spirits, and extending through a list of other commodities and services.

The legislation has no effect on individual income tax returns due March 15 on 1943 income.

The new law includes:

1.—Increases in individual income taxes for 1944—to yield an additional $664,900,000. There is no general rate increase. The new revenue is derived through elimination of the earned income credit and removal of reductions for excise taxes paid out.

2.—A boost in the corporation excess profits tax, from 90 percent to 95—to yield $502,100,000 more.

3.—Higher excises on "luxury" items—another $1,051,300,000.

Playboy and householder, socialite and factory hand are affected by the new excise load. The tax on cabaret charges jumps from 5 to 30 percent.

Cosmetics, furs, luggage and most jewelry will bear a 20 percent sales tax. The rate on railroad tickets and local telephone service goes from 10 to 15 per-

NAVY REVEALS DARING BLOWS AGAINST JAPS

3 Ships, 4 Barges Sunk In South Pacific; Battleships Joined Truk Assault

By The Associated Press.

American naval forces, prowling the Pacific without challenge, were disclosed today to have carried out new forays to sustain the brilliant record of assaults of Japanese island bases and shipping.

The famed "Little Beaver" squadron swept enemy shipping lanes far north of the Solomons Tuesday in what was termed the most daring surface raid ever attempted in South Pacific waters.

A Japanese destroyer or minelayer and two cargo ships were sunk along with four barges loaded with nearly 1,000 Nipponese, 73 of whom were picked up.

Kavieng, New Ireland, came in for its second naval shelling and the big guns were turned on Duke of York island to complete the no-loss mission.

Blockade Tightened

"We are tightening the blockade of the enemy's Bismarck bases," Gen. Douglas MacArthur said in announcing the naval action, "and we now dominate sea lanes to the north due to effective neutralization of the enemy's air bases in the Admiralty, New Ireland and New Britain groups."

In between sea-borne attacks on Truk and the Marianas, carrier planes showered 30 tons of bombs on three islands of an unspecified Marshalls atoll Sunday.

Japan today acknowledged the loss of 4,500 troops and 2,000 civilians at Kwajalein and Roi islands in American capture of Kwajalein atoll nearly three weeks ago.

U. S. navy figures placed the enemy dead at 8,122 against 286 Americans killed. Preliminary reports indicate the same lop-sided ratio prevailed in the just-completed occupation of Eniwetok, 380 miles west of Kwajalein.

Eyewitnesses Tell of Raid

The Tokyo raid previously told the Japanese of heavy damage suffered in the U. S. carrier attack on Truk Feb. 16-17. What it failed to mention, however, was that American battleships sailed close enough to the vaunted naval bastion to sink a Japanese cruiser trying to flee.

The bold American maneuver was described in an interview at Pearl Harbor by Lt. Comdr. William G. Privette, Chapel Hill, N. C., a torpedo squadron commander.

Lt. Comdr. Harry W. Harrison, 33, Miami Beach, Fla., a fighter squadron commander on the same carrier, related that after the first day's attack he saw only nine of about 30 ships left afloat in two anchorages, "and three of them were burning."

The officers agreed Japanese air opposition was weak. Between 19 and 26 enemy ships were announced as sunk. Japan admitted destruction of 18.

Associated Press Correspondent Vern Haugland, who accompanied the "Little Beaver" squadron on its successful patrol-raid beyond the Solomons, said the destroyers combed the once-busy shipping lanes from Truk and Palau and "found them empty."

The Japanese ships sunk were caught off New Ireland. Not a single enemy plane appeared until the naval force was enroute back to base.

ROOSEVELT RELAXES AWAY FROM CAPITAL

Chief Executive Still Battles Effects Of Influenza

By The Associated Press.

WITH THE PRESIDENTIAL PARTY, Feb. 25—President Roosevelt, slow to shake off effects of a recent attack of influenza, is getting a measure of rest and relaxation away from politically stormy Washington.

He is isolated personally from representatives of the press.

But it would be inaccurate to say he is isolated also from repercussions of his veto of the second wartime tax bill. Special facilities permit him almost instant communication with the White House.

The chief executive himself had disclosed he was out of town when he urged Senate Majority Leader Barkley not to resign in protest against the veto. No official explanation of his absence has been forthcoming.

Mr. Roosevelt, however, contracted influenza shortly after Christmas and the case was severe enough to drop his weight 10 pounds. His personal physician, Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntire, had been urging him to get out of the capital, to take it easy for a time and regain his strength.

McIntire, however, has seen no cause for alarm over the condition of his number one patient.

Nazis Give Up Vitebsk In White Russia As Reds Rip Through Crumbling Lines

RAMIREZ YIELDS ARGENTINE RULE

Government Reins Taken By Vice President Farrell

By The Associated Press.

MONTEVIDEO, Feb. 25 — Vice President Gen. Edelmiro J. Farrell took over the reins of Argentina's nine-month-old military government today after Gen. Pedro Ramirez had vacated the presidency in a sudden political upheaval regarded here as another palace coup.

U.S. Concerned Over Move

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—Acting Secretary of State Stettinius admitted concern today over the latest government shakeup in Argentina and said it possibly may raise questions "affecting the security of the hemisphere."

Full significance of the upheaval was not immediately apparent in Montevideo, as strict censorship was clamped down in Buenos Aires before any details could be transmitted abroad.

Gen. Ramirez

There seems no question, however, the situation is the direct result of smouldering opposition within Ramirez' cabinet since he decided to break with the Axis Jan. 26.

Aerial Offensive Goes On

LONDON, Feb. 25—Great formations of American heavy bombers carried the unprecedented Allied aerial offensive thundering through its sixth day today with smashes deep within Germany at aircraft production plants at Regensburg, Stuttgart and other targets.

Navy Minister Resigns

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Feb. 25—Benito Sueyro, Argentine navy minister, has resigned in the midst of the Argentine government shake-up, it was disclosed today.

Collett Trial Delay Asked

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, O., Feb. 25—James L. Collett's counsel asked unexpectedly today for an indefinite postponement in the first degree murder trial of the Clinton county hog breeder on charges of slaying the rich Elmer McCoy family. Collett was to have gone to trial Monday.

Confesses Attack Slaying

LEBANON, O., Feb. 25—Sheriff William Hufford announced that a 20-year-old suspect orally confessed today the slaying of Miss Myrtle Rogers, 44, who was found beaten, strangled and raped in a bedroom of her farm home near here late Thursday. Hufford said the suspect, registered as Eugene Balon, 20, was discharged from the army last September because of a mental deficiency and will be charged with first degree murder.

Rogachev Also Captured By Soviets; Other Legions Converge On Pskov

By The Associated Press.

Vitebsk besieged White Russian base 70 miles from the northern tip of old Poland and 290 from East Prussia, has been evacuated, the Berlin radio said today, as the Russians declared their troops are sweeping west from Rogachev and Dno through swiftly-decaying German defenses.

Rogachev is 150 miles south of Vitebsk and the rail junction of Dno is 60 miles east of Pskov, German-held gateway to the Baltics.

Moscow, however, did not immediately announce the fall of Vitebsk.

The German Transocean news agency, in a Berlin broadcast, said Vitebsk, important junction of four trunk railways and under siege by Red army troops since last November, was evacuated only after bitter fighting. An earlier Berlin broadcast had acknowledged "evacuation" of Rogachev.

Premier Stalin announced earlier that Gen. Constantin Rokossovsky's army, north of the Pripet marshes, had captured Rogachev and had advanced 15 miles on a 30-mile-wide front.

One Soviet formation alone killed 4,000 enemy troops, captured many prisoners and quantities of war material including 62 big guns, the announcement said.

Drive On Minsk Seen

The fall of Rogachev and Vitebsk—the former a rail town 15 miles north of Zhlobin, junction point on the Vitebsk-Gomel and Gomelgaminsk railways — was viewed here as indicating the Russians intend mounting a new offensive aimed at the White Russian capital of Minsk, less than 100 miles west of the nearest Russian lines on this front.

On the Baltic front, 220 miles north of the Vitebsk sector, Red army troops converging on Pskov are 20 miles north of captured Dno.

1ST CANDIDATE FILES FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Alva Dickey, Pharmacist, To Make Republican Bid

Alva Dickey, Wellsville pharmacist, became the first to announce for state representative with the filing of his petition Thursday with the Columbiana county election board. He will seek the Republican nomination at the primary May 9.

Mr. Dickey's candidacy assures a G. O. P. contest for the position of county representative in the state legislature as the incumbent, John McBane Kerr of Yellow Creek township, is circulating his petition preliminary to filing.

Mr. Dickey is a former rural school teacher in the county and later studied pharmacy at Western Reserve university. He is now engaged in the practice of pharmacy at the Anderson drug store of East Liverpool and the McLaughlin drug store of Wellsville.

Mr. Dickey is married and resides on Broadway.

This will be Mr. Dickey's first try for public office.

The election board meanwhile received the petition of Attorney Milton C. Cope of Lisbon, Republican candidate for probate judge. He announced his candidacy recently.

SOVIET DEMANDS ON FINNS LISTED

Reported Terms Claimed To Receive Mixed Reception

By The Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 25—Reported Russian terms for an armistice with Finland, especially those regarding the disposition of German troops garrisoned in northern Finland, are understood here to have met with a mixed reception in Finnish circles.

The London correspondents of Dagens Nyheter today listed six Soviet armistice demands from unofficial but well-informed non-British sources who he said are optimistic about Finland's chances of quitting the war.

Conditions Outlined

According to the dispatch, the Moscow conditions include:

1.—The 1940 winter peace border.

2.—German troops in northern Finland must be interned for the duration.

3.—If Finland desires, the Red army will march into the country to assist in putting the Germans under control, but Finland's decision on this point will be voluntary.

4.—If Finland and Russia agree on the Red army marching in, Russia will guarantee to retire after the military operation against the Germans is completed.

5.—Moscow makes no demands for changes in the Finnish government.

6.—Demobilization of the Finnish army and war damages are to be settled later by negotiations.

Finn Reports Obstacles

Against this optimistic approach was the statement of a trustworthy Finn just arrived in Sweden who said the biggest obstacles to peace are reported Russian demands—(not included in the London version)—that the Finnish army team up with the Russians in a drive to exterminate the seven German divisions now in Finland and that Soviet troops garrison the principal Finnish cities for the duration.

Finland, the informant continued, understands the Russians to feel there would be little point in an armistice if the Germans still controlled northern Finland with its valuable minerals, or if Nazi troops were permitted to slip out

Orchids Wait Buyers Of $50 'And Up' Bonds Today And Saturday

"Orchids to Bond buyers" will be the theme at the Ceramic theater today and Saturday when orchids will be given to each person who buys a $50 or higher denomination War Bond, theater officials said.

Previously, orchids had been offered only for buyers of $100 Bonds or higher denominations. Gardenias will go to persons who buy $25 Bonds.

The Bond-selling feature, arranged in an effort to push the city over its $2,307,445 Fourth War Loan quota, is sponsored jointly by the Riverview Greenhouses and the theater.

The city still needs $13,429 to go over the top on its over-all quota, though it has oversubscribed the $634,900 "E" Bond quota, City Chairman Francis P. White said.

Persons who buy Bonds at the Ceramic today and Saturday also will be admitted free to the movie, "Mme. Curie", now showing there.

U.S. LOSES 80 CRAFT DURING TWIN ASSAULT

R.A.F. Keeps Up Attacks On Schweinfurt, Steyr And Other Enemy Bases

By The Associated Press.

Powerful American air fleets which flew from British and Italian bases shot down 156 Nazi planes in extensive daylight operations Thursday.

The U. S. forces lost 49 heavy bombers and 10 fighters from Britain and 21 planes from Italy.

The Eighth and Ninth air forces from Britain battered Schweinfurt, Gotha and other German cities and three Nazi air bases in Holland.

The 15th air force struck from Italy at plane factories in Steyr, Austria.

R.A.F. Takes Up Attack

The R.A.F. took up the two-way scourge of the German aircraft industry last night, flying 1,000 bombers from Britain to Schweinfurt and other formations from Italy to Steyr, still smoking from the earlier American raids.

Today great fleets of daylight bombers crossed the channel to carry the battle into its sixth consecutive day.

British planes bombed the five rebuilt ball bearing plants of Schweinfurt in central Germany twice last night.

The R.A.F. lost 35 bombers during the night from 1,000 sorties which included attacks in northwest Germany, northern France and mine laying. The Germans bombed London again for the fifth time in six nights, cutting deep new wounds on the city's scarred face.

U. S. Score Broken Down

U. S. headquarters announced the powerful American air fleet which flew from the west and south yesterday shot down 156 Nazi planes.

Eighth air force bombers downed 83 Nazi planes during their attacks on Schweinfurt and fighter plane factories at Gotha, while their accompanying fighters accounted for 37 others in terrific air battles. Bombers of the 15th air force attacking Steyr bagged 36 Nazi fighters.

In Tuesday's two-way punch, the first of the series of simultaneous assaults from west and south, the combined American forces shot down 133 German fighters.

Steyr Damage Heavy

The British announcement said last night's heavy assault on Schweinfurt actually was carried out in two separate raids.

"Schweinfurt, the German center of ball bearing production, was the main objective and was attacked twice during the night," it said.

"Objectives in northwest Germany also were bombed and a very extensive mine laying program was completed."

R.A.F. crewmen returning to Italy from the night raid on the Steyr area said they attacked built up areas and railrods as well as the aircraft factory.

They dropped their missiles in the midst of the flames started by the Americans yesterday. They also reported heavy flak and some night fighters.

Reconnaissance showed extensive damage to the Steyr plants, coal and timber yards, the power plant and transformer station.

German fighters came out about 100 miles ahead of the target yesterday and met the Fortresses near Klagenfurt, just across the Alps.

FUND DRIVE WORKERS WILL REPORT TONIGHT

Final Figures On 'Y'-Scout Campaign To Be Given

Final reports in the annual Y. M. C. A.-Boy Scout joint fund drive to raise $16,000 will be made tonight at 6 when campaign leaders and 145 workers stage a dinner-meeting at the "Y".

In the mid-week report made Wednesday, $8,640.25, or more than half of the quota, had been subscribed in 954 pledges.

During the first three days of the campaign, the division led by William H. Vodrey Jr., had raised $4,927.75, while Max Stevens' division of eight teams reported $3,712.50.

With many contributors to the drives of former years now in the armed forces, General Chairman C. V. Hughes commented:

"We are over the hump, but coasting into the finish will not be easy. It will take plenty of work for all workers, captains and everyone connected with the campaign to reach the goal by the deadline tonight. New prospects must be uncovered."

CURZON LINE REJECTED BY POLES, PAPER SAYS

Senate Over-Rides Roosevelt Veto To Make Tax Bill Law

72 To 14 Vote Returned As Legislators Follow House In Handing President Setback; Barkley's Letter To Executive May Result In Greater Unity

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—A determined senate teamed up with the house today to over-ride President Roosevelt and enact a $2,315,200,000 tax increase bill over his caustic veto.

The senate vote was announced as 72 to 14, far more than the necessary two-thirds majority.

The President's veto message sparked a congressional revolt which from the very start left no doubt as to the final outcome of the second wartime tax measure, which Mr. Roosevelt called inadequate.

Sen. Barkley's dramatic resignation as senate Democratic leader yesterday only furnished visual proof of a seemingly inevitable break between the White House and Capitol Hill.

If we cannot trust one another in this tragic period of the history of our nation and of the world, how can the people trust us?"

It was evident Barkley was willing to go a long way to smooth out the turmoil which for 48 hours threatened to rip the Democratic party into dissident pieces at the beginning of a presidential campaign.

Mr. Roosevelt took the first step toward harmony Wednesday night when he urged Barkley to reconsider his intention to resign. Even if he went through with the resignation, Mr. Roosevelt said he hoped his colleagues would reelect him to the leadership unanimously.

A strangely formal pattern produced just that result yesterday. Barkley told a Democratic caucus he was determined to resign and his resignation was accepted.

A few minutes later a delegation informed him he had been reelected unanimously. He accepted and came out of the tangled situation with vastly-increased prestige.

Barkley's letter to Mr. Roosevelt struck a keynote of Democratic re-action to the brisk interchange over the veto.

"I realize that in these terrific times you are burdened with a responsibility no American president has ever borne," he wrote.

"Throughout this perilous period my heart has gone out to you in sympathetic understanding, not only of your great responsibility, but your high purpose in meeting that responsibility.

"I want you to know that that faith in you endures in me today and will continue to endure because I have recognized in you a spokesman of the people, whose chief desire was to advance their welfare and their happiness."

In another expression of his "confidence and affection" toward the President, Barkley expressed hope for continuation of "the personal and official relations which have been to me a source of infinite pride."

Sen. McKellar (D) of Tennessee who presided over the caucus, commented that the action "cleared the air—it's a great thing."

Sen. George saw the fast-breaking series of events as tending to solidify public sentiment back of the war effort.

ALLIES IMPROVE BRIDGEHEAD LINE

Nazi Attacks Smashed Near Carroceto And Cassino

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, Feb. 25—German forces ringing the Anzio beach-head, now swollen to 10 divisions, pecked at American-British lines Thursday in two fruitless attacks southwest of Carroceto as the Fifth army steadily improved its positions, it was announced today.

The enemy likewise in light force assaulted French positions on Monte Abate a mile and a half east of Terelle on the Cassino front, but artillery fire broke up the thrust, and on the lower Garigliano sector German probing attempts were blocked.

7-Inch Snow Falls

Despite a 7-inch snowfall, Allied troops improved their positions on Monte Castellone in the mountains west of the village of Cairo, midway between Cassino and Terelle.

The new German division added to the nine which have been containing the Anzio beach-head for some days was said to have been brought from northern Italy.

The two beach-head attacks were launched by only a company of infantry in each case—usually about 200 men. They were repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy, it was announced.

Tank Concentration Routed

Allied artillery got the range of a German tank concentration in the Carroceto area and forced it to disperse.

The passing of the fifth day without major developments gave the Fifth army valuable time to strengthen its defenses against an expected full-scale German offensive in the beach-head area.

The Germans made a number of nuisance infiltrations around Allied outposts south of the Nazis' main rallying point at Carroceto, but a Fifth army spokesman said all these were under control.

British Eighth army patrols found German positions still firm.

Here Are Increases Set Under New Tax Legislation

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—The nation's tax bill was increased by $2,300,000,000 to a new record total of more than $42,000,000,000 annually today as the second wartime revenue act.

First general effects of the new legislation will be felt when higher postal rates become effective 30 days hence.

Then, on April 1, higher excise taxes become effective, jumping the levy on liquor from $6 to $9 a gallon, or about 11 cents a drink on 100-proof spirits, and extending through a list of other commodities and services.

The legislation has no effect on individual income tax returns due March 15 on 1943 income.

The new law includes:

1.—Increases in individual income taxes for 1944—to yield an additional $664,900,000. There is no general rate increase. The new revenue is derived through elimination of the earned income credit and removal of reductions for excise taxes paid out.

2.—A boost in the corporation excess profits tax, from 90 percent to 95—to yield $502,100,000 more.

3.—Higher excises on "luxury" items—another $1,051,300,000.

Playboy and householder, socialite and factory hand are affected by the new excise load. The tax on cabaret charges jumps from 5 to 30 percent.

Cosmetics, furs, luggage and most jewelry will bear a 20 percent sales tax. The rate on railroad tickets and local telephone service goes from 10 to 15 per-

NAVY REVEALS DARING BLOWS AGAINST JAPS

3 Ships, 4 Barges Sunk In South Pacific; Battleships Joined Truk Assault

By The Associated Press.

American naval forces, prowling the Pacific without challenge, were disclosed today to have carried out new forays to sustain the brilliant record of assaults of Japanese island bases and shipping.

The famed "Little Beaver" squadron swept enemy shipping lanes far north of the Solomons Tuesday in what was termed the most daring surface raid ever attempted in South Pacific waters.

A Japanese destroyer or mine-layer and two cargo ships were sunk along with four barges loaded with nearly 1,000 Nipponese, 73 of whom were picked up.

Kavieng, New Ireland, came in for its second naval shelling and the big guns were turned on Duke of York island to complete the no-loss mission.

Blockade Tightened

"We are tightening the blockade of the enemy's Bismarck bases," Gen. Douglas MacArthur said in announcing the naval action, "and we now dominate sea lanes to the north due to effective neutralization of the enemy's air bases in the Admiralty, New Ireland and New Britain groups."

In between sea-borne attacks on Truk and the Marianas, carrier planes showered 30 tons of bombs on three islands of an unspecified Marshalls atoll Sunday.

Japan today acknowledged the loss of 4,500 troops and 2,000 civilians at Kwajalein and Roi islands in American capture of Kwajalein atoll nearly three weeks ago.

U. S. navy figures placed the enemy dead at 8,122 against 286 Americans killed. Preliminary reports indicate the same lop-sided ratio prevailed in the just-completed occupation of Eniwetok, 380 miles west of Kwajalein.

Eyewitnesses Tell of Raid

The Tokyo raid previously told the Japanese of heavy damage suffered in the U. S. carrier attack on Truk Feb. 16-17. What it failed to mention, however, was that American battleships sailed close enough to the vaunted naval bastion to sink a Japanese cruiser trying to flee.

The bold American maneuver was described in an interview at Pearl Harbor by Lt. Comdr. William G. Privette, Chapel Hill, N. C., a torpedo squadron commander.

Lt. Comdr. Harry W. Harrison, 33, Miami Beach, Fla., a fighter squadron commander on the same carrier, related that after the first day's attack he saw only nine of about 30 ships left afloat in two anchorages, "and three of them were burning."

The officers agreed Japanese air opposition was weak. Between 19 and 26 enemy ships were announced as sunk. Japan admitted destruction of 18.

Associated Press Correspondent Vern Haugland, who accompanied the "Little Beaver" squadron on its successful patrol-raid beyond the Solomons, said the destroyers combed the once-busy shipping lanes from Truk and Palau and "found them empty."

The Japanese ships sunk were caught off New Ireland. Not a single enemy plane appeared until the naval force was enroute back to base.

ROOSEVELT RELAXES AWAY FROM CAPITAL

Chief Executive Still Battles Effects Of Influenza

By The Associated Press.

WITH THE PRESIDENTIAL PARTY, Feb. 25—President Roosevelt, slow to shake off effects of a recent attack of influenza, is getting a measure of rest and relaxation away from politically stormy Washington.

He is isolated personally from representatives of the press.

But it would be inaccurate to say he is isolated also from repercussions of his veto of the second wartime tax bill. Special facilities permit him almost instant communication with the White House.

The chief executive himself had disclosed he was out of town when he urged Senate Majority Leader Barkley not to resign in protest against the veto. No official explanation of his absence has been forthcoming.

Mr. Roosevelt, however, contracted influenza shortly after Christmas and the case was severe enough to drop his weight 10 pounds. His personal physician, Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntire, had been urging him to get out of the capital, to take it easy for a time and regain his strength.

McIntire, however, has seen no cause for alarm over the condition of his number one patient.

Nazis Give Up Vitebsk In White Russia As Reds Rip Through Crumbling Lines

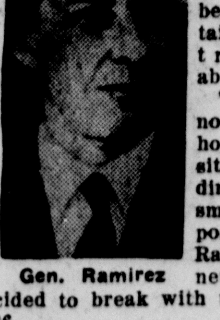
RAMIREZ YIELDS ARGENTINE RULE

Government Reins Taken By Vice President Farrell

By The Associated Press.

MONTEVIDEO, Feb. 25 — Vice President Gen. Edelmiro J. Farrell took over the reins of Argentina's nine-month-old military government today after Gen. Pedro Ramirez had vacated the presidency in a sudden political upheaval regarded here as another palace coup.

Full significance of the upheaval was not immediately apparent in Montevideo, as strict censorship was clamped down in Buenos Aires before any details could be transmitted abroad.



Gen. Ramirez

There seems no question, however, the situation is the direct result of smouldering opposition within Ramirez' cabinet since he decided to break with the Axis Jan. 26.

Confesses Attack Slaying

LEBANON, O., Feb. 25—Sheriff William Hufford announced that a 20-year-old suspect orally confessed today the slaying of Miss Myrtle Rogers, 44, who was found beaten, strangled and raped in a bedroom of her farm home near here late Thursday. Hufford said the suspect, registered as Eugene Balon, 20, was discharged from the army last September because of a mental deficiency and will be charged with first degree murder.

Rogachev Also Captured By Soviets; Other Legions Converge On Pskov

By The Associated Press.

Vitebsk besieged White Russian base 70 miles from the northern tip of old Poland and 290 from East Prussia, has been evacuated, the Berlin radio said today, as the Russians declared their troops are sweeping west from Rogachev and Dno through swiftly-decaying German defenses.

Rogachev is 150 miles south of Vitebsk and the rail junction of Dno is 60 miles east of Pskov, German-held gateway to the Baltics.

Moscow, however, did not immediately announce the fall of Vitebsk.

The German Transocean news agency, in a Berlin broadcast, said Vitebsk, important junction of four trunk railways and under siege by Red army troops since last November, was evacuated only after bitter fighting. An earlier Berlin broadcast had acknowledged "evacuation" of Rogachev.

Premier Stalin announced earlier that Gen. Constantin Rokossovsky's army, north of the Pripet marshes, had captured Rogachev and had advanced 15 miles on a 30-mile-wide front.

One Soviet formation alone killed 4,000 enemy troops, captured many prisoners and quantities of war material including 62 big guns, the announcement said.

Drive On Minsk Seen

The fall of Rogachev and Vitebsk—the former a rail town 15 miles north of Zhlobin, junction point on the Vitebsk-Gomel and Gomelgaminsk railways — was viewed here as indicating the Russians intend mounting a new offensive aimed at the White Russian capital of Minsk, less than 100 miles west of the nearest Russian lines on this front.

On the Baltic front, 220 miles north of the Vitebsk sector, Red army troops converging on Pskov are 20 miles north of captured Dno.

The Russians under Gens. Leonid A. Govorov and Markian M. Popov routed 30,000 Germans in the storm-

1ST CANDIDATE FILES FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Alva Dickey, Pharmacist, To Make Republican Bid

Alva Dickey, Wellsville pharmacist, became the first to announce for state representative with the filing of his petition Thursday with the Columbiana county election board. He will seek the Republican nomination at the primary May 9.

Mr. Dickey's candidacy assures a G. O. P. contest for the position of county representative in the state legislature as the incumbent, John McBane Kerr of Yellow Creek township, is circulating his petition preliminary to filing.

Mr. Dickey is a former rural school teacher in the county and later studied pharmacy at Western Reserve university. He is now engaged in the practice of pharmacy at the Anderson drug store of East Liverpool and the McLaughlin drug store of Wellsville.

Mr. Dickey is married and resides on Broadway.

This will be Mr. Dickey's first try for public office.

The election board meanwhile received the petition of Attorney Milton C. Cope of Lisbon, Republican candidate for probate judge. He announced his candidacy recently.

SOVIET DEMANDS ON FINNS LISTED

Reported Terms Claimed To Receive Mixed Reception

By The Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 25—Reported Russian terms for an armistice with Finland, especially those regarding the disposition of German troops garrisoned in northern Finland, are understood here to have met with a mixed reception in Finnish circles.

The London correspondents of Dagens Nyheter today listed six Soviet armistice demands from unofficial but well-informed non-British sources who he said are optimistic about Finland's chances of quitting the war.

Conditions Outlined

According to the dispatch, the Moscow conditions include:

1.—The 1940 winter peace border.

2.—German troops in northern Finland must be interned for the duration.

3.—If Finland desires, the Red army will march into the country to assist in putting the Germans under control, but Finland's decision on this point will be voluntary.

4.—If Finland and Russia agree on the Red army marching in, Russia will guarantee to retire after the military operation against the Germans is completed.

5.—Moscow makes no demands for changes in the Finnish government.

6.—Demobilization of the Finnish army and war damages are to be settled later by negotiations.

Finn Reports Obstacles

Against this optimistic approach was the statement of a trustworthy Finn just arrived in Sweden who said the biggest obstacles to peace are reported Russian demands—(not included in the London version)—that the Finnish army team up with the Russians in a drive to exterminate the seven German divisions now in Finland and that Soviet troops garrison the principal Finnish cities for the duration.

Finland, the informant continued, understands the Russians to feel there would be little point in an armistice if the Germans still controlled northern Finland with its valuable minerals, or if Nazi troops were permitted to slip out

Orchids Wait Buyers Of $50 'And Up' Bonds Today And Saturday

"Orchids to Bond buyers" will be the theme at the Ceramic theater today and Saturday when orchids will be given to each person who buys a $50 or higher denomination War Bond, theater officials said.

Previously, orchids had been offered only for buyers of $100 Bonds or higher denominations. Gardenias will go to persons who buy $25 Bonds.

The Bond-selling feature, arranged in an effort to push the city over its $2,307,445 Fourth War Loan quota, is sponsored jointly by the Riverview Greenhouses and the theater.

The city still needs $13,429 to go over the top on its over-all quota, though it has oversubscribed the $634,900 "E" Bond quota, City Chairman Francis P. White said.

Persons who buy Bonds at the Ceramic today and Saturday also will be admitted free to the movie, "Mme. Curie", now showing there.

U.S. LOSES 80 CRAFT DURING TWIN ASSAULT

R.A.F. Keeps Up Attacks On Schweinfurt, Steyr And Other Enemy Bases

By The Associated Press.

Powerful American air fleets which flew from British and Italian bases shot down 156 Nazi planes in extensive daylight operations Thursday.

The U. S. forces lost 49 heavy bombers and 10 fighters from Britain and 21 planes from Italy.

The Eighth and Ninth air forces from Britain battered Schweinfurt, Gotha and other German cities and three Nazi air bases in Holland.

The 15th air force struck from Italy at plane factories in Steyr, Austria.

R.A.F. Takes Up Attack

The R.A.F. took up the two-way scourge of the German aircraft industry last night, flying 1,000 bombers from Britain to Schweinfurt and other formations from Italy to Steyr, still smoking from the earlier American raids.

Today great fleets of daylight bombers crossed the channel to carry the battle into its sixth consecutive day.

British planes bombed the five rebuilt ball bearing plants of Schweinfurt in central Germany twice last night.

The R.A.F. lost 35 bombers during the night from 1,000 sorties which included attacks in northwest Germany, northern France and mine laying. The Germans bombed London again for the fifth time in six nights, cutting deep new wounds on the city's scarred face.

U. S. Score Broken Down

U. S. headquarters announced the powerful American air fleet which flew from the west and south yesterday shot down 156 Nazi planes.

Eighth air force bombers downed 83 Nazi planes during their attacks on Schweinfurt and fighter plane factories at Gotha, while their accompanying fighters accounted for 37 others in terrific air battles. Bombers of the 15th air force attacking Steyr bagged 36 Nazi fighters.

In Tuesday's two-way punch, the first of the series of simultaneous assaults from west and south, the combined American forces shot down 133 German fighters.

Steyr Damage Heavy

The British announcement said last night's heavy assault on Schweinfurt actually was carried out in two separate raids.

"Schweinfurt, the German center of ball bearing production, was the main objective and was attacked twice during the night," it said.

"Objectives in northwest Germany also were bombed and a very extensive mine laying program was completed."

R.A.F. crewmen returning to Italy from the night raid on the Steyr area said they attacked built up areas and railrods as well as the aircraft factory.

They dropped their missiles in the midst of the flames started by the Americans yesterday. They also reported heavy flak and some night fighters.

Reconnaissance showed extensive damage to the Steyr plants, coal and timber yards, the power plant and transformer station.

German fighters came out about 100 miles ahead of the target yesterday and met the Fortresses near Klagenfurt, just across the Alps.

FUND DRIVE WORKERS WILL REPORT TONIGHT

Final Figures On 'Y'-Scout Campaign To Be Given

Final reports in the annual Y. M. C. A.-Boy Scout joint fund drive to raise $16,000 will be made tonight at 6 when campaign leaders and 145 workers stage a dinner-meeting at the "Y".

In the mid-week report made Wednesday, $8,640.25, or more than half of the quota, had been subscribed in 954 pledges.

During the first three days of the campaign, the division led by William H. Vodrey Jr., had raised $4,927.75, while Max Stevens' division of eight teams reported $3,712.50.

With many contributors to the drives of former years now in the armed forces, General Chairman C. V. Hughes commented:

"We are over the hump, but coasting into the finish will not be easy. It will take plenty of work for all workers, captains and everyone connected with the campaign to reach the goal by the deadline tonight. New prospects must be uncovered."

Living In Wartime:

'SOP UP GRAVY,' FOOD CHIEF ASKS

Jones Hits At Waste Caused By Too-Dainty Manners

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—"Sop up the gravy and squeeze the grapefruit dry."

That appeal came Thursday from Judge Marvin Jones, war food administrator, who thinks it is a crime during wartime to sacrifice food on the altar of dainty table manners.

Perhaps as much as 20 percent of the country's food is being wasted, Jones estimated, contributing these additional ideas:

"Pick up the bones in your fingers in order to get all the meat there is and tip the soup bowl to get the last spoonful."

Investigations of city garbage collections show, Jones said in a radio speech, that 255 pounds of food per person are thrown away annually.

Reduction In Sugar For Civilians Predicted

By The Associated Press.

An indication that civilians may get less sugar this year than last is contained in a WFA report showing that stocks held in this country on Jan. 1 were 18 percent smaller than a year earlier.

While declining to make any prediction on future civilian supplies, officials said improvements in the wartime shipping situation might allow some increase in imports from the Caribbean area, but probably not in quantities sufficient to maintain last year's rate of consumption.

OPA Probes Increase In Candy Bar Prices

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25—Children's complaints that penny candy is being sold for 5 cents caused the OPA to secure show cause orders Thursday against 31 candy manufacturers.

Regional OPA Administrator Daniel P. Woolley said that 18 Manhattan, one Bronx and 12 Brooklyn candy firms had sold an estimated 300,000,000 candy bars in 1943 and that many had started their businesses last year.

He said the OPA would charge the companies failed to keep proper base period statements upon which their ceiling prices were determined.

U.S. May Have To Import Wheat As Needs Rise

The agriculture department said Thursday that despite recent improvements in 1944 crop prospects, the United States is using wheat for food, feed and industrial purposes at a rate which cannot be maintained without imports.

Any stocks of wheat which may have been regarded as "surplus" at the start of the war have disappeared the department said.

By July, the nation's wheat reserve will have dropped to 300,000,000 bushels, or only half the amount of the reserve a year earlier. Food economists say that it is not safe to allow the reserve to drop much below the 300,000,000-bushel level in war time.

Virginia-Type Dried Pork Prices Cut 10% By OPA

By The United Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 — The office of price administration Thursday ordered a reduction averaging 10 percent in the retail prices of Virginia-type dried pork specialties.

The new ceilings will mean reductions for consumers of from 5 to 6 cents a pound for whole or half hams; 6 to 7 cents a pound for sliced ham; 4 to 5 cents for bacon; 3 to 4 cents for sides; 5 cents for shoulders and 2 cents for jowls.

About 6 Million Copies Of Book 4 Issued In Ohio

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—The office of price administration has issued 6,893,349 copies of War Ration book Four in Ohio since distribution began last Oct. 18, it was announced Thursday.

Book Four contains the red and blue food ration stamps which will have a value of 10 points each beginning Saturday and which are to be used in connection with the new ration token plan. Book Four also has the green stamps currently in use, along with sugar ration stamps.

Book Four will be the only ration book needed in buying rationed foods after March 20, the OPA said.

Fuel Oil Supplies Dip Low Into Reserve Stock

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—Ralph K. Davies, acting petroleum administrator for war, said Thursday that supplies of heating oils, now the principal domestic problem, have declined sharply although kerosene stocks were being fairly well maintained.

"We are barely able to make ends meet," he asserted in releasing the weekly supply bulletin for Atlantic coast states.

The accelerated decline in heating oil supplies available to the east coast this week was attributed to further breaks and delays in completion of the 20-inch pipeline from Texas and to a decline of 42,433 barrels in the amount of tank car deliveries affected by bad weather.

Oil Soybean Ceilings Set By OPA, Effective March 1

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 — The office of price administration has established a producers' ceiling price of $1.85 a bushel for base grade soybeans of the 1943 crop to be processed for oil. Highest quality will bring a maximum of $1.92 a bushel.

The new ceilings, effective March 1, are the Commodity Credit Corp.'s support prices for the 1943 crop plus 6 cents a bushel for storage and carrying charges.

The regulation allows country elevator operators a markup three-fourths of a cent higher than last year's maximum of 4½ cents a bushel for handling various grades of the beans. Merchandisers are permitted a half-cent per bushel increase.

List Of New Price Rules Is Issued By National OPA

The office of price administration has announced an average 10 per cent reduction, effective March 1, in the retail ceiling prices of a number of dried pork specialties. Products affected are the Virginia types of cured hams, bacon, sides, jowls and shoulders.

Pending issuance of a price regulation covreing the 1944 fruit and vegetable pack, maximum prices established for the 1943 pack may be applied to current year production, the OPA said Thursday.

To maintain at least the present inadequate output of denim, the OPA announced today limited price increases will be granted those manufacturers who are operating at a loss in meeting war production orders to produce denim.

Specific dollars-and-cents price ceilings for goat meat ordered effective March 1 at both wholesale and retail are moderately lower, OPA said, than the March 1942 "freeze" maximums now in effect.

U.S. Worried Over Trend To Cut Soy Bean Acreage

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 — Adverse reports on farm planting plans for soybeans led war food administration officials into a huddle today on ways and means of averting a possible acute shortage of cooking fats, salad oils, margarine and similar products next winter.

The war has made the domestically-grown soybean a major source of vegetable oil used for various cooking and food purposes as well as industrial uses. Oil from this crop is needed not only to help meet requirements of this country but to supplement supplies for Russia and Great Britain.

WFA officials said informal surveys indicated that in midwestern areas where soybeans and corn are interchangeable, many farmers plan to increase corn acreage at the expense of soybeans. As a consequence, the total soybean acreage may be considerably below indicated wartime demands for this crop.

A further complicating factor is the probability production of lard next winter will be considerably below current output, due to prospective reduction of the hog crop.

Apparently the midwest farmers believe corn to be more profitable than soybeans, at present price relationships.

WFA has promised growers a base price of $1.94 a bushel for soybeans compared with $1.80 last year, but suggestions have come from the midwest the price should be raised as high as $2.25.

WATER LINE REPAIRS SET OVER WEEK-END

State highway department workmen will work over the week-end on the water line repairs on the Pennsylvania ave. Hill road in order not to interfere with Garfield school's water supply on Monday, City Engineer Robert S. Wheatley said today. The job will be started Saturday and continued Sunday.

The crews discovered Thursday the pipes need extensive repairs at various points and following this, the new base will be laid, Mr. Wheatley said.

Traffic is being maintained on the project which probably will not be completed for another week or 10 days.

Meanwhile, the state department's large power shovel was shifted to Marshall's bottoms to dredge a partial new channel for the run near there which is threatening to undermine a Bridge st. property, Mr. Wheatley said.

Since the water line repairs can not be undertaken until school is over for the week, the city persuaded the state department to fix the run channel at that point and save the city a possible large damage suit, according to Mr. Wheatley.

No reply has been received from Columbus on the city's request for the re-location of state route 170 back to St. Clair ave., but the roads committee of the Chamber of Commerce this week discussed the project with county commissioners and further discussion of the chamber group with city officials appears possible, the city engineer said.

NO CHANGE SEEN IN FARM DRAFT

County Chairman Believes Few Will Be Inducted

C. F. Shaw, chairman of the Columbiana county U. S. department of agriculture war board, says there will be no change in the draft setup for county farmers, despite the recent selective service announcement of doubling of the number of war units for deferment.

Discussing the regulation at a recent meeting of the board at Lisbon, Mr. Shaw said there is a fear that farm production might be limited because of a misunderstanding of the new regulation.

It was pointed out that press releases last week to the effect that the number of war units for farm deferments will be doubled have caused many 2-C and 3-C registrants to hesitate about going ahead with their spring farm plans because of uncertainty as to whether they will be inducted or will be permitted to care for and harvest the crops.

Uncertainty Cited

Farmers cannot invest in seed, fertilizer and more livestock if the investment is to be sacrificed before the end of the crop year. Mr. Shaw explained, however, that according to the press the new order provides that 16 war units rather than eight will be the minimum for a farm deferment.

He added that this in reality makes no change whatever in Columbiana county because 16 units has been the standard used by both the county war board and the local selective service boards.

Selective service regulations have permitted deferment of registrants with as low as eight war units but at the same time a local board was not required to defer a man even with as many as 16 if they were not productive units.

The war board's recommendations are based upon production rather than merely units. Few registrants in Columbiana county have in the past been classified for farming unless they had 16 or more war units. One milk cow, five acres of corn, 10 acres of hay, one acre of vegetables, 75 hens, etc., constitute one war unit.

Mr. Shaw asserted that since the new regulations as announced by the press will in reality make no change in Columbiana county, 2-C and 3-C registrants should go ahead with their spring plans for maximum production.

Some May Be Drafted

Some of the less essential farm workers may be inducted in the next few months but until such time as the government can in some way provide replacements, most of those now classified for farming must be continued if farm production is to be maintained, Mr. Shaw declared. Food, as well as men and munitions, is needed to win the war.

The county USDA war board was appointed by the United States department of agriculture and consists of representatives of all the federal farm agencies in the county. Members of the board in Columbiana county are: Mr. Shaw, chairman; Floyd Lower, secretary; James W. Pendry, Miss Dorothy Sweaney, H. D. Holloway and Howard Van Fossen. The war board is charged with the responsibility of maintaining farm production.

British troops have driven the Japanese from positions south of Ngakyedauk pass through the Mayu hills in the Arakan area while other Allied forces are attacking the enemy at the northeastern end of the pass, New Delhi announced.

Naval officers who participated in the thunderbolt stroke at Truk, which obviously surprised and stunned the Japanese, disclosed that:

JAPANESE air opposition was considerably weaker than had been expected.

Called 'Ferry Pilots'

"The general impression I had was that those Japs were ferry pilots taking planes through and got caught with their pants down," said Lt. Comdr. Harry W. Harrison, 33, of Miami Beach, Fla., fighter squadron commander.

"They probably never expected to have a fight at Truk."

A total of 201 Japanese planes were reported shot down in the attack by hundreds of carrier planes.

The enemy cruiser, one of 19 to 26 ships sunk at Truk, fled with three other warships through North pass of the reef encircling the 40-mile-wide lagoon.

The plane of Lt. Comdr. Donald B. Ingerslew, 28, of Trenton, Mo., got in the first blow.

"The bomb hit—wham," said Lt. Comdr. William G. Privette of Chapel Hill, N. C., who with Ingerslew and Harrison, just returned to Pearl Harbor.

Pieces flew and the cruiser's ack ack guns quit blinkin' right then. Everything was quiet and peaceful. The polish off was that we had battlewagons (battleships) coming. Our fighters spotted some salvos for them and wham, wham, wham — there were only pieces floating around."

Comdr. Privette, torpedo squadron commander aboard a carrier, estimated 50 enemy seaplanes caught on a ramp were wiped out.

Comdr. Ingerslew reported "the sky was like a Christmas tree," thus converted by the bursting anti-aircraft shells sent up by Japanese cruisers.

He said American dive-bombers also attacked an enemy convoy 90 miles west of Truk, sinking a large transport and hitting several smaller ships.

Living In Wartime:

'SOP UP GRAVY,' FOOD CHIEF ASKS

Jones Hits At Waste Caused By Too-Dainty Manners

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—"Sop up the gravy and squeeze the grapefruit dry."

That appeal came Thursday from Judge Marvin Jones, war food administrator, who thinks it is a crime during wartime to sacrifice food on the altar of dainty table manners.

Perhaps as much as 20 percent of the country's food is being wasted, Jones estimated, contributing these additional ideas:

"Pick up the bones in your fingers in order to get all the meat there is and tip the soup bowl to get the last spoonful."

Investigations of city garbage collections show, Jones said in a radio speech, that 255 pounds of food per person are thrown away annually.

Reduction In Sugar For Civilians Predicted

By The Associated Press.

An indication that civilians may get less sugar this year than last is contained in a WFA report showing that stocks held in this country on Jan. 1 were 18 percent smaller than a year earlier.

While declining to make any prediction on future civilian supplies, officials said improvements in the wartime shipping situation might allow some increase in imports from the Caribbean area, but probably not in quantities sufficient to maintain last year's rate of consumption.

OPA Probes Increase In Candy Bar Prices

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25—Children's complaints that penny candy is being sold for 5 cents caused the OPA to secure show cause orders Thursday against 31 candy manufacturers.

Regional OPA Administrator Daniel P. Woolley said that 18 Manhattan, one Bronx and 12 Brooklyn candy firms had sold an estimated 300,000,000 candy bars in 1943 and that many had started their businesses last year.

He said the OPA would charge the companies failed to keep proper base period statements upon which their ceiling prices were determined.

U.S. May Have To Import Wheat As Needs Rise

The agriculture department said Thursday that despite recent improvements in 1944 crop prospects, the United States is using wheat for food, feed and industrial purposes at a rate which cannot be maintained without imports.

Any stocks of wheat which may have been regarded as "surplus" at the start of the war have disappeared the department said.

By July, the nation's wheat reserve will have dropped to 300,000,000 bushels, or only half the amount of the reserve a year earlier. Food economists say that it is not safe to allow the reserve to drop much below the 300,000,000-bushel level in war time.

Virginia-Type Dried Pork Prices Cut 10% By OPA

By The United Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 — The office of price administration Thursday ordered a reduction averaging 10 percent in the retail prices of Virginia-type dried pork specialties.

The new ceilings will mean reductions for consumers of from 5 to 6 cents a pound for whole or half hams; 6 to 7 cents a pound for sliced ham; 4 to 5 cents for bacon; 3 to 4 cents for sides; 5 cents for shoulders and 2 cents for jowls.

About 6 Million Copies Of Book 4 Issued In Ohio

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—The office of price administration has issued 6,893,349 copies of War Ration book Four in Ohio since distribution began last Oct. 18, it was announced Thursday.

Book Four contains the red and blue food ration stamps which will have a value of 10 points each beginning Saturday and which are to be used in connection with the new ration token plan. Book Four also has the green stamps currently in use, along with sugar ration stamps.

Book Four will be the only ration book needed in buying rationed foods after March 20, the OPA said.

Fuel Oil Supplies Dip Low Into Reserve Stock

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—Ralph K. Davies, acting petroleum administrator for war, said Thursday that supplies of heating oils, now the principal domestic problem, have declined sharply although kerosene stocks were being fairly well maintained.

"We are barely able to make ends meet," he asserted in releasing the weekly supply bulletin for Atlantic coast states.

The accelerated decline in heating oil supplies available to the east coast this week was attributed to further breaks and delays in completion of the 20-inch pipeline from Texas and to a decline of 42,433 barrels in the amount of tank car deliveries affected by bad weather.

Oil Soybean Ceilings Set By OPA, Effective March 1

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 — The office of price administration has established a producers' ceiling price of $1.85 a bushel for base grade soybeans of the 1943 crop to be processed for oil. Highest quality will bring a maximum of $1.92 a bushel.

The new ceilings, effective March 1, are the Commodity Credit Corp.'s support prices for the 1943 crop plus 6 cents a bushel for storage and carrying charges.

The regulation allows country elevator operators a markup three-fourths of a cent higher than last year's maximum of 4½ cents a bushel for handling various grades of the beans. Merchandisers are permitted a half-cent per bushel increase.

List Of New Price Rules Is Issued By National OPA

The office of price administration has announced an average 10 per cent reduction, effective March 1, in the retail ceiling prices of a number of dried pork specialties. Products affected are the Virginia types of cured hams, bacon, sides, jowls and shoulders.

Pending issuance of a price regulation covreing the 1944 fruit and vegetable pack, maximum prices established for the 1943 pack may be applied to current year production, the OPA said Thursday.

JAPANESE WARSHIPS instead of challenging the American task force, tried to flee north.

Called 'Ferry Pilots'

"The general impression I had was that those Japs were ferry pilots taking planes through and got caught with their pants down," said Lt. Comdr. Harry W. Harrison, 33, of Miami Beach, Fla., fighter squadron commander.

"They probably never expected to have a fight at Truk."

A total of 201 Japanese planes were reported shot down in the attack by hundreds of carrier planes.

The enemy cruiser, one of 19 to 26 ships sunk at Truk, fled with three other warships through North pass of the reef encircling the 40-mile-wide lagoon.

The plane of Lt. Comdr. Donald B. Ingerslew, 28, of Trenton, Mo., got in the first blow.

"The bomb hit—wham," said Lt. Comdr. William G. Privette of Chapel Hill, N. C., who with Ingerslew and Harrison, just returned to Pearl Harbor.

Pieces flew and the cruiser's ack ack guns quit blinkin' right then. Everything was quiet and peaceful. The polish off was that we had battlewagons (battleships) coming. Our fighters spotted some salvos for them and wham, wham, wham — there were only pieces floating around."

Comdr. Privette, torpedo squadron commander aboard a carrier, estimated 50 enemy seaplanes caught on a ramp were wiped out.

Comdr. Ingerslew reported "the sky was like a Christmas tree," thus converted by the bursting anti-aircraft shells sent up by Japanese cruisers.

He said American dive-bombers also attacked an enemy convoy 90 miles west of Truk, sinking a large transport and hitting several smaller ships.

The Limits Of Patience

SEN. BARKLEY'S vehement declaration of rebellion against President Roosevelt on the revenue bill issue brings the tension between congress and the White House to a climax.

Sen. Barkley as majority leader in the senate since 1937 has been Mr. Roosevelt's agent in the handling of administration bills. It has been his job to get legislation approved, whether he personally liked it or not. As he said in his outburst on Wednesday, he has "carried the flag over rougher territory than was ever traversed by any majority leader . . . sometimes with little help on the senate floor and more often with less help from the other end of Pennsylvania ave."

It is no secret that the limits of his patience were approached often; when Mr. Roosevelt sent his bad-tempered veto message on the revenue bill to congress, the limits were reached and Sen. Barkley exploded. What he had to say thereafter—and it was one of the most masterful jobs of free-handed blistering performed in recent times—undoubtedly had been in his heart and the hearts of many other congressmen a long time.

It is recalled that Sen. Taft said somewhat the same thing when Mr. Roosevelt insulted congress on the soldier ballot problem, but he spoke as a member of the minority, not as Mr. Roosevelt's personal liaison agent in the upper house.

THE climax of tension now reached is a momentous turn of events. Its potential repercussions in the operation of congress the remainder of this year are so tremendous that even senators and representatives only can guess at them.

If Mr. Roosevelt is unable to reorganize his party's congressional delegation successfully, the remainder of his legislative program is junk. If members of congress cannot find within themselves the ability to agree on a coalition program of their own, they will be working at loose ends.

In a sense, they have declared their independence of executive domination. Certainly, they have expressed resentment of executive abuse of their composite character. It remains now to be seen what they will do in their new mood of independence.

SEN. BARKLEY'S present term in the senate expires at the end of this session of congress. Though he has not announced his candidacy for reelection, it is assumed that he will run—and it also may be assumed he did not call for a showdown with Mr. Roosevelt until he had estimated the probabilities in Kentucky, where his constituents are deciding who should represent their state in the years ahead.

To go a step further with political probability, Sen. Barkley probably has given a lot of deep thought to the election of a Republican governor in normally Democratic Kentucky last year and the ability of a Republican to carry the Fourth congressional district by a majority of 13,000 as against a majority of 4,800 for the Democrat who ran in the same district in 1942.

We do not say that Sen. Barkley has used the occasion to let loose of Franklin D. Roosevelt's coat tail because only the senator knows what is in his own mind. The circumstances suggest, however, that it may have been vastly easier for Sen. Barkley to part company with the New Deal in February, 1944, than it would have been in 1938 when there was a good deal of scandal about the way the late WPA turned on the heat in Kentucky to make certain that "Dear Alben", who previously had been installed as Mr. Roosevelt's choice for senate majority leader, would be back on the job for the term now in its last year.

The Revenue Issue

THERE is no clear case for or against a given estimate of new revenue, such as the estimate of 10½ billion dollars made in the case of the proposed tax bill submitted by the administration and rejected by congress in favor of a bill to produce an estimate two and one-third billion. These are matters of opinion, not fact. Expert testimony can be lined up on both sides.

The administration's opinion that at least 10½ billion should be raised, like Wendell Willkie's opinion that the total should be 16 billion, is based nominally on fear of inflation plus desire to pay as much of the cost of the war currently as possible.

Congressional opinion favoring a smaller total, as expressed in the revenue bill, is based on denial that the people need to be taxed to the limit to avert inflation and on the contention that taxpayers already are doing about as much as they can be asked to do without running into the law of diminishing returns.

These differences of opinion are honest. They are not unmixed with a certain amount of election year politics, but there is an honest difference of opinion there, too.

Mr. Roosevelt thought it was good politics to abuse congress for not carrying out his wishes, and congress thought it better politics to fight back. The voters will make the decision on who carried that point.

'Free Enterprise' Will Go On Trial For Its Life; From Now On It's To Be Judged Solely On Result

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE Baruch-Hancock recommendations are so workmanlike and so much to the point that it is hard to imagine how there can be any serious controversy about them.

They provide an orderly method by which the government can terminate and settle its war contracts with private firms, can dispose of its surplus goods, can provide some credit, where needed for the change back to civilian production.

The central idea is quite simple. Many industries are working for the government during the war and as the war ends they are to stop working for it; they must be shown how to walk and not run to the exit.

Since this report has been adopted as the policy of the administration, it is clear that there is no ideological difference between the two parties on the question of the restoration of the system of private enterprise. Both parties are committed to it.

The Baruch-Hancock report is not, of course, the plan of a post-war policy for the economic life of this country.

It is a method of terminating war contracts in order to give business enterprise its head. It is in fact a way of handing over the problems to businessmen for them to solve.

This is not a criticism of the Baruch-Hancock report. The report proposes only to do one necessary thing on which most people are substantially agreed.

It professes to show how to turn back American industry to private management and control.

IN the free economy to which the nation so overwhelmingly is committed, a comprehensive plan of post-war policy cannot be drawn up in advance by a government agency.

For the inner principle of the free economy is that private and not government, initiative must shape the the policy.

But what can be, and needs to be done, is to make clear to ourselves the unique conditions under which we are returning to free enterprise.

We have to realize that we are the only nation of economic size in the whole world which has any intention of returning to free enterprise as Americans understand it.

It does not follow from this that we cannot return to it, or that others may not follow our lead eventually.

The United States is in weight of economic transactions something like half of the whole capitalist economy of the earth.

The United States is big enough to determine its own economic order. Moreover, if the return to free enterprise is successful here, our success will have a powerful influence and attraction elsewhere.

What we must recognize however, is that for the first time in our history free enterprise will be measured by its results as compared with quite different economic orders elsewhere—not only with the national Communism of the Soviets, but also with the planned and managed economies that will exist in the British Isles and in western Europe.

WE must recognize too, that there is a capital difference between our return to a free economy after this war and our return after the previous war.

The difference is that then a free economy was regarded as the natural order of things, whether it worked well or not well.

Now we are returning to the free economy as an act of conscious and deliberate faith, because we believe in it, because we wish to believe in it as against any other economic system.

But we know or, if we do not, we had better know, that the system of free enterprise is on trial, and that it must make good or it will not survive.

In the 19th century free enterprise survived booms and crashes, prosperity and depressions, because it was supposed to be the only possible system.

Those days are over. Those days ended in 1929, and they never will come back again in any days we shall live to see.

Our return this time to the traditionally American system of free enterprise will be judged by the results.

The free economy must stabilize the business cycle and maintain reasonably steady and full employment, without gross poverty and gross speculative riches.

It must provide reasonably stable markets and acceptable prices for farmers and the producers of raw materials.

It must keep open opportunity against monopoly and special privilege.

It must satisfy the social conscience and the sense of justice among the people.

And it must, though it is not under the control of the government, act voluntarily and wisely in the public interests.

WE cannot seriously expect that the system of free enterprise will survive another Harding era, another collapse of world commerce and another great depression in which millions are unemployed, banks are closed, farms are prostrate, careers, fortunes and men's hopes are blighted.

These calamities need not happen. They are not unavoidable under a free economy.

But they will not be avoided automatically by the termination of the war contracts and the dismantling of the war controls and the demobilization of the bureaucrats.

They can be avoided only if the business world is led by its industrial statesmen who realize that, though they are returning to the old system, they cannot preserve it without new knowledge, new methods and many new policies.

Everybody Agrees

THERE can be no doubt that such American accomplishments in war as our recent naval successes in the Pacific, our massed air raids on targets in Europe and our courageous and stubborn land-fighting in the South Seas and Italy have revived confidence in national ability to carry on the people's intentions.

Behind the fighting fronts, confidence has been strengthened by records of industrial achievements far greater than anticipated. Criticism to the contrary notwithstanding, there is a general undercurrent of pride in what the country has done and is doing in the line of war. The war effort has been a tribute to national strength when applied to a single purpose.

There has been such a convincing demonstration of American ability to serve American needs that a commentator like Walter Lippmann believes we need doubt no longer the capacity of the nation to meet its tests and to fulfill its destiny."

The Baruch-Hancock report, likewise reflecting the new national confidence, is written entirely on one theme: "There is no need for a post-war depression."

An economist, Stuart Chase, declares that the United States can devise the financial means to do after the war what it has proved it had the physical means to do while the war was in progress; namely, to meet its own needs. In every round table discussion of spokesmen for labor and management there is complete agreement on the tremendous possibilities of post-war employment if forehanded action is taken to deal with the problem of reconversion as they arise.

The United States is as close as it ever gets to unity of opinion. There is complete agreement on national need and national capacity for the same kind of post-war vigor that restored national confidence during the war. For the first time since America began to doubt itself, at the beginning of the depression, it is able to look at a national problem without feeling licked in advance.

Used Cars Take OPA For A Ride

Some Of Them Sell For More Now Than They Did When New

By JACK STINNETT

AT THE office of price administration, they're wrestling with one of the toughest problems in months—how to stop skyrocketing prices of used cars.

Already there have been reports from some areas that the high prices of used cars are slowing up the war effort. Workers who must travel long distances to their jobs and can't afford this high-priced transportation are finding work nearer home, regardless of whether it is essential.

According to information received here, three-year-old used cars in some sections are selling 75 to 80 percent over the cost of the car when it was new. In some instances, this has brought the cost of some of the least expensive cars to around $1,500.

What is the answer? Price ceilings and maybe rationing. Why hasn't OPA done something about it before? The resistance of industry.

Dealers say ceiling prices would force many of them out of business, necessitating the closing of many repair shops, carried as a sideline. These repair shops are badly needed to keep the nation rolling. It is estimated that at least 20,000,000 cars must be kept moving if wartime transportation is to be maintained adequately.

A second factor is the fear of creating a new black market that could be worked between individuals. It would be almost impossible to prove that a "premium" was paid over the ceiling price.

The third problem is one of pricing. Although a base value can be established for used cars, it is impossible to establish the value of a used car by the make, the year it was turned out, and the number of miles on the speedometer.

The talk now is that there might have to be two types of ceilings—one on guaranteed reconditioned cars sold by dealers and another on cars sold by individuals.

Also there is no assurance that ceilings can be established that will keep used cars rolling into the market—an essential factor if war work is to be maintained. Serious shortages of used cars in the big war industrial centers would affect the whole war program.

A Look At Our Enemies

HOW strong is Germany?

In the opinion of Allied military leaders Adolf Hitler still has a mighty war machine at his disposal.

Here is a picture of Nazi military might as compiled from the opinions of two top Allied officers charged with assessing German strength and from information obtained from an anti-Nazi German underground leader aiding the Allied cause.

None of these men believes a combination of Allied bombing and Russian ground successes will cause a German collapse, although they acknowledge the contributions of both.

None of them believes a civilian revolution is possible at the moment.

All are convinced bloody, large-scale battles must be waged on the western front to beat the Germans into submission.

All say German reserve stocks are low, but German ground forces have no serious shortage of war materials.

They agree that roughly German military strength is in about the same relative position as it was in 1917 in the last war.

Turning to the Pacific war, an authoritative survey at the headquarters of the 14th U. S. air force in China indicates that destruction comparable to that wrought by the Allies in western Europe's industrial centers could be achieved against Japan with a 10th of the plane strength and bomb weight.

Information available to the 14th U. S. air force command, however, suggests a contribution of the popular pre-Pearl Harbor belief that Tokyo itself could be destroyed readily.

Tokyo is a modern city with a great deal of western-style construction and likely would not go up in flames readily.

Moreover, Japan's war potential cannot be broken by attacks on Tokyo, it is believed here. The situation calls for attacks on centers of her heavy industry.

There—as in Kobe and Osaka—one finds flimsy construction that is an ideal target for incendiaries and block-busters.

Field Warehouse

Study Explains New Financial Device

A THOROUGHLY tested but relatively unknown financial device called "field warehouse receipts" promises to get increasing attention after the war, according to a study by National Bureau of Economic Research.

It can provide working capital for business enterprise and may be the key to disposal of surplus government merchandise.

Prof. Neil H. Jacoby, secretary of the University of Chicago, and Prof. Raymond J. Saulnier of Columbia university, who made the study, define "field warehousing" as shortage of goods which have been pledged as collateral by a borrower.

The goods, though stored on the borrower's premises, are in the custody of a third party.

Thus, warehouse costs are held to a minimum, access to the goods is simplified and the expense of transportation between warehouse and the borrower is eliminated.

The warehouseman takes custody of the goods—raw materials, semi-finished, or finished goods—on the premises and issues a warehouse receipt, which is then turned over to the lender—usually a bank—as collateral security.

In 1941, the study discloses, about 13 percent of all operating and insured commercial banks in the United States extended credit secured by field warehouse receipts, although the frequency of such lending was much greater than this in certain areas, less in others.

Forty-three percent of all field warehouses are located in the Pacific and central states.

The device appeals especially to small businessmen, the authors of the study explain.

Many of these concerns experience high degrees of seasonal fluctuation in working capital requirements and find field warehouses receipts financing to be advantageous because the amount of credit is thereby geared closely to working capital needs.

Other concerns use the device because operations are expanding rapidly and they need credit in amounts larger than can be obtained without collateral security.

Soldier Chapel Of Air

WASHINGTON — The "soldiers' chapel of the air," comprised of fighting men from the 15th air forces headquarters in Italy, has an Ohioan as organist, the war department has disclosed.

Organized by Chaplain (Maj.) John Rhodes, a North Carolinian, the group has as its organist, Staff Sgt. Lloyd J. Fender of Portsmouth, O. This unique choral group has become one of the most famous in the army, the war department said.

The group first appeared in a concert last Christmas before 1,200 officers and men in a general hospital. Soldiers of three faiths — Catholic, Protestant and Jewish — comprise the choir. At times the Church of England and Moslem faiths also have been represented in its membership.

"It's a bit remarkable, I believe," Chaplain Rhodes said, "that men in a theater of war will devote a portion of their spare time to rehearsing and singing programs that include, in addition to hymns, anthems of Beethoven, Handel, Liszt and others."

The group sings at regular Sunday services and broadcasts to men in that region.

It's An Art

We Not Only Cannot Write A Novel But Probably Couldn't Qualify As One Of Our 'Ace' Columnists

By DAMON RUNYON

JIMMY STARR, movie columnist for The Los Angeles Herald and Express, has written a murder mystery entitled "The Corpse Came C. O. D.," a title which is certainly intriguing enough, and in his brief introduction he says:

This book—the one which all newspapermen promise themselves to write but never do—is dedicated to the ace columnists and writers whose names appear on this page. If it were not for them—my friends and contemporaries — this book never would have been written."

The introduction is surrounded by reproductions of the newspaper heads of various columns, including my own, which flatters me no little. No one ever before rated me an "ace" columnist, though many have classed me as a deuce.

But there I am with all those big shots like Winchell, Lippman, Pegler and Louella Parsons and it makes me feel mighty proud, suh. I only regret that book reviewing ethics bearing upon reviews of mystery stories forbid any revelations of plot, etc., lest they dull the appetite of the avid reader for this type of literary fare, but I can tell you that "The Corpse Came C. O. D." is as exciting as the title.

STARR is a short chap with a perpetual grin and a kisser somewhat less handsome than that of Tyrone Power or Clark Gable. He is 40 years old and has been doing a movie column for the Herald and Express for years. He got his first job as a movie columnist on the old Los Angeles Record by losing another as a publicity man under Harry Brand with the Norma Talmadge Co., pulling a murder hoax that got him in bad but perhaps set the tempo of his literary thought.

He had been in Hollywood since 1919, working for Mack Sennett as an extra and as an office boy at the old Metro studio. He used to write jokes for various magazines. As you can see, he has considerable knowledge of the background against which he places "The Corpse Came C. O. D. and he brings in all the glamor spots of Hollywood and Beverly Hills.

Now that I have told you of Jimmy Starr, I would like to discuss his introduction about newspapermen always promising themselves to write a novel but never getting around to doing the work. That used to be quite true. I never met a newspaperman in the old days who did not have a novel in his system that never leaked out in printed words, except in a few cases. But I reckon Jimmy wrote his lines before he took stock of the new era that finds newspapermen writing books like mad.

THEY practically dominate the literary field just now. Louella Parsons, Nick Kenny, Howard Handleman, Ernie Pyle, Lowell Bennett, Jack Beldon, Dick Tregaskis and scores of other working newspapermen and women have books on display in the book stores, most of them still fresh and selling rapidly. I think I can safely say that never before in literary history have there been so many books by authors on one profession as there are today.

It is true that many of them are by war correspondents and that some of them represent material collected from newspapers, but quite a number were written for book publication only, and I am sure it is as difficult to write facts from memory and after the excitement has cooled so some extent as it is to sit down and weave a novel from the imagination.

I must say that both feats command my admiration. I do not think I could carry a story line beyond four of five thousand words. I never tried a novel to be sure, because the mere contemplation of the enormity of the task has always appalled me. I therefore doff my kady to all authors who can keep a plot rolling to three or four hundred pages.

Decorations Committee

By Truman Twill

OR, IF you've nothing better to think about, think about the decorations committee.

You hire a hall to stage a party and then you appoint a decorations committee to cut down trees and hang up branches so it will look as if you had decided to hold the party out in the woods in the first place.

The members of the committee decide to paste blue paper and silver stars on the ceiling to make it look like a June night in the middle of the winter, then they all have previous engagements except the two people who are scared to death about getting up on ladders, and they put up the stars.

They hang up trailing vines to look like the jungle, but all they do is make everybody wonder where all that stuff came from in the first place and what in blazes will they do with it afterward.

They blow up balloons to look like red apples, purple grapes, striped rubber balls and bubbles floating in the air, but no matter what the idea was the balloons look just like balloons and will explode if touched with a hot cigaret.

They drape everything with greenery and hang streamers from the chandeliers so the proprietor of the dump can have something worthwhile to sweep out the next morning to make up for the bright idea gang moving in with more greenery and more streamers.

They work like ward heelers on election day to make windows look like blank walls and to make blank walls look like windows. They out Edison by hiding all the electric light, then they borrow more lights to keep the place from being gloomy.

They promise each other the idea is to make the place look like a sultan's palace, the inside of a New York night club, or the deck of an ocean liner when they get through, then they turn over the whole job to the member with the strongest back and the weakest mind so they can criticize the ensuing failure with a clear conscience.

They get into fights, threaten never to speak to each other again, make cutting remarks, dislocate their bones and tear their ligaments. They sacrifice safety, paste, pins and health, and all they have to show for it is a deficit.

But there always will be decorations and decorations committees. What else would all those crazy people do with their spare time if they couldn't hang up tissue paper, bunting and dead branches? They would have to be put on the refreshments committee and that never would do. They would have food strewn all over the place.

The (German) general staff must go when the Allies move in. It is responsible for the murder of thousands of hostages in every occupied country. — James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany.

Profit is the means of assuring maximum exchange of goods and services and people cannot live in modern society without it.—Eric A. Johnston, president United States Chamber of Commerce.

The Limits Of Patience

SEN. BARKLEY'S vehement declaration of rebellion against President Roosevelt on the revenue bill issue brings the tension between congress and the White House to a climax.

Sen. Barkley as majority leader in the senate since 1937 has been Mr. Roosevelt's agent in the handling of administration bills. It has been his job to get legislation approved, whether he personally liked it or not. As he said in his outburst on Wednesday, he has "carried the flag over rougher territory than was ever traversed by any majority leader . . . sometimes with little help on the senate floor and more often with less help from the other end of Pennsylvania ave."

It is no secret that the limits of his patience were approached often; when Mr. Roosevelt sent his bad-tempered veto message on the revenue bill to congress, the limits were reached and Sen. Barkley exploded. What he had to say thereafter—and it was one of the most masterful jobs of free-handed blistering performed in recent times—undoubtedly had been in his heart and the hearts of many other congressmen a long time.

It is recalled that Sen. Taft said somewhat the same thing when Mr. Roosevelt insulted congress on the soldier ballot problem, but he spoke as a member of the minority, not as Mr. Roosevelt's personal liaison agent in the upper house.

THE climax of tension now reached is a momentous turn of events. Its potential repercussions in the operation of congress the remainder of this year are so tremendous that even senators and representatives only can guess at them.

If Mr. Roosevelt is unable to reorganize his party's congressional delegation successfully, the remainder of his legislative program is junk. If members of congress cannot find within themselves the ability to agree on a coalition program of their own, they will be working at loose ends.

In a sense, they have declared their independence of executive domination. Certainly, they have expressed resentment of executive abuse of their composite character. It remains now to be seen what they will do in their new mood of independence.

SEN. BARKLEY'S present term in the senate expires at the end of this session of congress. Though he has not announced his candidacy for reelection, it is assumed that he will run—and it also may be assumed he did not call for a showdown with Mr. Roosevelt until he had estimated the probabilities in Kentucky, where his constituents are deciding who should represent their state in the years ahead.

To go a step further with political probability, Sen. Barkley probably has given a lot of deep thought to the election of a Republican governor in normally Democratic Kentucky last year and the ability of a Republican to carry the Fourth congressional district by a majority of 13,000 as against a majority of 4,800 for the Democrat who ran in the same district in 1942.

We do not say that Sen. Barkley has used the occasion to let loose of Franklin D. Roosevelt's coat tail because only the senator knows what is in his own mind. The circumstances suggest, however, that it may have been vastly easier for Sen. Barkley to part company with the New Deal in February, 1944, than it would have been in 1938 when there was a good deal of scandal about the way the late WPA turned on the heat in Kentucky to make certain that "Dear Alben", who previously had been installed as Mr. Roosevelt's choice for senate majority leader, would be back on the job for the term now in its last year.

The Revenue Issue

THERE is no clear case for or against a given estimate of new revenue, such as the estimate of 10½ billion dollars made in the case of the proposed tax bill submitted by the administration and rejected by congress in favor of a bill to produce an estimate two and one-third billion. These are matters of opinion, not fact. Expert testimony can be lined up on both sides.

The administration's opinion that at least 10½ billion should be raised, like Wendell Willkie's opinion that the total should be 16 billion, is based nominally on fear of inflation plus desire to pay as much of the cost of the war currently as possible.

Congressional opinion favoring a smaller total, as expressed in the revenue bill, is based on denial that the people need to be taxed to the limit to avert inflation and on the contention that taxpayers already are doing about as much as they can be asked to do without running into the law of diminishing returns.

These differences of opinion are honest. They are not unmixed with a certain amount of election year politics, but there is an honest difference of opinion there, too.

Mr. Roosevelt thought it was good politics to abuse congress for not carrying out his wishes, and congress thought it better politics to fight back. The voters will make the decision on who carried that point.

'Free Enterprise' Will Go On Trial For Its Life; From Now On It's To Be Judged Solely On Result

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE Baruch-Hancock recommendations are so workmanlike and so much to the point that it is hard to imagine how there can be any serious controversy about them.

They provide an orderly method by which the government can terminate and settle its war contracts with private firms, can dispose of its surplus goods, can provide some credit, where needed for the change back to civilian production.

The central idea is quite simple. Many industries are working for the government during the war and as the war ends they are to stop working for it; they must be shown how to walk and not run to the exit.

Since this report has been adopted as the policy of the administration, it is clear that there is no ideological difference between the two parties on the question of the restoration of the system of private enterprise. Both parties are committed to it.

The Baruch-Hancock report is not, of course, the plan of a post-war policy for the economic life of this country.

It is a method of terminating war contracts in order to give business enterprise its head. It is in fact a way of handing over the problems to businessmen for them to solve.

This is not a criticism of the Baruch-Hancock report. The report proposes only to do one necessary thing on which most people are substantially agreed.

It professes to show how to turn back American industry to private management and control.

IN the free economy to which the nation so overwhelmingly is committed, a comprehensive plan of post-war policy cannot be drawn up in advance by a government agency.

For the inner principle of the free economy is that private and not government, initiative must shape the the policy.

But what can be, and needs to be done, is to make clear to ourselves the unique conditions under which we are returning to free enterprise.

We have to realize that we are the only nation of economic size in the whole world which has any intention of returning to free enterprise as Americans understand it.

It does not follow from this that we cannot return to it, or that others may not follow our lead eventually.

The United States is in weight of economic transactions something like half of the whole capitalist economy of the earth.

The United States is big enough to determine its own economic order. Moreover, if the return to free enterprise is successful here, our success will have a powerful influence and attraction elsewhere.

What we must recognize however, is that for the first time in our history free enterprise will be measured by its results as compared with quite different economic orders elsewhere—not only with the national Communism of the Soviets, but also with the planned and managed economies that will exist in the British Isles and in western Europe.

WE must recognize too, that there is a capital difference between our return to a free economy after this war and our return after the previous war.

The difference is that then a free economy was regarded as the natural order of things, whether it worked well or not well.

Now we are returning to the free economy as an act of conscious and deliberate faith, because we believe in it, because we wish to believe in it as against any other economic system.

But we know or, if we do not, we had better know, that the system of free enterprise is on trial, and that it must make good or it will not survive.

In the 19th century free enterprise survived booms and crashes, prosperity and depressions, because it was supposed to be the only possible system.

Those days are over. Those days ended in 1929, and they never will come back again in any days we shall live to see.

Our return this time to the traditionally American system of free enterprise will be judged by the results.

The free economy must stabilize the business cycle and maintain reasonably steady and full employment, without gross poverty and gross speculative riches.

It must provide reasonably stable markets and acceptable prices for farmers and the producers of raw materials.

It must keep open opportunity against monopoly and special privilege.

It must satisfy the social conscience and the sense of justice among the people.

And it must, though it is not under the control of the government, act voluntarily and wisely in the public interests.

WE cannot seriously expect that the system of free enterprise will survive another Harding era, another collapse of world commerce and another great depression in which millions are unemployed, banks are closed, farms are prostrate, careers, fortunes and men's hopes are blighted.

These calamities need not happen. They are not unavoidable under a free economy.

But they will not be avoided automatically by the termination of the war contracts and the dismantling of the war controls and the demobilization of the bureaucrats.

They can be avoided only if the business world is led by its industrial statesmen who realize that, though they are returning to the old system, they cannot preserve it without new knowledge, new methods and many new policies.

Everybody Agrees

THERE can be no doubt that such American accomplishments in war as our recent naval successes in the Pacific, our massed air raids on targets in Europe and our courageous and stubborn land-fighting in the South Seas and Italy have revived confidence in national ability to carry on the people's intentions.

Behind the fighting fronts, confidence has been strengthened by records of industrial achievements far greater than anticipated. Criticism to the contrary notwithstanding, there is a general undercurrent of pride in what the country has done and is doing in the line of war. The war effort has been a tribute to national strength when applied to a single purpose.

There has been such a convincing demonstration of American ability to serve American needs that a commentator like Walter Lippmann believes we need doubt no longer the capacity of the nation to meet its tests and to fulfill its destiny."

The Baruch-Hancock report, likewise reflecting the new national confidence, is written entirely on one theme: "There is no need for a post-war depression."

An economist, Stuart Chase, declares that the United States can devise the financial means to do after the war what it has proved it had the physical means to do while the war was in progress; namely, to meet its own needs. In every round table discussion of spokesmen for labor and management there is complete agreement on the tremendous possibilities of post-war employment if forehanded action is taken to deal with the problem of reconversion as they arise.

The United States is as close as it ever gets to unity of opinion. There is complete agreement on national need and national capacity for the same kind of post-war vigor that restored national confidence during the war. For the first time since America began to doubt itself, at the beginning of the depression, it is able to look at a national problem without feeling licked in advance.

Used Cars Take OPA For A Ride

Some Of Them Sell For More Now Than They Did When New

By JACK STINNETT

AT THE office of price administration, they're wrestling with one of the toughest problems in months—how to stop skyrocketing prices of used cars.

Already there have been reports from some areas that the high prices of used cars are slowing up the war effort. Workers who must travel long distances to their jobs and can't afford this high-priced transportation are finding work nearer home, regardless of whether it is essential.

According to information received here, three-year-old used cars in some sections are selling 75 to 80 percent over the cost of the car when it was new. In some instances, this has brought the cost of some of the least expensive cars to around $1,500.

What is the answer? Price ceilings and maybe rationing. Why hasn't OPA done something about it before? The resistance of industry.

Dealers say ceiling prices would force many of them out of business, necessitating the closing of many repair shops, carried as a sideline. These repair shops are badly needed to keep the nation rolling. It is estimated that at least 20,000,000 cars must be kept moving if wartime transportation is to be maintained adequately.

A second factor is the fear of creating a new black market that could be worked between individuals. It would be almost impossible to prove that a "premium" was paid over the ceiling price.

The third problem is one of pricing. Although a base value can be established for used cars, it is impossible to establish the value of a used car by the make, the year it was turned out, and the number of miles on the speedometer.

The talk now is that there might have to be two types of ceilings—one on guaranteed reconditioned cars sold by dealers and another on cars sold by individuals.

Also there is no assurance that ceilings can be established that will keep used cars rolling into the market—an essential factor if war work is to be maintained. Serious shortages of used cars in the big war industrial centers would affect the whole war program.

A Look At Our Enemies

HOW strong is Germany?

In the opinion of Allied military leaders Adolf Hitler still has a mighty war machine at his disposal.

Here is a picture of Nazi military might as compiled from the opinions of two top Allied officers charged with assessing German strength and from information obtained from an anti-Nazi German underground leader aiding the Allied cause.

None of these men believes a combination of Allied bombing and Russian ground successes will cause a German collapse, although they acknowledge the contributions of both.

None of them believes a civilian revolution is possible at the moment.

All are convinced bloody, large-scale battles must be waged on the western front to beat the Germans into submission.

All say German reserve stocks are low, but German ground forces have no serious shortage of war materials.

They agree that roughly German military strength is in about the same relative position as it was in 1917 in the last war.

Turning to the Pacific war, an authoritative survey at the headquarters of the 14th U. S. air force in China indicates that destruction comparable to that wrought by the Allies in western Europe's industrial centers could be achieved against Japan with a 10th of the plane strength and bomb weight.

Information available to the 14th U. S. air force command, however, suggests a contribution of the popular pre-Pearl Harbor belief that Tokyo itself could be destroyed readily.

Tokyo is a modern city with a great deal of western-style construction and likely would not go up in flames readily.

Moreover, Japan's war potential cannot be broken by attacks on Tokyo, it is believed here. The situation calls for attacks on centers of her heavy industry.

There—as in Kobe and Osaka—one finds flimsy construction that is an ideal target for incendiaries and block-busters.

Field Warehouse

Study Explains New Financial Device

A THOROUGHLY tested but relatively unknown financial device called "field warehouse receipts" promises to get increasing attention after the war, according to a study by National Bureau of Economic Research.

It can provide working capital for business enterprise and may be the key to disposal of surplus government merchandise.

Prof. Neil H. Jacoby, secretary of the University of Chicago, and Prof. Raymond J. Saulnier of Columbia university, who made the study, define "field warehousing" as shortage of goods which have been pledged as collateral by a borrower.

The goods, though stored on the borrower's premises, are in the custody of a third party.

Thus, warehouse costs are held to a minimum, access to the goods is simplified and the expense of transportation between warehouse and the borrower is eliminated.

The warehouseman takes custody of the goods—raw materials, semi-finished, or finished goods—on the premises and issues a warehouse receipt, which is then turned over to the lender—usually a bank—as collateral security.

In 1941, the study discloses, about 13 percent of all operating and insured commercial banks in the United States extended credit secured by field warehouse receipts, although the frequency of such lending was much greater than this in certain areas, less in others.

Forty-three percent of all field warehouses are located in the Pacific and central states.

The device appeals especially to small businessmen, the authors of the study explain.

Many of these concerns experience high degrees of seasonal fluctuation in working capital requirements and find field warehouses receipts financing to be advantageous because the amount of credit is thereby geared closely to working capital needs.

Other concerns use the device because operations are expanding rapidly and they need credit in amounts larger than can be obtained without collateral security.

Soldier Chapel Of Air

WASHINGTON — The "soldiers' chapel of the air," comprised of fighting men from the 15th air forces headquarters in Italy, has an Ohioan as organist, the war department has disclosed.

Organized by Chaplain (Maj.) John Rhodes, a North Carolinian, the group has as its organist, Staff Sgt. Lloyd J. Fender of Portsmouth, O. This unique choral group has become one of the most famous in the army, the war department said.

The group first appeared in a concert last Christmas before 1,200 officers and men in a general hospital. Soldiers of three faiths — Catholic, Protestant and Jewish — comprise the choir. At times the Church of England and Moslem faiths also have been represented in its membership.

"It's a bit remarkable, I believe," Chaplain Rhodes said, "that men in a theater of war will devote a portion of their spare time to rehearsing and singing programs that include, in addition to hymns, anthems of Beethoven, Handel, Liszt and others."

The group sings at regular Sunday services and broadcasts to men in that region.

It's An Art

We Not Only Cannot Write A Novel But Probably Couldn't Qualify As One Of Our 'Ace' Columnists

By DAMON RUNYON

JIMMY STARR, movie columnist for The Los Angeles Herald and Express, has written a murder mystery entitled "The Corpse Came C. O. D.," a title which is certainly intriguing enough, and in his brief introduction he says:

> This book—the one which all newspapermen promise themselves to write but never do—is dedicated to the ace columnists and writers whose names appear on this page. If it were not for them—my friends and contemporaries — this book never would have been written."

The introduction is surrounded by reproductions of the newspaper heads of various columns, including my own, which flatters me no little. No one ever before rated me an "ace" columnist, though many have classed me as a deuce.

But there I am with all those big shots like Winchell, Lippman, Pegler and Louella Parsons and it makes me feel mighty proud, suh. I only regret that book reviewing ethics bearing upon reviews of mystery stories forbid any revelations of plot, etc., etc., lest they dull the appetite of the avid reader for this type of literary fare, but I can tell you that "The Corpse Came C. O. D." is as exciting as the title.

STARR is a short chap with a perpetual grin and a kisser somewhat less handsome than that of Tyrone Power or Clark Gable. He is 40 years old and has been doing a movie column for the Herald and Express for years. He got his first job as a movie columnist on the old Los Angeles Record by losing another as a publicity man under Harry Brand with the Norma Talmadge Co., pulling a murder hoax that got him in bad but perhaps set the tempo of his literary thought.

He had been in Hollywood since 1919, working for Mack Sennett as an extra and as an office boy at the old Metro studio He used to write jokes for various magazines. As you can see, he has considerable knowledge of the background against which he tells how "The Corpse Came C. O. D. and he brings in all the glamor spots of Hollywood and Beverly Hills.

Now that I have told you of Jimmy Starr, I would like to discuss his introduction about newspapermen always promising themselves to write a novel but never getting around to doing the work. That used to be quite true. I never met a newspaperman in the old days who did not have a novel in his system that never leaked out in printed words, except in a few cases. But I reckon Jimmy wrote his lines before he took stock of the new era that finds newspapermen writing books like mad.

THEY practically dominate the literary field just now. Louella Parsons, Nick Kenny, Howard Handleman, Ernie Pyle, Lowell Bennett, Jack Beldon, Dick Tregaskis and scores of other working newspapermen and women have books on display in the book stores, must of them still fresh and selling rapidly. I think I can safely say that never before in literary history have there been so many books by authors on one profession as there are today.

It is true that many of them are by war correspondents and that some of them represent material collected from newspapers, but quite a number were written for book publication only, and I am sure it is as difficult to write facts from memory and after the excitement has cooled so some extent as it is to sit down and weave a novel from the imagination.

I must say that both feats command my admiration. I do not think I could carry a story line beyond four of five thousand words. I never tried a novel to be sure, because the mere contemplation of the enormity of the task has always appalled me. I therefore doff my kady to all authors who can keep a plot rolling to three or four hundred pages.

Decorations Committee

By Truman Twill

OR, IF you've nothing better to think about, think about the decorations committee.

You hire a hall to stage a party and then you appoint a decorations committee to cut down trees and hang up branches so it will look as if you had decided to hold the party out in the woods in the first place.

The members of the committee decide to paste blue paper and silver stars on the ceiling to make it look like a June night in the middle of the winter, then they all have previous engagements except the two people who are scared to death about getting up on ladders, and they put up the stars.

They hang up trailing vines to look like the jungle, but all they do is make everybody wonder where all that stuff came from in the first place and what in blazes will they do with it afterward.

They blow up balloons to look like red apples, purple grapes, striped rubber balls and bubbles floating in the air, but no matter what the idea was the balloons look just like balloons and will explode if touched with a hot cigaret.

They drape everything with greenery and hang streamers from the chandeliers so the proprietor of the dump can have something worthwhile to sweep out the next morning to make way for the next bright idea gang moving in with more greenery and more streamers.

They work like ward heelers on election day to make windows look like blank walls and to make blank walls look like windows. They out Edison by hiding all the electric light, then they borrow more lights to keep the place from being gloomy

They promise each other the idea is to make the place look like a sultan's palace, the inside of a New York night club, or the deck of an ocean liner when they get through, then they turn over the whole job to the member with the strongest back and the weakest mind so they can criticize the ensuing failure with a clear conscience.

They get into fights, threaten never to speak to each other again, make cutting remarks, dislocate their bones and tear their ligaments. They sacrifice safety, paste, pins and health, and al they have when they get through is a deficit.

But there always will be decorations and decorations committees. What else would all those crazy people do with all that energy if they couldn't hang up tissue paper, bunting and dead branches? They would have to be put on the refreshments committee and that never would do. They would have food strewn all over the place.

NEW PROJECTS ARE SUGGESTED AT WELLSVILLE

W[illegible] Of Financing Post-War Proposals Also Aired At Planners' Meeting

Wellsville's post-war planning council members suggested various projects and discussed the means of obtaining financial aid at a meeting Thursday night at the City hall.

C. Fred Gluth, city safety-service director and vice president, reported on the state conference in Akron Feb. 18-19 when officials explained that the state will give financial support and other aid to post-war programs.

Pooling Plan Suggested

School Supt. S. E. Daw said that probably surrounding small towns will be financially at low ebb after the war and that they might be willing to pool their resources and then select an engineer to explain the programs and the aid needed.

Mr. Gluth commented that following the war general hospitals under federal jurisdiction will be set up for veterans and it might be possible for Wellsville to obtain one.

Mr. Daw suggested that a new postoffice be built.

"Wellsville should take more initiative in obtaining small industries such as nylon factories and laundries because after the war big mills probably will employ men from mill towns in preference to surrounding towns, and thus many Wellsville men will be jobless," George Naylor said.

To Invite Legislators

He also suggested that State Rep. John M. Kerr and Sen. John P. Stephenson be invited to future meetings.

John Q. Call, president of city council, reported the council had appointed City Solicitor James McSweeney to investigate the legality of the council's $250 appropriation to the post-war council for traveling and other expenses, which the post-war planners had requested.

The group voted to meet the last of each month at 8 p. m. at the City hall.

NEW PROJECTS ARE SUGGESTED AT WELLSVILLE

Way Of Financing Post-War Proposals Also Aired At Planners' Meeting

Wellsville's post-war planning council members suggested various projects and discussed the means of obtaining financial aid at a meeting Thursday night at the City hall.

C. Fred Gluth, city safety-service director and vice president, reported on the state conference in Akron Feb. 18-19 when officials explained that the state will give financial support and other aid to post-war programs.

Pooling Plan Suggested

School Supt. S. E. Daw said that probably surrounding small towns will be financially at low ebb after the war and that they might be willing to pool their resources and then select an engineer to explain the programs and the aid needed.

Mr. Gluth commented that following the war general hospitals under federal jurisdiction will be set up for veterans and it might be possible for Wellsville to obtain one.

Mr. Daw suggested that a new postoffice be built.

"Wellsville should take more initiative in obtaining small industries such as nylon factories and laundries because after the war big mills probably will employ men from mill towns in preference to surrounding towns, and thus many Wellsville men will be jobless," George Naylor said.

To Invite Legislators

He also suggested that State Rep. John M. Kerr and Sen. John P. Stephenson be invited to future meetings.

John Q. Call, president of city council, reported the council had appointed City Solicitor James McSweeney to investigate the legality of the council's $250 appropriation to the post-war council for traveling and other expenses, which the post-war planners had requested.

The group voted to meet the last of each month at 8 p. m. at the City hall.

Fish Chopped From Ice

STICKNEY, S. D.—Residents of this community get their fresh frozen fish the easy way. They simply go to nearby Platte lake and chop fish out of the ice. Platte lake is best described as "a mile wide and an inch deep." When the water froze this winter, the fish froze along with it.

CIO Rubber Workers Back Roosevelt Veto, Slap Barkley's Move

By The Associated Press.

The CIO United Rubber Workers of America's international executive board came to the support of President Roosevelt's tax bill veto Thursday and criticized Sen. Alben W. Barkley for what it called "his cowardly act" and "desertion of his commander-in-chief."

At the same time, Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson of Ohio, indorsed by the state Democratic committee as "favorite son" at the forthcoming convention, telegraphed Mr. Roosevelt an expression of "utmost confidence in your great and humanitarian leadership."

The United Rubber Workers board, in session at Akron, asserted in a telegram to the President that Barkley's resignation as senate majority leader would "receive only the contempt of the American people."

"The international executive board of the United Rubber Workers of America, with 170,000 members in vital war industries, is shocked by Sen. Barkley's desertion of his commander-in-chief in his cowardly act," the message said.

At Cincinnati, Jack Kroll, regional director of the Ohio-Kentucky CIO political action committee, told Barkley in a telegram that "disagreements such as took place yesterday only can distress our friends and comfort our enemies." He urged Barkley to reconsider.

DOCTOR FOUND GUILTY ON ESPIONAGE CHARGE

By The Associated Press.

DETROIT, Feb. 25 — Dr. Fred W. Thomas is confined to Wayne county jail today pending outcome of an appeal from his conviction by a federal court jury on a charge of conspiracy to conduct espionage.

His attorney, Walter M. Nelson, has three days in which to file a motion for new trial.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty late Thursday with a recommendation for leniency. Judge Edward J. Moinet has not fixed the date of sentence.

The government has not asked the death penalty. The maximum imprisonment term allowable under the wartime espionage act would be 30 years.

The verdict closed the government's case against eight alleged espionage conspirators indicted here last fall. Six pleaded guilty while charges against Bertrand Stuart Hoffman, a former merchant seaman, were dismissed on mental grounds.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—Mrs. Lionel Atwill, divorced wife of the actor and former wife of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, will be married March 11 to Capt. Alf Heiberg, 39, army air forces band leader, she disclosed today. It will be her fourth trip to the altar.

NEWELL PAPER DRIVE PLANNED

Girl Reserves Honored For Salvage Campaign Help

Wells High school students opened their newest paper salvage drive Thursday afternoon with a special assembly and echoes from the last drive when they collected a total of 11,000 pounds.

E. R. Hartman of Weirton, Hancock county civilian defense council commander, presented a citation to Miss Beverly Geer, president of the Girl Reserves, honoring the club's work during the recent drive. The girls' group collected three tons of paper.

The Hi-Y club, under the direction of its president, Keith Cox, collected two tons of paper and was a runner-up for first place honors.

In addition to the salvage award, a citation was given by the treasury department to the home room of Mrs. C. A. Briggle for its sale of War Bonds and Stamps during November. The honor was received by Miss Patricia McGown, room president, for her classmates, who sold $1,295 of Bonds and Stamps.

A $25 War Bond was presented George Talbott, 14-year-old student who sold $657 in Stamps and Bonds.

The current waste paper drive will be a home room contest, Mr. Gregory said, and the winners will be "treated" to a movie.

ARGENTINA

of the presidency will have on Argentine foreign relations is unknown but he is known to be an intimate friend of Col. Juan Domingo Peron, secretary of labor and welfare, frequently mentioned as the mainspring of the reactionary "gou"—or "colonels' group".

This organization was credited only last week with forcing the resignation of Foreign Minister Alberto Gilbert after he had been reported in favor of a declaration of war against Germany.

The change in the presidency apparently was accomplished without violence, although there were reports "military forces had been very active."

Ill Health Blamed Officially

Ramirez' stepping down from the presidency was attributed officially to ill health.

The first Associated Press dispatch to come out of Buenos Aires was limited to a war department release of a statement signed by Ramirez. It said:

"Exhausted by the intense tasks of government which make it necessary for me to take a rest, on this date I delegate the office which I occupy to Vice President Gen. Edelmiro Farrell."

Farrell was reported to have resigned his post as war minister as a means of obtaining a free hand to push out Ramirez.

A former amateur boxing champion and a bluff, tough cavalry officer, Farrell's abilities as a statesman are virtually unknown.

It is believed here, the fact he has been serving as vice president might have influenced the army group opposing Ramirez to put him into the president's chair in the belief he would be regarded as a logical successor to Ramirez and that the question of withdrawing recognition of the government would not arise in other American capitals.

Col. J. Filomeno Velazco, named as new chief of Buenos Aires police and the federal police department, told newsmen at the Argentine capital the only charges in the government involved himself and the head of the postoffice department.

Other reports said Col. Julio Largos had replaced Col. Anibal Imbert in that post. Velazco succeeded Col. Emilio Ramirez.

Velazco announced the undersecretariat of the press will be abolished and that the press will be permitted to publish news freely "so long as it adheres to the truth."

The coup appears to have been bloodless, but dispatches said new rumors continued to circulate about the Argentine capital that in some parts of the city truckloads of troops took up positions.

Detachments from main police headquarters, including mounted police, also were assigned to duty.

SALEM DISTRICT MAN KILLS SELF WITH GUN

Employe Of Foundry Found Dead In Barn At Home

Special To The Review.

SALEM, Feb. 25—The body of Alfred McNutt, 65, Quaker Foundry Co. worker, was found in the barn at his home on Ellsworth road, just north of here, Thursday at 6:45 p. m., a suicide victim, according to County Coroner Arnold Devon of East Liverpool.

Mr. McNutt was found upon the floor. Beside him was an empty shotgun and a stick which he had used to push the trigger. Part of his side had been blown away by the charge from the gun.

The body was found by Mrs. Georgia Mercer, Mr. McNutt's housekeeper, and a neighbor, R. W. Smith. Mrs. Mercer went to the barn to search for him when he failed to return to his home after the evening meal. She found the door of the barn locked and, unable to obtain a response, she summoned Mr. Smith to force the door open.

Friends said that Mr. McNutt had been worrying over two of his grandsons who are in the military service.

Mr. McNutt was born at New Springfield but had spent many years in the vicinity of Salem.

He leaves three daughters, Mrs. Luther Felgar of New Springfield, Mrs. Park Parks of Petersburg and Mrs. Myrtle Meredith of Pontiac, Mich. His wife died about 12 years ago.

The body was taken to the Fry funeral home in Columbiana.

Rev. James Howard McBane, former East Liverpool resident and retired minister, died suddenly Wednesday at his home at Oak Park, Ill. He was 60.

He was the son of the late Philip and Isabelle McBane. Rev. McBane was graduated from East Liverpool High school in 1903 Westminster college in 1906 and Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological seminary in 1909.

Rev. McBane served as secretary of the Y. M. C. A. overseas during World war I. He left East Liverpool about 25 years ago. His father died Jan. 26.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Helen Reed McBane, former East Liverpool resident; a son, H. Reed McBane of Crawfordsville, Ind.; two sisters, Miss Nettie McBane of East Liverpool, and Mrs. Rachel Campbell of Bayard, and two brothers, John T. McBane and George Chalmers McBane, both of East Liverpool.

Rites will be held this afternoon at Oak Park.

EX-WELLSVILLE MAN CLAIMED BY INJURIES

Frank Norris, former Wellsville resident, died Thursday night at Crescent City, Fla., following injuries received when struck by a car.

Mr. Norris was born in Columbiana county, son of the late Alex and Mary Cameron Norris. He resided in Wellsville for many years and was employed in the former mills of the American Sheet and Tinplate Co. He resided in Florida for the last three years. Mr. Norris was a member of the First Methodist church.

He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Thomas Jarvis and Mrs. George Welsh, both of Wellsville, and Mrs. L. C. Wallace of Lisbon; and two brothers, Harry Norris of Steubenville and Paul Norris of Wellsville.

The body will be sent to the MacLean funeral home. Arrangements will be announced later.

Mrs. Julia E. Browne

Mrs. Julia E. Browne, widow of Warren E. Browne and for many years a resident of East Liverpool, died Thursday night in the home of her son, J. Homer Browne on North Jefferson st., Lisbon, following a year's illness. She was 82.

Mrs. Browne had been making her home with her son for the last six years. She was born in Zanesville, May 22, 1861, a son of John H. and Rosetta A. Drake. She spent many years in East Liverpool.

She was formerly a member of the First Presbyterian church of East Liverpool but transferred her membership to Lisbon after going to the county seat.

Besides her son, she leaves two sisters, Mrs. E. K. Gilbert of Beaver, Ore., and Mrs. T. Lee Williams of Zanesville; one brother, Allen R. Drake of Los Angeles, and five grandchildren.

Services will be held Monday at 4 p. m., eastern standard time, in the Eells funeral home in Lisbon by Rev. J. Morgan Cox, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Burial will be in Riverview cemetery at East Liverpool.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

Grover C. Miller

LISBON—Grover C. Miller, 59, a guard at the Bliss Co. plant in Salem, died Thursday at 6:45 p. m. in his home at 321 West Maple st., following an illness of a complication of diseases.

Mr. Miller was born Jan. 27, 1885, in Marshallville, a son of David and Sadie Wilson Miller. He spent almost his lifetime in Lisbon. He worked as a foreman at the plant of the National Brass and Copper Co. here before entering the employment of the Bliss Co.

He was a member of the Presbyterian church.

Mr. Miller leaves his widow, Mrs. Della Crawford Miller; one daughter, Mrs. Velma Kessler of Lisbon; a son, Donald Miller of Dearborn, Mich.; two brothers, J. C. Miller of Lisbon and Charles Miller of Pennfield, N. Y., and two grandchildren.

The body was taken to the Eells funeral home where services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. by Rev. J. Morgan Cox, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Burial will be in the Lisbon cemetery.

Friends may call Saturday or Sunday afternoon or night at the funeral home.

Mrs. Eva Mae Mercer

Mrs. Eva Mae Mercer, wife of John T. Mercer of Congo, died today at 2:15 a. m. at her home following a long illness. She was 70.

She was born in Washington county, O., and resided in Congo for the last 42 years.

In addition to her husband she is survived by five sons, Charles Mercer and Wilbert Mercer of East Liverpool; William S. Mercer and Norman Mercer of Congo, Homer Mercer of Newell; three daughters, Mrs. Nessie Hockinson of Newell, Mrs. Goldie Adams of East Liverpool and Miss Wilda Mercer at home, and 23 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Rites will be held Monday at 2:30 p. m. at the Church of the Nazarene in Congo by Rev. Chester Acton, pastor, and Rev. Ray Estell, former pastor. Interment will be in Locust Hill cemetery.

Friends may call any time after 8 tonight at the late home.

Moscow said 190 localities were captured in a three-pronged advance on Pskov from the north, northeast and east which was averaging between 10 and 17 miles a day.

Berlin, acknowledging loss of Dno by "evacuation", also told of renewed fighting 90 miles inside old Poland, where it was declared the Germans have recaptured Rojische, 11 miles north of Lutsk and 46 miles from the 1941 German-Russian frontier. Moscow never has announced capture of Rojische.

(A Red Star dispatch from Krivoi Rog said yesterday the Germans had destroyed that mining center in the Dnieper bend and executed 17,000 Russian civilians and buried them in a mine at Valiavka.)

Ration Tokens In Use Sunday Won't Be Found Complicated

District housewives generally appeared relieved today that the new ration token plan which becomes effective Sunday for food purchasing is not as complicated as they had feared at first.

A close study of the program makes it clear that it really isn't complicated at all—that, in fact, will be eliminated much of the fuss and bother the shopper has experienced in the mechanics of dealing with rationing.

Just as a last reminder, here's a review of the ration token plan and some of the things to remember as you change your buying habits.

1.—Housewives need do nothing whatever about obtaining tokens before Sunday. Grocers will give them in "change" for purchases made wtih red or blue stamps on or after Sunday.

2.—Effective Sunday, five blue stamps and three red ones in War Ration Book Four will become valid until May 20 and also will assume values of 10 points each, regardless of the face value inscribed on them.

3.—These stamps are Blue Stamps A8, B8, C8, D8 and E8 and Red Stamps A8, B8 and C8.

4.—The blue stamps and tokens buy processed (canned goods, etc.) foods and the red stamps and tokens buy meats, cheese, fats, and oils.

5.—Tokens are good for 1 point only and are valid indefinitely. They can be spent regardless of which stamps are currently valid.

6.—In addition to the 10-point red and blue stamps which become valid Sunday, Brown stamps K, L and M in Book Four and Brown stamps Y and Z in Book Three will continue to be worth their face value and will be valid through March 20.

7.—Each red and blue stamp in Book Four will assume a 10-point value as it becomes valid.

8.—The program will mean that Book Four is the only book necessary for shopping after the program gets going and that housewives and grocers will handle from 60 to 75 percent fewer stamps during the whole program.

9.—Tokens are expected to make Book Four last two years and the OPA says it will adjust point values so that each ration book holder gets exactly the same amount of food under the token system as before.

MIDLAND SOLDIER, 23, KILLED IN KWAJALEIN

A Midland boy died Feb. 5 on Kwajalein Island, according to word received this week by his mother.

Mrs. Frieda M. Brown, Midland ave., has been notified of the death of her son, Pvt. Charles P. Brown, 23, during the invasion of the Marshall group. He was serving in the field artillery.

Pvt. Brown was born in Midland and prior to his army enlistment was employed in the open hearth department of the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel Co. He entered the service Feb. 19, 1942, and was sent to the Hawaiian islands three months later and from there to the South Pacific area.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by two brothers, Paul Brown and Peter Brown of Midland; three sisters, Mrs. Cecilia Clark of Midland, Mrs. Margaret Vokler of Pittsburgh and Mrs. Sarah Soldiers of East Liverpool; two half-brothers, Harry Brown of East Liverpool and George Brown of Pittsburgh; and four half-sisters, Mrs. Katie Thompson of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Charles Fresty of Midland, Mrs. Rose King of Columbiana and Mrs. Marie Schrader of Philadelphia.

350 CIVILIANS TO JOIN PARTY LEAVING REICH

By The Associated Press.

IRUN, Spain, Feb. 25—German occupation authorities at Biarritz, France, have made arrangements for some 350 American civilians interned as enemy aliens in German-controlled territories to join the American diplomatic party at Lisbon which is being exchanged for German nationals.

The American civilians are scheduled to cross the Spanish frontier Monday and to be repatriated aboard the Gripsholm along with 37 wounded United States war prisoners, diplomats and several hundred newspaper correspondents and other civilians.

Announcement of the new repatriation was made at the last minute as the diplomatic internees were leaving Germany and apparently was intended as a precedent to initiate exchange with the United States of this new category.

RUM BONUS DROPPED, BRANDY PUT IN PLACE

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 25—Rum was removed from the Ohio liquor ration list today and brandy restored as a "bonus" for the next ration period starting March 1 and ending April 8.

Liquor Director Don A. Fisher announced supplies of rum are considered adequate to permit unrestricted purchases, although some metropolitan stores have reported shortages.

Brandy has been off the "bonus" list since last Dec. 10. Starting March 1, ration card holders may purchase one quart, one fifth or two pints of whisky, gin, brandy or cordial and a "bonus" of brandy, cordial or imported gin in the same amount.

The ninth ration period starting March 1 is three days shorter than the current period.

HANCOCK RED CROSS WILL CONDUCT DRIVE

$15,000 War Fund Goal Set For Campaign Wednesday

North Hancock county Red Cross chapter will seek $15,000 in its War Fund drive and will begin a house-to-house canvass Wednesday under the supervision of Sidney Porter, general chairman, and Mrs. Ruth Sprouse, executive secretary.

Each area under the chapter's supervision will be directed by its own chairman and workers who will plan the campaign for their district, Mrs. Sprouse said.

E. R. Chandler has been named to direct Chester activities. The drive is slated to get under way Tuesday night when a kickoff dinner will be held in the Masonic temple.

At Newell, Clyde Cozzens, chairman, will meet his workers Monday night in the Red Cross headquarters. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Mrs. John Rice will head the rural campaign, while William Demos and Earl Bennett have been named co-chairman of the New Cumberland division.

Accident Ties Up Traffic

LISBON, Feb. 25 — Traffic over route 30 in the vicinity of Gilmore's crossing south of Lisbon was crippled for a short time today when a large trailer truck transporting a shipment of steel "jack-knifed" and overturned about 9 a. m. The truck is owned by the Caplan Trucking Co. of Cleveland and driven by Jerry Virgo, also of Cleveland. No one was injured.

CIO Rubber Workers Back Roosevelt Veto, Slap Barkley's Move

By The Associated Press.

The CIO United Rubber Workers of America's international executive board came to the support of President Roosevelt's tax bill veto Thursday and criticized Sen. Alben W. Barkley for what it called "his cowardly act" and "desertion of his commander-in-chief."

At the same time, Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson of Ohio, indorsed by the state Democratic committee as "favorite son" at the forthcoming convention, telegraphed Mr. Roosevelt an expression of "utmost confidence in your great and humanitarian leadership."

The United Rubber Workers board, in session at Akron, asserted in a telegram to the President that Barkley's resignation as senate majority leader would "receive only the contempt of the American people."

"The international executive board of the United Rubber Workers of America, with 170,000 members in vital war industries, is shocked by Sen. Barkley's desertion of his commander-in-chief in his cowardly act," the message said.

At Cincinnati, Jack Kroll, regional director of the Ohio-Kentucky CIO political action committee, told Barkley in a telegram that "disagreements such as took place yesterday only can distress our friends and comfort our enemies." He urged Barkley to reconsider.

DOCTOR FOUND GUILTY ON ESPIONAGE CHARGE

By The Associated Press.

DETROIT, Feb. 25 — Dr. Fred W. Thomas is confined to Wayne county jail today pending outcome of an appeal from his conviction by a federal court jury on a charge of conspiracy to conduct espionage.

His attorney, Walter M. Nelson, has three days in which to file a motion for new trial.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty late Thursday with a recommendation for leniency. Judge Edward J. Moinet has not fixed the date of sentence.

The government has not asked the death penalty. The maximum imprisonment term allowable under the wartime espionage act would be 30 years.

The verdict closed the government's case against eight alleged espionage conspirators indicted here last fall. Six pleaded guilty while charges against Bertrand Stuart Hoffman, a former merchant seaman, were dismissed on mental grounds.

NEWELL PAPER DRIVE PLANNED

Girl Reserves Honored For Salvage Campaign Help

Wells High school students opened their newest paper salvage drive Thursday afternoon with a special assembly and echoes from the last drive when they collected a total of 11,000 pounds.

E. R. Hartman of Weirton, Hancock county civilian defense council commander, presented a citation to Miss Beverly Geer, president of the Girl Reserves, honoring the club's work during the recent drive. The girls' group collected three tons of paper.

The Hi-Y club, under the direction of its president, Keith Cox, collected two tons of paper and was a runner-up for first place honors.

In addition to the salvage award, a citation was given by the treasury department to the home room of Mrs. C. A. Briggle for its sale of War Bonds and Stamps during November. The honor was received by Miss Patricia McGown, room president, for her classmates, who sold $1,295 of Bonds and Stamps.

A $25 War Bond was presented George Talbott, 14-year-old student who sold $657 in Stamps and Bonds.

The current waste paper drive will be a home room contest, Mr. Gregory said, and the winners will be "treated" to a movie.

ARGENTINA

of the presidency will have on Argentine foreign relations is unknown but he is known to be an intimate friend of Col. Juan Domingo Peron, secretary of labor and welfare, frequently mentioned as the mainspring of the reactionary "gou"—or "colonels' group".

This organization was credited only last week with forcing the resignation of Foreign Minister Alberto Gilbert after he had been reported in favor of a declaration of war against Germany.

The change in the presidency apparently was accomplished without violence, although there were reports "military forces had been very active."

Ill Health Blamed Officially

Ramirez' stepping down from the presidency was attributed officially to ill health.

The first Associated Press dispatch to come out of Buenos Aires was limited to a war department release of a statement signed by Ramirez. It said:

"Exhausted by the intense tasks of government which make it necessary for me to take a rest, on this date I delegate the office which I occupy to Vice President Gen. Edelmiro Farrell."

Farrell was reported to have resigned his post as war minister as a means of obtaining a free hand to push out Ramirez.

A former amateur boxing champion and a bluff, tough cavalry officer, Farrell's abilities as a statesman are virtually unknown.

It is believed here, the fact he has been serving as vice president might have influenced the army group opposing Ramirez to put him into the president's chair in the belief he would be regarded as a logical successor to Ramirez and that the question of withdrawing recognition of the government would not arise in other American capitals.

Col. J. Filomeno Velazco, named as new chief of Buenos Aires police and the federal police department, told newsmen at the Argentine capital the only charges in the government involved himself and the head of the postoffice department.

Other reports said Col. Julio Largos had replaced Col. Anibal Imbert in that post. Velazco succeeded Col. Emilio Ramirez.

Velazco announced the undersecretariat of the press will be abolished and that the press will be permitted to publish news freely "so long as it adheres to the truth."

The coup appears to have been bloodless, but dispatches said new rumors continued to circulate about the Argentine capital that in some parts of the city truckloads of troops took up positions.

Detachments from main police headquarters, including mounted police, also were assigned to duty.

SALEM DISTRICT MAN KILLS SELF WITH GUN

Special To The Review.

SALEM, Feb. 25—The body of Alfred McNutt, 65, Quaker Foundry Co. worker, was found in the barn at his home on Ellsworth road, just north of here, Thursday at 6:45 p. m., a suicide victim, according to County Coroner Arnold Devon of East Liverpool.

Mr. McNutt was found upon the floor. Beside him was an empty shotgun and a stick which he had used to push the trigger. Part of his side had been blown away by the charge from the gun.

The body was found by Mrs. Georgia Mercer, Mr. McNutt's housekeeper, and a neighbor, R. W. Smith. Mrs. Mercer went to the barn to search for him when he failed to return to his home after the evening meal. She found the door of the barn locked and, unable to obtain a response, she summoned Mr. Smith to force the door open.

Friends said that Mr. McNutt had been worrying over two of his grandsons who are in the military service.

Mr. McNutt was born at New Springfield but had spent many years in the vicinity of Salem.

He leaves three daughters, Mrs. Luther Felgar of New Springfield, Mrs. Park Parks of Petersburg and Mrs. Myrtle Meredith of Pontiac, Mich. His wife died about 12 years ago.

The body was taken to the Fry funeral home in Columbiana.

REV. M'BANE, FORMER MINISTER, DIES AT 60

Rev. James Howard McBane, former East Liverpool resident and retired minister, died suddenly Wednesday at his home at Oak Park, Ill. He was 60.

He was the son of the late Philip and Isabelle McBane. Rev. McBane was graduated from East Liverpool High school in 1903 Westminster college in 1906 and Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological seminary in 1909.

Rev. McBane served as secretary of the Y. M. C. A. overseas during World war I. He left East Liverpool about 25 years ago. His father died Jan. 26.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Helen Reed McBane, former East Liverpool resident; a son, H. Reed McBane of Crawfordsville, Ind.; two sisters, Miss Nettie McBane of East Liverpool, and Mrs. Rachel Campbell of Bayard, and two brothers, John T. McBane and George Chalmers McBane, both of East Liverpool.

Rites will be held this afternoon at Oak Park.

EX-WELLSVILLE MAN CLAIMED BY INJURIES

Frank Norris, former Wellsville resident, died Thursday night at Crescent City, Fla., following injuries received when struck by a car.

Mr. Norris was born in Columbiana county, son of the late Alex and Mary Cameron Norris. He resided in Wellsville for many years and was employed in the former mills of the American Sheet and Tinplate Co. He resided in Florida for the last three years. Mr. Norris was a member of the First Methodist church.

He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Thomas Jarvis and Mrs. George Welsh, both of Wellsville, and Mrs. L. C. Wallace of Lisbon; and two brothers, Harry Norris of Steubenville and Paul Norris of Wellsville.

Ration Tokens In Use Sunday Won't Be Found Complicated

District housewives generally appeared relieved today that the new ration token plan which becomes effective Sunday for food purchasing is not as complicated as they had feared at first.

A close study of the program makes it clear that it really isn't complicated at all—that, in fact, will be eliminated much of the fuss and bother the shopper has experienced in the mechanics of dealing with rationing.

Just as a last reminder, here's a review of the ration token plan and some of the things to remember as you change your buying habits.

1.—Housewives need do nothing whatever about obtaining tokens before Sunday. Grocers will give them in "change" for purchases made wtih red or blue stamps on or after Sunday.

2.—Effective Sunday, five blue stamps and three red ones in War Ration Book Four will become valid until May 20 and also will assume values of 10 points each, regardless of the face value inscribed on them.

3.—These stamps are Blue Stamps A8, B8, C8, D8 and E8 and Red Stamps A8, B8 and C8.

4.—The blue stamps and tokens buy processed (canned goods, etc.) foods and the red stamps and tokens buy meats, cheese, fats, and oils.

5.—Tokens are good for 1 point only and are valid indefinitely. They can be spent regardless of which stamps are currently valid.

6.—In addition to the 10-point red and blue stamps which become valid Sunday, Brown stamps K, L and M in Book Four and Brown stamps Y and Z in Book Three will continue to be worth their face value and will be valid through March 20.

7.—Each red and blue stamp in Book Four will assume a 10-point value as it becomes valid.

8.—The program will mean that Book Four is the only book necessary for shopping after the program gets going and that housewives and grocers will handle from 60 to 75 percent fewer stamps during the whole program.

9.—Tokens are expected to make Book Four last two years and the OPA says it will adjust point values so that each ration book holder gets exactly the same amount of food under the token system as before.

MIDLAND SOLDIER, 23, KILLED IN KWAJALEIN

A Midland boy died Feb. 5 on Kwajalein Island, according to word received this week by his mother.

Mrs. Frieda M. Brown, Midland ave., has been notified of the death of her son, Pvt. Charles P. Brown, 23, during the invasion of the Marshall group. He was serving in the field artillery.

Pvt. Brown was born in Midland and prior to his army enlistment was employed in the open hearth department of the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel Co. He entered the service Feb. 19, 1942, and was sent to the Hawaiian islands three months later and from there to the South Pacific area.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by two brothers, Paul Brown and Peter Brown of Midland; three sisters, Mrs. Cecilia Clark of Midland, Mrs. Margaret Vokler of Pittsburgh and Mrs. Sarah Soldiers of East Liverpool; two half-brothers, Harry Brown of East Liverpool and George Brown of Pittsburgh; and four half-sisters, Mrs. Katie Thompson of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Charles Fresty of Midland, Mrs. Rose King of Columbiana and Mrs. Marie Schrader of Philadelphia.

350 CIVILIANS TO JOIN PARTY LEAVING REICH

By The Associated Press.

IRUN, Spain, Feb. 25—German occupation authorities at Biarritz, France, have made arrangements for some 350 American civilians interned as enemy aliens in German-controlled territories to join the American diplomatic party at Lisbon which is being exchanged for German nationals.

The American civilians are scheduled to cross the Spanish frontier Monday and to be repatriated aboard the Gripsholm along with 37 wounded United States war prisoners, diplomats and several hundred newspaper correspondents and other civilians.

Announcement of the new repatriation was made at the last minute as the diplomatic internees were leaving Germany and apparently was intended as a precedent to initiate exchange with the United States of this new category.

RUM BONUS DROPPED, BRANDY PUT IN PLACE

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 25—Rum was removed from the Ohio liquor ration list today and brandy restored as a "bonus" for the next ration period starting March 1 and ending April 8.

Liquor Director Don A. Fisher announced supplies of rum are considered adequate to permit unrestricted purchases, although some metropolitan stores have reported shortages.

Brandy has been off the "bonus" list since last Dec. 10. Starting March 1, ration card holders may purchase one quart, one fifth or two pints of whisky, gin, brandy or cordial and a "bonus" of brandy, cordial or imported gin in the same amount.

The ninth ration period starting March 1 is three days shorter than the current period.

HANCOCK RED CROSS WILL CONDUCT DRIVE

$15,000 War Fund Goal Set For Campaign Wednesday

North Hancock county Red Cross chapter will seek $15,000 in its War Fund drive and will begin a house-to-house canvass Wednesday under the supervision of Sidney Porter, general chairman, and Mrs. Ruth Sprouse, executive secretary.

Each area under the chapter's supervision will be directed by its own chairman and workers who will plan the campaign for their district, Mrs. Sprouse said.

E. R. Chandler has been named to direct Chester activities. The drive is slated to get under way Tuesday night when a kickoff dinner will be held in the Masonic temple.

At Newell, Clyde Cozzens, chairman, will meet his workers Monday night in the Red Cross headquarters. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Mrs. John Rice will head the rural campaign, while William Demos and Earl Bennett have been named co-chairman of the New Cumberland division.

Accident Ties Up Traffic

LISBON, Feb. 25 — Traffic over route 30 in the vicinity of Gilmore's crossing south of Lisbon was crippled for a short time today when a large trailer truck transporting a shipment of steel "jack-knifed" and overturned about 9 a. m. The truck is owned by the Caplan Trucking Co. of Cleveland and driven by Jerry Virgo, also of Cleveland. No one was injured.

Local Soldier Serving In England Takes WREN Girl For His Bride

An Anglo-American wedding of interest to East Liverpool residents was solemnized New Year's day at St. Luke's church in Great Crosby, England, when Miss Hazel June Swann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Swann of Waterloo, became the bride of Pfc. George Henry Davies, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Davies of East Third st.

Sgt. Raymond Matusick, an Ohioan and friend of the bridegroom, presented a series of vocal selections with the St. Luke's choir.

The bridesmaids included Misses Irene Annal, Olive Redman, Iris and Elsie Teare who were attired in gowns of Swiss lace and carried corsages of bronze chrysanthemums. Pfc. Paul Ammon of East Liverpool was best man.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in Dutch lace and wore a Valenciennes lace and wore an arm bouquet of red carnations. She is a member of the WREN, the English equivalent to the navy WAVES.

Pvt. Davies is a graduate of East Liverpool High school in 1935 and entered the service on March 28, 1942, arriving in England in July, 1942. He is a member of the quartermaster's corps.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Christ church hall. Pvt. and Mrs. Davies spent a brief honeymoon in Cardiff, Wales, before returning to service.

Try Kidney Stew

Kidney stew makes a delicious dinner — and don't worry about the family; they'll like it. Any of your cookbooks have excellent kidney stew recipes; but to be sure you get the finest flavor, use McCormick Celery Salt, McCormick Onion Salt, McCormick Parsley Flakes and a pinch of McCormick Cayenne Pepper — it adds the last flavor touch to a kidney stew. And do cook kidneys gently.

MAN AT SCENE HUNTED IN OHIO ATTACK DEATH

By The Associated Press.

LEBANON, O., Feb. 25—Warren county deputies hunted today for a suspect seen near a farm home at Franklin where Miss Myrtle Rogers, 44, was found raped, strangled and beaten to death.

Miss Rogers' body was discovered by her 6-year-old nephew, Neal Balon, when he returned from school Thursday with his mother, Mrs. Pauline Balon. They lived with the slain woman, Mrs. Balon's sister.

Sheriff William Hufford quoted Mrs. Balon, an employe of the Warren county draft board, as saying the boy went upstairs to greet his aunt and then she heard him scream when he came upon the body.

Miss Rogers had been beaten with a two-by-four scantling, Sheriff Hufford said, and roped to the bed. The rope and a dusting cap were knotted around her neck. The sheriff said she apparently had been attacked while washing windows.

Coroner H. M. Williams gave a verdict of murder and said the woman had been raped. He said a suspect seen near the home during the afternoon is being sought.

MAN AT SCENE HUNTED IN OHIO ATTACK DEATH

By The Associated Press.

LEBANON, O., Feb. 25—Warren county deputies hunted today for a suspect seen near a farm home at Franklin where Miss Myrtle Rogers, 44, was found raped, strangled and beaten to death.

Miss Rogers' body was discovered by her 6-year-old nephew, Neal Balon, when he returned from school Thursday with his mother, Mrs. Pauline Balon. They lived with the slain woman, Mrs. Balon's sister.

Sheriff William Hufford quoted Mrs. Balon, an employe of the Warren county draft board, as saying the boy went upstairs to greet his aunt and then she heard him scream when he came upon the body.

Miss Rogers had been beaten with a two-by-four scantling, Sheriff Hufford said, and roped to the bed. The rope and a dusting cap were knotted around her neck. The sheriff said she apparently had been attacked while washing windows.

Coroner H. M. Williams gave a verdict of murder and said the woman had been raped. He said a suspect seen near the home during the afternoon is being sought.

KIWANIANS HEAR POST-WAR AIMS

Interest In Children Urged By Visitor At Citadel

A recipe for post-war living was givvn Kiwanis club members Thursday noon at a luncheon in the Travelers hotel by Lt. Col. Edwin Clayton of New York city, visiting Salvation Army officer.

"What about tomorrow?" the speaker asked at the outset of his address. "We may be sure of death and taxes, but can we be certain of happiness and a reasonable portion of peace in a world destined to be as changed as the post-war world will be?"

He then outlined a group of objectives for the post-war citizen to seek and said the first steps are obtaining the right perspective and knowledge of where "we are going after the war."

"In the first place we must find happiness in what we are and what we have," he insisted, "and keep our thoughts on an even keel. If we are content to accept the simple things of life we shall find contentment.

He suggested his listeners find an interest in youth problems, know and study the children in their families and neighborhood, "for the success of the post-war world lies within their hands."

"Get a greater appreciation of nature," he urged, "Remember, God puts the beauties of nature in this world for several purposes. One of them is for our enjoyment. And, above all else, never forget the blessedness of worshipping God.

"No matter what happens among the peoples of the world," he asserted, "God still lives, He is in His heavens. When we remember that and when we receive Him and live our lives acceptable to His will — tomorrow will be all right.

Col. and Mrs. Clayton conducted two services in the Salvation Army citadel Wednesday and Thursday. The speaker was introduced by Adjt. Branwell Tripp of Cleveland, divisional young people's secretary of northeast Ohio, who, in turn, was presented to the club by Adjt. Henry Hillier of the local citadel.

A brief business session was conducted by Ira Burbick, president.

Today's Markets

STOCKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 25—Fractional advances were fairly well distributed in today's early stock market transactions although a number of leaders suffered minor declines.

On the upside at a moderately active opening were Radio Corp., Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Johns-Manville, Great Northern and U. S. Rubber. Lower were Bethlehem, North American and American Waterworks.

Holders of merchandising issues were not particularly disturbed by the Dun and Bradstreet estimate that this week's retail spending for the country as a whole is 4 to 6 percent under the like 1943 period.

Weather conditions received part of the blame for the discrepancy. It was recalled, too, that store distribution was lively at this time last year.

KIWANIANS HEAR POST-WAR AIMS

Interest In Children Urged By Visitor At Citadel

A recipe for post-war living was givnn Kiwanis club members Thursday noon at a luncheon in the Travelers hotel by Lt. Col. Edwin Clayton of New York city, visiting Salvation Army officer.

"What about tomorrow?" the speaker asked at the outset of his address. "We may be sure of death and taxes, but can we be certain of happiness and a reasonable portion of peace in a world destined to be as changed as the post-war world will be?"

He then outlined a group of objectives for the post-war citizen to seek and said the first steps are obtaining the right perspective and knowledge of where "we are going after the war."

"In the first place we must find happiness in what we are and what we have," he insisted, "and keep our thoughts on an even keel. If we are content to accept the simple things of life we shall find contentment.

He suggested his listeners find an interest in youth problems, know and study the children in their families and neighborhood, "for the success of the post-war world lies within their hands."

"Get a greater appreciation of nature," he urged, "Remember, God puts the beauties of nature in this world for several purposes. One of them is for our enjoyment. And, above all else, never forget the blessedness of worshipping God.

"No matter what happens among the peoples of the world," he asserted, "God still lives, He is in His heavens. When we remember that and when we receive Him and live our lives acceptable to His will — tomorrow will be all right.

Col. and Mrs. Clayton conducted two services in the Salvation Army citadel Wednesday and Thursday. The speaker was introduced by Adjt. Branwell Tripp of Cleveland, divisional young people's secretary of northeast Ohio, who, in turn, was presented to the club by Adjt. Henry Hillier of the local citadel.

A brief business session was conducted by Ira Burbick, president.

Today's Markets

STOCKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 25—Fractional advances were fairly well distributed in today's early stock market transactions although a number of leaders suffered minor declines.

On the upside at a moderately active opening were Radio Corp., Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Johns-Manville, Great Northern and U. S. Rubber. Lower were Bethlehem, North American and American Waterworks.

Holders of merchandising issues were not particularly disturbed by the Dun and Bradstreet estimate that this week's retail spending for the country as a whole is 4 to 6 percent under the like 1943 period.

Weather conditions received part of the blame for the discrepancy. It was recalled, too, that store distribution was lively at this time last year.

Case Number 32666
In the Matter of the Byron D. Beacom Educational Association, Wellsville, Ohio.
G. W. McMillan, Dr. Dudley H. Beaumont, Earl G. Shoub, Mrs. E. P. Nietz, C. D. Piatt, Trustees.

TO ALL INTERESTED PARTIES:

You will hereby take notice that G. W. McMillan, Dr. Dudley H. Beaumont, Earl G. Shoub, Mrs. E. P. Neitz, and C. D. Piatt, the President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer, and the Board of Trustees of the Byron D. Beacom Educational Association, filed their Petition in the Common Pleas Court, within and for the County of Columbiana and State of Ohio, praying that they may have permission to sell certain personal property and the following described real estate situated in said County, to-wit:

Situated in the city of Wellsville, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio and known as and being part of Lots Numbered 230 and 231 in Robertsons third addition to the city of Wellsville, Ohio, reference being had to the recorded plat of said addition. The part of said lots hereby conveyed commences at the Northwest corner of said Lot number 230 at the junction of Broadway and Seventh Streets; thence along the line of Seventh Street on the line of said Lot Number 230 fifty feet; thence in a Southerly direction on a line parallel with Broadway 36 feet; thence on a line parallel with Seventh Street 50 feet to the line of Broadway; thence along the line of Broadway 36 feet to the place of beginning. The parcel of land hereby conveyed is rectangular in shape, fronting 36 feet on Broadway and extending back, preserving the same width of 36 feet, on the line of Seventh Street a distance of 50 feet.

The above described tract of land, however, being subject to a life estate in one Agnes J. May according to the terms of an order of the Probate Court of Columbiana County, Ohio, construing the last will and testament of Byron D. Beacom, deceased, and which order of the Probate Court of Columbiana County, Ohio, is recorded in Vol. 30, Page 490, of the records of said court, the same being dated August 11, 1937.

The prayer of the Petition is for an Order of the Court authorizing it to sell said real estate and personal property upon such terms and conditions as the Court deems reasonable and for such other relief as may be necessary and proper.

Buy A Home Now At Liquidation Prices

We have just Four Single Dwellings left to liquidate. Every one is a good buy. They may be bought on terms if a satisfactory credit record can be shown.

More than half of the homes we have sold on terms during the past six years have since been refinanced through other companies because our monthly payment plan is arranged so that you will soon have your contract paid down to a balance which is acceptable for a loan and the buyers' payment record with us practically establishes a good credit record.

West Seventh Street. Ten room dwelling with bath and furnace. This home could easily be converted to a two family dwelling with five rooms in each unit, at small cost. Liquidation Price $4,500.00.

Jennings Avenue. Seven room dwelling with four bedrooms. Bath, furnace, attached garage. Hardwood Floors throughout. Many built-in features. Glassed in front and side porches. Only $500 down payment required. Balance in monthly payments of $45.00 which includes taxes, Fire, Liability and War Damage Insurance Premiums.

Blakeley Street. Five rooms, bath and furnace. New exterior paint last fall. All nice sized rooms and property is well located. Liquidation price requires only $400.00 down payment and balance in monthly payments of $38.50 which includes Taxes, Fire, Liability and War Damage Insurance Premiums.

Woodland Avenue in Clearview Addition. Two room cottage on lot 50x190. No utilities installed in this place. Cash Price only $200.00.

Buy A Home Now At Liquidation Prices

We have just Four Single Dwellings left to liquidate. Every one is a good buy. They may be bought on terms if a satisfactory credit record can be shown.

More than half of the homes we have sold on terms during the past six years have since been refinanced through other companies because our monthly payment plan is arranged so that you will soon have your contract paid down to a balance which is acceptable for a loan and the buyers' payment record with us practically establishes a good credit record.

West Seventh Street. Ten room dwelling with bath and furnace. This home could easily be converted to a two family dwelling with five rooms in each unit, at small cost. Liquidation Price $4,500.00.

Jennings Avenue. Seven room dwelling with four bedrooms. Bath, furnace, attached garage. Hardwood Floors throughout. Many built-in features. Glassed in front and side porches. Only $500 down payment required. Balance in monthly payments of $45.00 which includes taxes, Fire, Liability and War Damage Insurance Premiums.

Blakeley Street. Five rooms, bath and furnace. New exterior paint last fall. All nice sized rooms and property is well located. Liquidation price requires only $400.00 down payment and balance in monthly payments of $38.50 which includes Taxes, Fire, Liability and War Damage Insurance Premiums.

Woodland Avenue in Clearview Addition. Two room cottage on lot 50x190. No utilities installed in this place. Cash Price only $200.00.

Soldier Home From Pacific Pays Tribute To Red Cross

"I CAN'T think of words to describe the wonderful work the Red Cross is doing," said Pvt. Robert J. Nentwick, son of Mrs. Rebecca Nentwick, 235 West Fourth st., who is relaxing at his home here following two years of duty in the Southwest Pacific.

Noting that the Red Cross will stage a fund-raising campaign beginning next Wednesday, Pvt. Nentwick said enthusiastically:

"The Red Cross is wonderful. They are all over. I sure take my hat off to them."

Pvt. Nentwick was one of the first selectees to leave East Liverpool.

Getting back to the "States" was a thrill for the soldier.

"I could have hugged the ground and kissed the airport when our plane from Australia landed," he said. Not that he didn't like Australia, which he called "pretty nice." But it was "pretty hot" and he missed the snow of his homeland.

Of the Aussies, he said: "They are really rugged fighters—among the best in the world." He remarked it is "wonderful how they are all-out for the war effort and how they did so much with so little."

He commented that it was a bit difficult to get on to the Australians' customs at first, but he observed that the Australians are "getting more Americanized and there are now more jitterbugs 'down under' than there are here."

Pvt. Nentwick met a number of East Liverpool service personnel in Australia. These included Lt. Vera Capper, 141 Thompson ave.; Ernie D'Angelo, 102 Ravine st.; Dave O'Hanlon, 752 Minerva st.; "Moke" Mahoney, Chuck Parsons and Dave Reynolds.

"We received copies of The Review," he said, 'and they sure were welcome. We read every word in them—even the want ads. They sure helped to keep up our morale and keep us in touch with home."

Another morale builder was the series of entertainments by movie stars and "name bands". He said he saw Gary Cooper, Una Merkel, John Wayne, Joe E. Brown and Ray Bolger. The bands included Artie Shaw's and Little Jack Little's.

"We also received a visit from Mrs. Roosevelt," he added.

Pvt. Nentwick had highest praise for the work of 'Cal Courier," the anonymous citizen of East Liverpool who sends a regular letter about the home town and activities of local men in the service to any serviceman who wants to be on his mailing list.

Pvt. Nentwick has spent four months in hospitals but now looks fit. One of his two brothers, Frank Nentwick, is in the army, stationed at Corpus Christi, Tex.

Specialist (1c) Russell M. Jennings, naval recruiter of the Steubenville district, who interviewed applicants in East Liverpool on Wednesdays, has been assigned to the Cleveland recruiting office, where he will be in charge of enlisting WAVES. He will be replaced in Steubenville by Chief Petty Officer G. T. Thixton, assisted by Yeoman (1c) Harmon J. Morse.

Pvt. Carl Givens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Givens, Sub-station, is taking his boot training in the marine corps at San Diego, Calif.

Pvt. Robert Earl Laughlin, son of Mrs. Elsie Laughlin and grandson of Mrs. Alice Guildoo, 134 West Seventh st., is ill at the station hospital at Drew field, Tampa, Fla. His mother has left to visit him.

Three Wellsville brothers have served a total of more than five years in the South Pacific.

They are Sgt. John A. Tolson and Sgt. William T. Tolson, both of marine corps, and Pvt. Orvel M. Tolson Jr. of the engineers. They are the sons of Orvel C. Tolson.

John, who recently received his promotion, has served overseas 21 months and is stationed in the mid-Pacific. Bill has concluded a week's furlough with his wife, Mrs. Cathleen Tolson of Salineville, and his father. Now stationed at Camp Lejeune, New River, N. C., he served 26 months on Samoa. Orvel is stationed in the South Pacific and has served 16 months on New Caledonia, Guadalcanal and the New Georgia island.

S/Sgt, Thomas Figley, son of Mrs. Myrtle Clutter, 240 Ridgeway ave., visited St. Paul's Cathedral in England and wrote a descriptive article concerning it, which he sent home to be read at a meeting of the Service Mothers club of the Calvary Methodist church.

Sgt. Figley, an inspector in the army air force, has been in England for 18 months. A brother, Sgt. Alfred Figley, has been transferred to Salina, Kas., army air force. Another brother, Seaman (2c) Kenneth Figley, is stationed in the South Pacific.

Pvt. Andrew B. Poole, son of A. M. Poole and brother of Mrs. L. V. Chamberlin, 225 West Eighth st., has been serving in England since September.

Several district servicemen have been assigned from the Ft. Hayes reception center, Columbus, to Camp Stewart, Ga.

They are: Roy E. Horton, 320 East Third st., East Liverpool; Thurman Mosser, 415 Grant st., and Carl K. Riser, Newell; Harry A. Logue, 180 Penn ave., Chester, and Woodrow W. Jones, 405 Midland ave., Midland.

An East Liverpool boy is finding time to continue his singing career since he has entered the navy. He is Apprentice Seaman Robert McFadden, son of Mrs. Rose McFadden, 414 River rd.

Though he has been stationed at the Sampson, N. Y., naval training station for only two weeks, he has appeared on his unit's "Happy Hour" program and has been selected to broadcast over station WSAY, New York, on Sampson's Sunday programs "Blue Jacket Time."

Prior to his induction he was a singer at the Music Bar night club in Pittsburgh. He was employed in the laboratories of the Midland mills of the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel Co.

—Promotions—

Evan Earl Orr, son of Mrs. Wilda Orr, 169 Thompson ave., to petty officer second class in the South Pacific.

Albert J. Dray, husband of Mrs. Mary Dray, 355 Center st., to staff sergeant at Camp Adair, Ore.

Nancy Althar, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Althar, Avondale st., to sergeant somewhere overseas where he has been stationed for 18 months.

Richard Moninger, son of H. J. Moninger, 419 Thompson ave., to first lieutenant in England, where he is a pilot of a Marauder plane.

William E. Vale, husband of Mrs. Delores Vale of Westfield, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Vale of Rogers, to corporal technician in the engineers corps in the Aleutians.

James W. Davis, son of Mrs. Rose Davis, Monroe st., to sergeant at Camp McCain, Miss. He has completed an advanced gunnery course.

John F. Burns, 19, son of B. S. Burns, 97 East Main st., Salineville, to hospital apprentice second class in the hospital corps school at Great Lakes, Ill., naval training station.

—New Assignments—

Pvt. Aivie Wright, husband of Mrs. Doretta Wright, 402 Main st., Wellsville, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wright of Toronto r. d. 2, to the classification office at North Camp Hood, Tex. Pvt. Wright has just recovered from a two week's illness during which he was confined to the hospital there.

Pvt. Homer W. Devitt, husband of Mrs. Alberta Devitt, Church st., Chester, and son of Mrs. Mary Devitt, Indiana ave., Chester, to Camp Claiborne, La.

Pfc. Harold M. Minor, husband of Mrs. Martha Minor, West Seventh st., and son of Mr. and Mrs. John Minor, Commerce st., Wellsville, to England. He has been in the service since August, 1942.

Sgt. Bernice Covert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Covert, Shepherd's Valley, Chester, to Ft. Lewis, Wash. She enlisted in the WACs in January, 1943.

Pfc. J. R. Manson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Manson, Jefferson st., Newell, to Clovis, N. M.

Cpl. Harvey I. Cullen, husband of Mrs. June Cullen, 218 Market st., to England.

Aviation Cadet Joseph W. Jester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jester, Washington st., Newell, to Bainbridge, Ga., for his basic flight training.

Pvt. Roy Mort, son of Mrs. Willa Mort, 313 West Third st., to overseas.

Pfc. George A. Snyder of the marines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Snyder, Campground rd., to the South Pacific. His wife, Mrs. Kay Snyder, who resided with him a year at Oceanside, Calif., has returned to make her home with her sister, Mrs. George Guy, East Third st.

—Furloughs—

Pfc. James Haught of Stewart field, West Point, N. Y., has concluded a three-day furlough with his mother, Mrs. Lucy Haught, Dakota ave.

Seaman (2c) Frank Seevers Jr. is spending a nine-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seevers, 2018 Michigan ave. He is with the Seabees at Camp Peary, Williamsburg, Va.

Pvt. Gerald Matthews of the army air force at Drew field, Tampa, Fla., is spending a 15-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Matthews, Midway ave.

Cpl. Paul Wright of Camp Butner, N. C., has returned to his station after visiting relatives in Salineville.

Pvt. Lloyd Weaver of Camp Blanding, Fla., is visiting Salineville relatives.

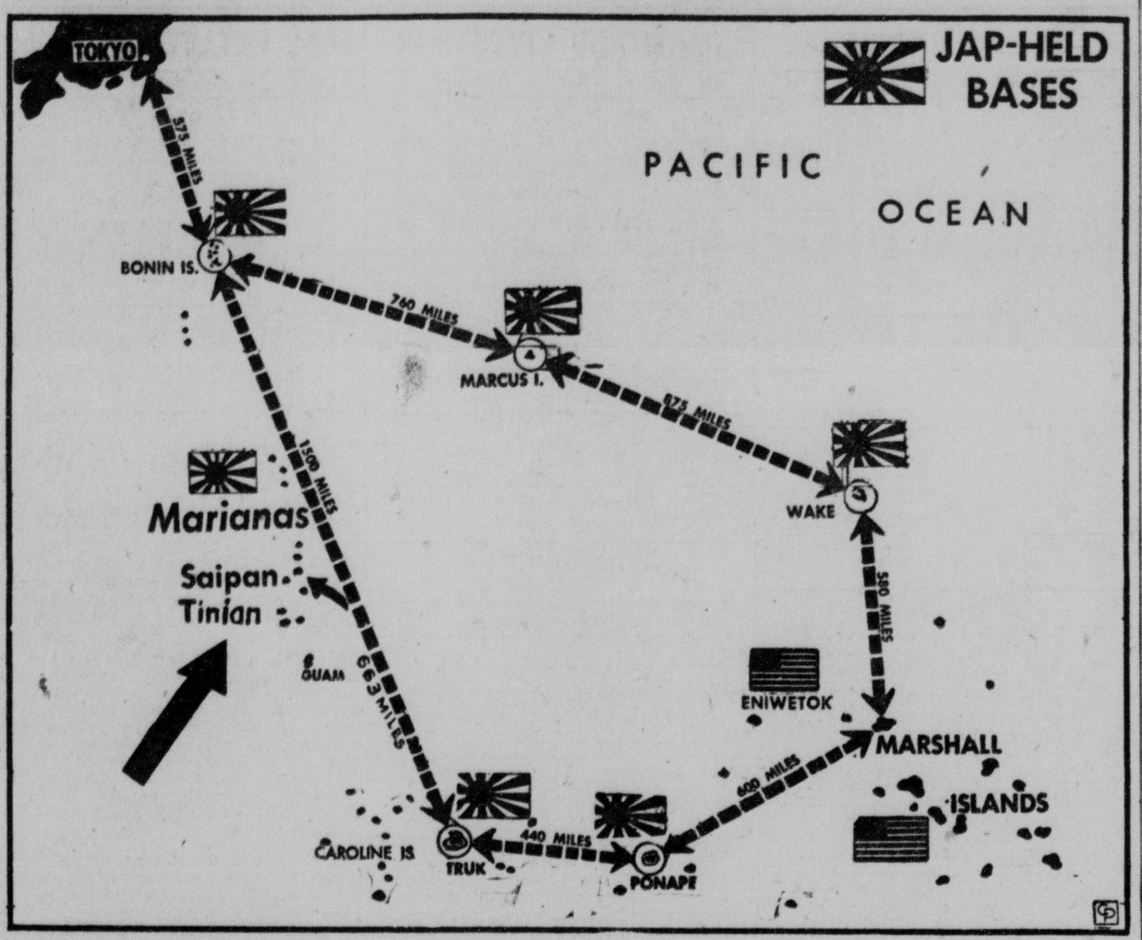
S/Sgt. Hollis Young, who recently returned from the South Pacific war area, is spending a 14-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Young of Salineville.

Ship's Cook (1c) Ray Ketchum has returned to his naval base at Shoemaker, Calif., following a five-day leave spent with his mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bush, and sister Mrs. May Young, Washington ave., Wellsville.

Pvt. Dale McIntosh is spending a 10-day furlough with his mother, Mrs. Laura Martin, Lisbon rd., Wellsville. Pvt. McIntosh has completed his basic training at Keesler field, Biloxi, Miss., and at the conclusion of his furlough will go to the R. O. T. C. center near St. Louis, Mo. Pvt. McIntosh's twin brother, Pvt. Gail McIntosh is stationed at Goodfellow field, San Antonio, Tex.

Pvt. Horace Martin of Jefferson Barracks, Mo., is spending a 10-day furlough with his grandmother, Mrs. Eva Martin, Riverside ave., Wellsville, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Martin of Lisbon. He will report to Salt Lake City, Utah, at the conclusion of his furlough.

Storekeeper (2c) Harry D. Smith has concluded a six-day leave with his wife, Mrs. Eva Auerbach Smith and returned to an eastern base. His friend, Storekeeper (2c) Robert Heller of Pittsburgh, spent the week-end with them. Mrs. Smith's brother, Pfc. George "Tony" Auerbach, a marine and son of Mr. and Mrs. John Auerbach, 1080 Bank st., has arrived in the Marshall islands.



WHERE U. S. PLANES STRUCK JAP BASES IN MARIANAS. This map shows the location of the Marianas, only 1,400 miles southeast of Tokyo, where hundreds of carrier-based bombers from a mighty U. S. task force have struck. The key island of Saipan was the principal target. Also attacked was Tinian.

PROSECUTOR TO ASK DEATH FOR COLLETT

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, O., Feb. 25—Prosecutor John B. Hill said today he will demand the death penalty as James W. Collett goes on trial Monday for the Thanksgiving eve slaying of the wealthy Elmer McCoy family.

Hill would not say definitely whether Collett will be tried on one or all counts in the indictment—the shooting of Elmer McCoy, 54; his wife, Forrest, 60, and their daughter, Mildred, 20.

It seems unlikely submission of evidence will begin before Wednesday or Thursday because of difficulty expected in selecting a jury.

Hasn't Missed A Day

ELLSWORTH, Me.—When her husband joined the maritime service, Mrs. Catherine Ladd took over his laundry delivery route. And since that time 15 months ago Mrs. Ladd hasn't missed a day's delivery. She figures she covers more than 150 miles a day and about 1,000 miles in a week in her laundry truck.

—Around Our Town—

Misfortune In Black Hills--Firemen Deny Allegation--Antiques

MRS. PERRY MOORE of 806 St. John st. probably still is shuddering over her recent experience in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

While visiting her son, Lt. William Martin, of the Rapid City, S. D., army air base, she, her son and two other women started for a side trip to Needles, a neighboring town.

Their car stalled at the top of an ascent. The party tried to flag down several cars but all was in vain.

They were chilled, so they began to walk. After an all-night hike they reached a ranger station where they obtained food and transportation. Upon returning to Rapid City they were told that there were mountain lions "in them thar hills."

Mrs. Moore admitted she was frightened, particularly when she heard about the wild animals.

City firemen, answering a recent alarm, were startled when they were met at the door by an East Liverpool resident brandishing a long sword.

"I thought you were escaped Japs", he apologized.

But when told his house was on fire he soon beat a hasty retreat from the home he thought he was so carefully guarding from the imaginary Nips.

"We have been mistaken for many things," city firemen explained, "but this is the worst yet!"

Some rare municipal antiques came to light recently when City Electrician Raymond Cowles and City Hall Janitor Del Perrin carried out Safety-Service Director Lawrence S. Bloor's order to take an inventory of all the city's possessions.

Clouds of dust, the crash and clang of hammering and the sound of breaking glass were evidence that the city hall's storage room was being given something more than just a pre-seasonal house cleaning.

Brought to light were numerous American flags of all sizes and in all conditions, including several tiny ones apparently used in peacetime Fourth of July, Armistice day or Memorial day celebrations.

The room yielded crates of electric light bulbs, apparently still usable, and many dusty lighting globes, discarded when City hall offices were equipped with modern-type fluorescent rod-lamps.

Boxes of tile and marble, left over from the building's construction days were found at the bottom of the debris — "almost enough," said Mr. Perrin, "to build another City hall."

Quickly put to use was a forgotten supply of chemical cleaning fluid.

Mr. Perrin and Mr. Cowles animated their tedious task by forming grand plans for reconstruction. They now are installing neat rows of shelves, hoping that by that scheme such confusion won't occur again.

They even have set aside a section for storing all the accoutrements of the civilian defense organization, now not so active, but still equipped with white helmets, wardens' whistles, collapsible cots and other objects.

Thus the new administration made progress with its plan to take inventory. And the dust clouds emanating from the storage room adjacent to the rationing board office brought this comment from one spectator: "Didn't somebody once say something about a new broom sweeping clean?"

Ohioan Given Silver Star

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—For sending semaphore messages from an exposed stretch of the beach near the Matanikau river to a destroyer off the shore of Guadalcanal during the first fighting there, Marine Cpl. John J. Smolka of Niles, O., has been awarded the Silver Star medal with a permanent presidential citation, it was announced today.

"I CAN'T think of words to describe the wonderful work the Red Cross is doing," said Pvt. Robert J. Nentwick, son of Mrs. Rebecca Nentwick, 235 West Fourth st., who is relaxing at his home here following two years of duty in the Southwest Pacific.

Noting that the Red Cross will stage a fund-raising campaign beginning next Wednesday, Pvt. Nentwick said enthusiastically:

"The Red Cross is wonderful. They are all over. I sure take my hat off to them."

Pvt. Nentwick was one of the first selectees to leave East Liverpool.

Getting back to the "States" was a thrill for the soldier.

"I could have hugged the ground and kissed the airport when our plane from Australia landed," he said. Not that he didn't like Australia, which he called "pretty nice." But it was "pretty hot" and he missed the snow of his homeland.

Of the Aussies, he said: "They are really rugged fighters—among the best in the world." He remarked it is "wonderful how they are all-out for the war effort and how they did so much with so little."

He commented that it was a bit difficult to get on to the Australians' customs at first, but he observed that the Australians are "getting more Americanized and there are now more jitterbugs 'down under' than there are here."

Pvt. Nentwick met a number of East Liverpool service personnel in Australia. These included Lt. Vera Capper, 141 Thompson ave.; Ernie D'Angelo, 102 Ravine st.; Dave O'Hanlon, 752 Minerva st.; "Moke" Mahoney, Chuck Parsons and Dave Reynolds.

"We received copies of The Review," he said, 'and they sure were welcome. We read every word in them—even the want ads. They sure helped to keep up our morale and keep us in touch with home."

Another morale builder was the series of entertainments by movie stars and "name bands". He said he saw Gary Cooper, Una Merkel, John Wayne, Joe E. Brown and Ray Bolger. The bands included Artie Shaw's and Little Jack Little's.

"We also received a visit from Mrs. Roosevelt," he added.

Pvt. Nentwick had highest praise for the work of 'Cal Courier," the anonymous citizen of East Liverpool who sends a regular letter about the home town and activities of local men in the service to any serviceman who wants to be on his mailing list.

Pvt. Nentwick has spent four months in hospitals but now looks fit. One of his two brothers, Frank Nentwick, is in the army, stationed at Corpus Christi, Tex.

Specialist (1c) Russell M. Jennings, naval recruiter of the Steubenville district, who interviewed applicants in East Liverpool on Wednesdays, has been assigned to the Cleveland recruiting office, where he will be in charge of enlisting WAVES. He will be replaced in Steubenville by Chief Petty Officer G. T. Thixton, assisted by Yeoman (1c) Harmon J. Morse.

Pvt. Carl Givens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Givens, Sub-station, is taking his boot training in the marine corps at San Diego, Calif.

Pvt. Robert Earl Laughlin, son of Mrs. Elsie Laughlin and grandson of Mrs. Alice Guildoo, 134 West Seventh st., is ill at the station hospital at Drew field, Tampa, Fla. His mother has left to visit him.

Three Wellsville brothers have served a total of more than five years in the South Pacific.

They are Sgt. John A. Tolson and Sgt. William T. Tolson, both of marine corps, and Pvt. Orvel M. Tolson Jr. of the engineers. They are the sons of Orvel C. Tolson.

John, who recently received his promotion, has served overseas 21 months and is stationed in the mid-Pacific. Bill has concluded a week's furlough with his wife, Mrs. Cathleen Tolson of Salineville, and his father. Now stationed at Camp Lejeune, New River, N. C., he served 26 months on Samoa. Orvel is stationed in the South Pacific and has served 16 months on New Caledonia, Guadalcanal and the New Georgia island.

S/Sgt, Thomas Figley, son of Mrs. Myrtle Clutter, 240 Ridgeway ave., visited St. Paul's Cathedral in England and wrote a descriptive article concerning it, which he sent home to be read at a meeting of the Service Mothers club of the Calvary Methodist church.

Sgt. Figley, an inspector in the army air force, has been in England for 18 months. A brother, Sgt. Alfred Figley, has been transferred to Salina, Kas., army air force. Another brother, Seaman (2c) Kenneth Figley, is stationed in the South Pacific.

Pvt. Andrew B. Poole, son of A. M. Poole and brother of Mrs. L. V. Chamberlin, 225 West Eighth st., has been serving in England since September.

Several district servicemen have been assigned from the Ft. Hayes reception center, Columbus, to Camp Stewart, Ga.

They are: Roy E. Horton, 320 East Third st., East Liverpool; Thurman Mosser, 415 Grant st., and Carl K. Riser, Newell; Harry A. Logue, 180 Penn ave., Chester, and Woodrow W. Jones, 405 Midland ave., Midland.

An East Liverpool boy is finding time to continue his singing career since he has entered the navy. He is Apprentice Seaman Robert McFadden, son of Mrs. Rose McFadden, 414 River rd.

Though he has been stationed at the Sampson, N. Y., naval training station for only two weeks, he has appeared on his unit's "Happy Hour" program and has been selected to broadcast over station WSAY, New York, on Sampson's Sunday programs "Blue Jacket Time."

Prior to his induction he was a singer at the Music Bar night club in Pittsburgh. He was employed in the laboratories of the Midland mills of the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel Co.

—Promotions—

Pvt. Roy Mort, son of Mrs. Willa Mort, 313 West Third st., to overseas.

Pfc. George A. Snyder of the marines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Snyder, Campground rd., to the South Pacific. His wife, Mrs. Kay Snyder, who resided with him a year at Oceanside, Calif., has returned to make her home with her sister, Mrs. George Guy, East Third st.

—Furloughs—

Pfc. James Haught of Stewart field, West Point, N. Y., has concluded a three-day furlough with his mother, Mrs. Lucy Haught, Dakota ave.

Seaman (2c) Frank Seevers Jr. is spending a nine-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seevers, 2018 Michigan ave. He is with the Seabees at Camp Peary, Williamsburg, Va.

Pvt. Gerald Matthews of the army air force at Drew field, Tampa, Fla., is spending a 15-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Matthews, Midway ave.

Cpl. Paul Wright of Camp Butner, N. C., has returned to his station after visiting relatives in Salineville.

Pvt. Lloyd Weaver of Camp Blanding, Fla., is visiting Salineville relatives.

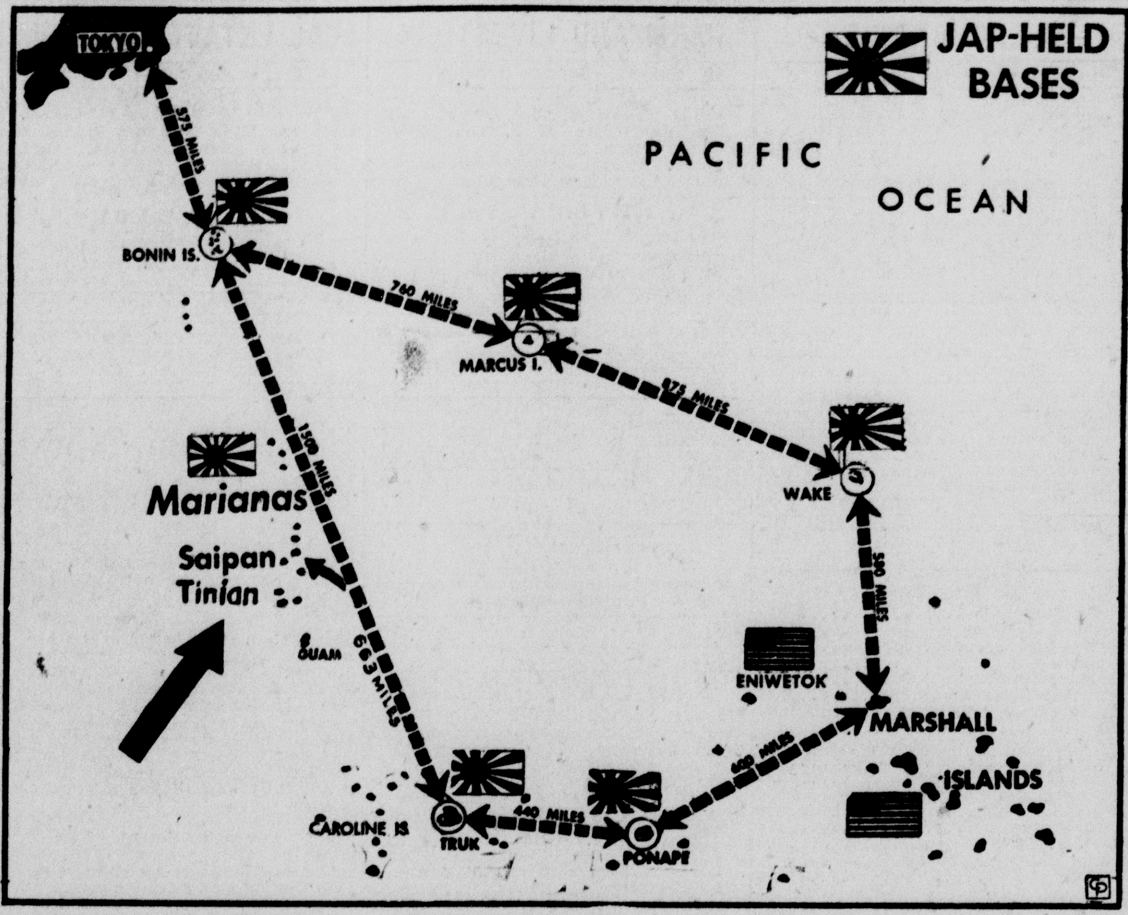
S/Sgt. Hollis Young, who recently returned from the South Pacific war area, is spending a 14-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Young of Salineville.

Ship's Cook (1c) Ray Ketchum has returned to his naval base at Shoemaker, Calif., following a five-day leave spent with his mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bush, and sister Mrs. May Young, Washington ave., Wellsville.

Pvt. Dale McIntosh is spending a 10-day furlough with his mother, Mrs. Laura Martin, Lisbon rd., Wellsville. Pvt. McIntosh has completed his basic training at Keesler field, Biloxi, Miss., and at the conclusion of his furlough will go to the R. O. T. C. center near St. Louis, Mo. Pvt. McIntosh's twin brother, Pvt. Gail McIntosh is stationed at Goodfellow field, San Antonio, Tex.

Pvt. Horace Martin of Jefferson Barracks, Mo., is spending a 10-day furlough with his grandmother, Mrs. Eva Martin, Riverside ave., Wellsville, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Martin of Lisbon. He will report to Salt Lake City, Utah, at the conclusion of his furlough.

Storekeeper (2c) Harry D. Smith has concluded a six-day leave with his wife, Mrs. Eva Auerbach Smith and returned to an eastern base. His friend, Storekeeper (2c) Robert Heller of Pittsburgh, spent the week-end with them. Mrs. Smith's brother, Pfc. George "Tony" Auerbach, a marine and son of Mr. and Mrs. John Auerbach, 1080 Bank st., has arrived in the Marshall islands.



WHERE U. S. PLANES STRUCK JAP BASES IN MARIANAS. This map shows the location of the Marianas, only 1,400 miles southeast of Tokyo, where hundreds of carrier-based bombers from a mighty U. S. task force have struck. The key island of Saipan was the principal target. Also attacked was Tinian.

PROSECUTOR TO ASK DEATH FOR COLLETT

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, O., Feb. 25—Prosecutor John B. Hill said today he will demand the death penalty as James W. Collett goes on trial Monday for the Thanksgiving eve slaying of the wealthy Elmer McCoy family.

Hill would not say definitely whether Collett will be tried on one or all counts in the indictment—the shooting of Elmer McCoy, 54; his wife, Forrest, 60, and their daughter, Mildred, 20.

It seems unlikely submission of evidence will begin before Wednesday or Thursday because of difficulty expected in selecting a jury.

Hasn't Missed A Day

ELLSWORTH, Me.—When her husband joined the maritime service, Mrs. Catherine Ladd took over his laundry delivery route. And since that time 15 months ago Mrs. Ladd hasn't missed a day's delivery. She figures she covers more than 150 miles a day and about 1,000 miles in a week in her laundry truck.

Misfortune In Black Hills--Firemen Deny Allegation--Antiques

MRS. PERRY MOORE of 806 St. John st. probably still is shuddering over her recent experience in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

While visiting her son, Lt. William Martin, of the Rapid City, S. D., army air base, she, her son and two other women started for a side trip to Needles, a neighboring town.

Their car stalled at the top of an ascent. The party tried to flag down several cars but all was in vain.

They were chilled, so they began to walk. After an all-night hike they reached a ranger station where they obtained food and transportation. Upon returning to Rapid City they were told that there were mountain lions "in them thar hills."

Mrs. Moore admitted she was frightened, particularly when she heard about the wild animals.

City firemen, answering a recent alarm, were startled when they were met at the door by an East Liverpool resident brandishing a long sword.

"I thought you were escaped Japs", he apologized.

But when told his house was on fire he soon beat a hasty retreat from the home he thought he was so carefully guarding from the imaginary Nips.

"We have been mistaken for many things," city firemen explained, "but this is the worst yet!"

Some rare municipal antiques came to light recently when City Electrician Raymond Cowles and City Hall Janitor Del Perrin carried out Safety-Service Director Lawrence S. Bloor's order to take an inventory of all the city's possessions.

Clouds of dust, the crash and clang of hammering and the sound of breaking glass were evidence that the city hall's storage room was being given something more than just a pre-seasonal house cleaning.

Brought to light were numerous American flags of all sizes and in all conditions, including several tiny ones apparently used in peacetime Fourth of July, Armistice day or Memorial day celebrations.

The room yielded crates of electric light bulbs, apparently still usable, and many dusty lighting globes, discarded when City hall offices were equipped with modern-type fluorescent rod-lamps.

Boxes of tile and marble, left over from the building's construction days were found at the bottom of the debris — "almost enough," said Mr. Perrin, "to build another City hall."

Quickly put to use was a forgotten supply of chemical cleaning fluid.

Mr. Perrin and Mr. Cowles animated their tedious task by forming grand plans for reconstruction. They now are installing neat rows of shelves, hoping that by that scheme such confusion won't occur again.

They even have set aside a section for storing all the accoutrements of the civilian defense organization, now not so active, but still equipped with white helmets, wardens' whistles, collapsible cots and other objects.

Thus the new administration made progress with its plan to take inventory. And the dust clouds emanating from the storage room adjacent to the rationing board office brought this comment from one spectator: "Didn't somebody once say something about a new broom sweeping clean?"

Ohioan Given Silver Star

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—For sending semaphore messages from an exposed stretch of the beach near the Matanikau river to a destroyer off the shore of Guadalcanal during the first fighting there, Marine Cpl. John J. Smolka of Niles, O., has been awarded the Silver Star medal with a permanent presidential citation, it was announced today.

The Gallup Poll Finds:

MUCH REMAINS TO BE DONE IN PAPER SALVAGE

Newspapers Credited With Good Publicity Job, But Waste Return Lags

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 25 — While newspapers throughout the country have carried word of the present waste paper salvage campaign into a majority of American homes, a tremendous job still remains to be done.

Here are the facts as brought to light in a recent nationwide survey requested by newspaper sponsors of the Institute as part of their contribution to the waste paper salvage drive now being conducted by the American press:

1.—One-quarter of the nation's households—nearly 9,000,000—still are uninformed about the present waste paper salvage campaign.

Only Half Are Saving

2.—Only slightly more than half of all persons questioned in the survey—53 percent—say they are now saving paper regularly for salvage. The remaining 47 percent—the equivalent of about 16,500,000 households—are not saving paper regularly.

3.—Waste paper collectors have visited to date less than half of all American households. Members of about 19,000,000 or 55 percent of the households say that no one has called to pick up waste paper in the present campaign.

As a matter of fact, on the basis of the present survey, members of about 13,500,000 households say they have paper totaling about 300,000 tons in their homes right now for someone to call along and pick up.

Newspapers Praised

Apprised of the results of the poll, Edwin S. Friendly, chairman of the U. S. victory waste paper campaign committee, said:

"The newspapers of the country have done a splendid job so far. They have carried the message of the waste paper campaign to 75 percent of the families in this country. That is a good job. More than half of the families in the country have responded. That is an excellent response so far.

"But the job ahead is a clear one, and a challenging one: We must reach the nine million households not yet aware of the waste paper drive as conducted by the newspapers. We must get 16,500,000 additional families to save their waste paper month by month.

"And, most important, we must make arrangements in some manner to insure that every home in the country will either take its waste paper to depots or see that it is collected regularly. Our job is to salvage 8,000,000 tons of waste paper this year. That is more than half of all the salvable paper estimated to be available in the United States in 1944."

A Quick Glance At The World's News:

From Washington—

Air Raid Aim Clarified

American and British air forces striking relentlessly at Germany's plane production plants are counting heavily upon accumulative effect, the goal being to pile up such damage so continuously the enemy eventually will be unable to make first-line replacements.

That was Acting Secretary of War Patterson's summation Thursday of "the air battle of Germany" which he referred to as still in an early stage.

Asserting the current combined American-British assaults are getting at the heart of Nazi air strength, Patterson said at a press conference:

"In these operations the existing fleet of German fighter planes can get rest neither by day nor by night.

Casualties Reach 157,865

American casualties in the war now total 157,865, of which 36,005 are dead.

Undersecretary of War Patterson reported Thursday U. S. army casualties from Dec. 7, 1941, to Feb. 7, 1944, totaled 118,128, divided as follows:

Killed 19,499; wounded 45,545; missing 26,339; prisoners of war 26,745.

Casualties in the sea services—navy, marines and coast guard—based on reports up to Thursday amounted to 39,737, as follows:

Killed 16,506; wounded 9,322; missing 9,491; prisoners 4,418.

Patterson said of the 45,545 soldiers wounded, 24,289 have returned to duty.

Of the total prisoners, he said, 1,664 have been reported officially by the enemy to have died in prison camps, mostly in Japanese-occupied areas. He commented, "It is known that the actual number must, in sad reality, be much larger."

Group To Air Service Problems

The war department has announced the establishment of a personal affairs division of the army service forces to help military personnel with information and advice on personal and family problems.

The new unit, says the army, is "concerned solely with dispensing information aimed at a solution, through proper channels, of problems petraining to emergency financial aid, allowances, arrears in pay, War Bonds, gratuity pay, insurance, pensions, legal assistance, employment vocational rehabilitation, hospitalization, housing facilities and personal effects."

Around The Nation—

Negress Named Dance Queen

WEST CHESTER, Pa.—A Negress was chosen queen of the West Chester State Teachers college mid-winter formal dance, 90 percent of whose student body is white.

Six white girls who lost the title to her in a student election formed her court at the ball. The queen is Miss Rosalie Terry of Philadelphia.

Down On The Farm

CHICAGO — America's farmers plan to use jeeps, army scout cars, for everything from sawing wood to spraying orchards after the war, Ward M. Canaday, president of Willys-Overland Motors, told the Federated Advertising club Thursday.

Reporting on a recently-completed survey, Canaday said, "Many of the rural citizens" particularly those with small farms—want to use out post-war version of the scout car as a four-purpose replacement for the horse, the tractor, the power unit and the light truck."

Around Ohio—

Water Shortage Relieved

COLUMBUS—General rains this week will have greatly relieved the state's water shortage, weather bureau and farm officials said Thursday.

Meteorologist George W. Mindling said rainfall was general throughout the state, with the southwest portion seemingly getting the largest share.

"The water supply throughout the state should now be generally good," Mindling said, "except for the northeast section in and around the Mahoning valley. However, if there is normal rainfall in the next few weeks there should be no suffering anywhere."

'Death' Parole Revoked

COLUMBUS — Gov. John W. Bricker Thursday revoked an "imminent danger of death" parole and disclosed all other such paroles in the state are to be investigated. It was the first such action in the state's history.

I. C. Hunter of Marietta, convicted in April, 1932, for burglary and given a 1-to-15-year sentence, was released from Ohio penitentiary here in 1939 because he was ill and in danger of death.

Under the law, such a parole is in effect until death or until the parolee recovers, at which time he must be returned to prison.

Emory Glander, the governor's executive secretary, said Hunter has recovered and now has a job. He will be returned to the penitentiary where the state parole board will review his case. If his record since he left the prison is good, Glander said, Hunter may be given a regular parole.

CIO Aid Goes To Army

COLUMBUS — William Lavelle, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio CIO council, reported for army induction at Ft. Benjamin Harrison Thursday and George Denucci, secretary-treasurer of the Columbus council, succeeded him temporarily, State Council President Jack Kroll announced.

Kroll said the council's executive board will name a permanent successor, probably in March.

Lavelle was elected to the secretary-treasurer post during the council's annual convention here last November, succeeding Ted Silvey, who had held the office since 1938.

He is 34, married and the father of two children.

26 Indicted In Gambling

TOLEDO — The Lucas county grand jury Thursday indicted 26 persons, including operators of several alleged gambling clubs, on charges of conspiracy to break Ohio's anti-gambling laws by keeping gambling rooms and exhibiting gambling devices.

The indictments are an outgrowth of the death, by suicide here Jan. 6 of George D. Wilcox, Detroit advertising executive, who left behind him sensational charges of gambling irregularities and who declared he had lost thousands of dollars in the Webster Inn and Club Devon.

Leasure Seeks State Post

COLUMBUS—Charles S. Leasure of Zanesville, first director of the bureau of unemployment compensation, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for attorney general.

Leasure served two terms as prosecuting attorney of Muskingum county and was executive secretary to Martin L. Davey during his governorship. He is a graduate of Ohio State university.

Plane Firm To Expand

ALLIANCE — The Taylorcraft Aviation Corp. has announced it will increase its present floor space by 74,000 square feet in a move to facilitate and centralize handling of an increased volume of business during 1944.

Principal construction project will be erection of a new wing to the main factory building and a double hangar.

From Abroad—

Double Summer Time Set

LONDON—Britain will go on double summer time beginning April 2 and continue until Aug. 13, Herbert S. Morrison, minister of home security, informed the house of commons Thursday.

This will put London's clocks six hours ahead of eastern war time. The current time difference is five hours.

British Destroyer Lost

LONDON—Loss of the British destroyer Hardy was announced Thursday. The admiralty gave no details.

The Gallup Poll Finds:

MUCH REMAINS TO BE DONE IN PAPER SALVAGE

Newspapers Credited With Good Publicity Job, But Waste Return Lags

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 25 — While newspapers throughout the country have carried word of the present waste paper salvage campaign into a majority of American homes, a tremendous job still remains to be done.

Here are the facts as brought to light in a recent nationwide survey requested by newspaper sponsors of the Institute as part of their contribution to the waste paper salvage drive now being conducted by the American press:

1.—One-quarter of the nation's households—nearly 9,000,000—still are uninformed about the present waste paper salvage campaign.

Only Half Are Saving

2.—Only slightly more than half of all persons questioned in the survey—53 percent—say they are now saving paper regularly for salvage. The remaining 47 percent—the equivalent of about 16,500,000 households—are not saving paper regularly.

3.—Waste paper collectors have visited to date less than half of all American households. Members of about 19,000,000 or 55 percent of the households say that no one has called to pick up waste paper in the present campaign.

As a matter of fact, on the basis of the present survey, members of about 13,500,000 households say they have paper totaling about 300,000 tons in their homes right now for someone to call along and pick up.

Newspapers Praised

Apprised of the results of the poll, Edwin S. Friendly, chairman of the U. S. victory waste paper campaign committee, said:

"The newspapers of the country have done a splendid job so far. They have carried the message of the waste paper campaign to 75 percent of the families in this country. That is a good job. More than half of the families in the country have responded. That is an excellent response so far.

"But the job ahead is a clear one, and a challenging one: We must reach the nine million households not yet aware of the waste paper drive as conducted by the newspapers. We must get 16,500,000 additional families to save their waste paper month by month.

"And, most important, we must make arrangements in some manner to insure that every home in the country will either take its waste paper to depots or see that it is collected regularly. Our job is to salvage 8,000,000 tons of waste paper this year. That is more than half of all the salvable paper estimated to be available in the United States in 1944."

A Quick Glance At The World's News:

From Washington—

Air Raid Aim Clarified

American and British air forces striking relentlessly at Germany's plane production plants are counting heavily upon accumulative effect, the goal being to pile up such damage so continuously the enemy eventually will be unable to make first-line replacements.

That was Acting Secretary of War Patterson's summation Thursday of "the air battle of Germany" which he referred to as still in an early stage.

Asserting the current combined American-British assaults are getting at the heart of Nazi air strength, Patterson said at a press conference:

"In these operations the existing fleet of German fighter planes can get rest neither by day nor by night.

Casualties Reach 157,865

American casualties in the war now total 157,865, of which 36,005 are dead.

Undersecretary of War Patterson reported Thursday U. S. army casualties from Dec. 7, 1941, to Feb. 7, 1944, totaled 118,128, divided as follows:

Killed 19,499; wounded 45,545; missing 26,339; prisoners of war 26,745.

Casualties in the sea services—navy, marines and coast guard—based on reports up to Thursday amounted to 39,737, as follows:

Killed 16,506; wounded 9,322; missing 9,491; prisoners 4,418.

Patterson said of the 45,545 soldiers wounded, 24,289 have returned to duty.

Of the total prisoners, he said, 1,664 have been reported officially by the enemy to have died in prison camps, mostly in Japanese-occupied areas. He commented, "It is known that the actual number must, in sad reality, be much larger."

Group To Air Service Problems

The war department has announced the establishment of a personal affairs division of the army service forces to help military personnel with information and advice on personal and family problems.

The new unit, says the army, is "concerned solely with dispensing information aimed at a solution, through proper channels, of problems petraining to emergency financial aid, allowances, arrears in pay, War Bonds, gratuity pay, insurance, pensions, legal assistance, employment vocational rehabilitation, hospitalization, housing facilities and personal effects."

Around The Nation—

Negress Named Dance Queen

WEST CHESTER, Pa.—A Negress was chosen queen of the West Chester State Teachers college mid-winter formal dance, 90 percent of whose student body is white.

Six white girls who lost the title to her in a student election formed her court at the ball. The queen is Miss Rosalie Terry of Philadelphia.

Down On The Farm

CHICAGO — America's farmers plan to use jeeps, army scout cars, for everything from sawing wood to spraying orchards after the war, Ward M. Canaday, president of Willys-Overland Motors, told the Federated Advertising club Thursday.

Reporting on a recently-completed survey, Canaday said, "Many of the rural citizens" particularly those with small farms—want to use out post-war version of the scout car as a four-purpose replacement for the horse, the tractor, the power unit and the light truck."

Around Ohio—

Water Shortage Relieved

COLUMBUS—General rains this week will have greatly relieved the state's water shortage, weather bureau and farm officials said Thursday.

Meteorologist George W. Mindling said rainfall was general throughout the state, with the southwest portion seemingly getting the largest share.

"The water supply throughout the state should now be generally good," Mindling said, "except for the northeast section in and around the Mahoning valley. However, if there is normal rainfall in the next few weeks there should be no suffering anywhere."

EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW

Sporting Angle

By BOB SHAFFER

LT. HOWARD "Lindy" Lindell, U.S.N.R., has arrived in the British Isles, according to word received here by his father, Harry S. Lindell, 221 West Fourth st.

The naval officer, former Potter cage mentor and basketball and football official, had been stationed in Idaho for more than a year.

"Lindy" came through East Liverpool enroute to the east coast a month ago, but at the time it was not known he was bound for the Eureopan theater of operations.

Mr. Lindell said there was no details accompanying the message of his son's arrival in the Isles.

Stars in the service: . . .

Bill Brown, who played a lot of halfback for the Bengals of Wellsville High the last two season's and who captained the 1943 eleven, is stationed at Great Lakes naval training station. The former Orange and Black gridder left last week to begin his boot training.

It was a feast and famine of baskets in a pair of scholastic contests played recently in Illinois and Indiana.

At Scottville, Ill., the preps of that community went on a basket-dunking spree to roll up 110 points as the befuddled Rockbridge players were handcuffed with 18.

Meantime, over at Crown Point, Ind., a new "basement" mark was recorded. Crown Point's hoopsters managed to tally one field goal four minutes after the opening tip-off and then "froze" the ball without attempting to do any more scoring. Hobart, using a zone defense, did practically nothing. The game end, no fooling, 2-0, for Crown Point.

22-Year-Old Miss Steers Cagers To Good Record

By The Associated Press.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., Feb. 25 "Ok coach, all dressed:"—Comes a boy's voice.

Miss Dorothy Douglas marches into the dressing room. "Now, men," she begins her pep talk to the Hoosick Falls High school basketball squad.

The team, coached by this 22-year-old girl, has won nine of 11 games. She also is head coach of football and baseball.

Miss Douglas took over during the football season, after a plea from students, who had lost two male coaches to the armed forces.

CHUCK KLEIN SAYS HE WILL HIT ALL HURLERS

By The Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25 — Charles Herbert Klein shed his clothes, his dignity and several pounds today in a determined—not to say violent — attempt to prove that he's still rugged enough, at 39, to knock the hide off anything a National league pitcher can throw.

The hard-hitting Hoosier is so serious about his comeback as a player that he made the acquaintance of a rowing machine, lifted a flock of weights, pedalled an imaginary half-mile on an elevated bicycle and even submitted to incarceration in a steam cabinet.

General Manager Herb Pennock commented:

"If he's in as good shape as he looks, he's really going to see a lot of action."

War Tames Bad Boys

ST. LOUIS—Juvenile delinquency as a whole declined in St. Louis during 1943, Chief Probation Officer Frank X. Reller announces. Delinquency among girls increased. Reller attributed this to a relaxation of control of girls in homes where both parents were working, whereas many young men have entered the armed forces and industry.

6 CAGE SQUADS END SEASON IN GAMES TONIGHT

Wellsville, Newell, Lisbon, East Palestine, Salem And Columbiana Bow Out

Wellsville, Newell, Lisbon, East Palestine, Salem and Columbiana cage squads conclude their regular season schedules tonight, leaving the district stage to East Liverpool and Chester, who ring down the curtain Saturday.

The Bengals, whipped by Lisbon on the Blue Devils' floor earlier in the season in a close tilt, bring their slates to a close when they clash in the Beacom Memorial gym, with the outcome looming as a tossup.

At Chester, Coach Max Tuttle's Purple and Gold tossers will entertain a highly-regarded Wellsburg quintet. The Tuttlemen, their victory string broken at seven by Warwood, will be on the rebound and are rated the edge over the Brooke countians.

A torrid battle is forecast for the Wells High floor at Newell when Coach John Robinson sends his Big Green against the invading Beaver High cagers in a return joust. Newell shaded the Pennsylvanians, 35-34, at Beaver early in January.

Columbiana's Clippers, unbeaten in Tri-County league competition and boasting the best record in the district with 15 wins and two losses, are expected to wrap up the loop championship tonight at East Palestine when they tangle with the Bulldogs. In a non-league game earlier in the season, the Clippers walloped tonight's foe, 53-36, at Columbiana.

Salem's Quakers play their finale against Sebring on the Salem floor.

District Cage Calendar

Tonight

East Liverpool at Toronto.
Lisbon at Wellsville.
Wellsburg at Chester.
Beaver at Newell.
Columbiana at East Palestine.
Sebring at Salem.
Finals in Class "B" tournament at Lisbon.

Saturday

Alliance at East Liverpool.
Weirton at Chester.

Sport Chatter

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 25—Besides turning out a basketball team that hasn't lost to a college rival this season, Western Michigan college is one institution that makes college baseball pay its own way. Since this dept. has become involved in a discussion of why so few colleges can do that, we put it up to drum beater Homer Dunham.

Mr. Fullerton

Not all the answers.

Dunham, who prefers to talk about the value of a sound all-around athletic program rathen than of his achievements as a publicist, maintains that a good schedule and sound coaching will do the trick. Back in 1928, Western Michigan too on Chicago and Notre Dame, its first major rivals; five years later Wisconsin spoiled a perfect record against all major rivals and for the past 10 years Western Michigan has made a .634 average against Big Ten colleges. The boys like to play that kind of opposition, the college provides plenty of good coaches and as a result the varsity had a turnout of about 60 candidates each pre-war season and about 100 kids tried for the freshman team. The Kalamazoo fans took to it because the college provided better baseball than the City Industrial league and scheduled its mid-week games when the factory workers were just coming off duty.

One man's opinion.

"Any college can do the same thing if the athletic heads are willing to work," Dunham argues, "if the teams are constantly poor, it means that the coach is lazy."

More of the same.

Athletic Director Frank Thomas of Alabama, another good baseball college, has much the same idea. Says Thomas: "The trouble with college baseball in the past has been that colleges didn't want to spend money on baseball. After the war I am planning to send the baseball team on a tour of the middle west and east, playing representative schools."

Service dept.

Lt. Johnny Siegal of Columbia and the Bears, Sid Luckman's pet pass receiver, likely will be one of Swede Hagberg's assistant coaches at navy next fall. The Cherry Point, N. C., marine air station entered a strong team in the recent Carolinas A. A. U. Golden Gloves boxing tournament but came out with only one title—the hard luck championship. Pvt. Frankie Rich won that when he started from his dressing room to the ring, slipped on the stairway and knocked himself out. Cadet Artie Dorrell, who was a better-than-fair fighter hereabouts before the army took most of the able-bodied nose mashers, is getting his flight training in class 44-F. What a difference the number can make.

Fairfield Upsets New Waterford In 'B' Tourney

Faces Salineville's Cagers Tonight For Title

Special To The Review.

LISBON, Feb. 25 — Upsetting their rivals after bowing twice to them during the regular season, Fairfield township's dribblers, triumphant over the New Waterford High cagers, 43-38, in the opening game of the Columbiana County Class "B" tournament here Thursday night, clashes with Salineville High for the crown tonight on the David Anderson floor.

The Indians, who also scalped the proteges of Coach Art Frank twice in pre-tournament games, drew a bye to the finals and will rule slight favorites tonight despite the upset chalked up by the Fairfielders. The winner goes to the district tournament at McDonald next week.

New Waterford's reserves, however, came through with a 26-to-19 victory over Salineville's jayvees, 26-19, and will face Fairfield's second stringers for the reserve title.

Cope and Blosser were the main sparks in the Fairfield win in the varsity tilt, the former bagging nine fielders and a foul toss for 19 points to nail scoring laurels, while the latter looped four two pointers and four fouls for 12 markers.

DePerro with 16 points and Bob Unger with 10 led the New Waterford squad.

McSpaden, Nelson, Harbert Picked In New Orleans

By The Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 25 — The dopesters leaned to Harold "Jug" McSpaden, Bryon Nelson and Pvt. Melvin "Chick" Harbert today as 43 professionals and 38 amateurs began play in the first round of the $5,000 New Orleans Open golf tournament.

Harbert crowded into the tight little circle of favorites yesterday in the pro-amateur tourney, a tune-up for the big test. He shot a four-under-par 68 to lead the professionals.

Harbert, 23 pounds lighter since joining the army, is on leave from the air forces training command at Lincoln, Neb.

Said Nelson today:

"In the past five major contests Jug has averaged 68.9 strokes per round, and I've averaged 69. He's a hard lad to catch and his performance over the winter circuit is one of the best ever."

Nelson said that during those five tourneys McSpaden banged the ball 1,309 times while he used a total of 1,312 strokes.

McSpaden carded a 70 yesterday to tie with Jimmy Hines for second best individual score. Nelson was one over par with a 73 but said his game was "just about what I expected."

Other standouts entered in the 72-hole medal play open today are Harry Cooper, Sammy Byrd, Craig Wood, Ed Dudley and Tony Penna.

All tourney prizes are to be war bonds.

BRICKS, BLAKELEYS TO MEET IN FINALS

The Bricks will clash with Blakeleys next Monday night at the "Y". for the championship of the Y. M. C. A.-Member Basketball league following victories posted Thursday night over rivals in the "A" and "B" divisions play offs.

Gordon Brick, captain of the Bricks, paced his mates to the "A" title, caging 11 fielders and four fouls for 26 points in their 48-to-36 victory over Steffins. Amos was top scorer for the Steffins with 10 points.

Wilsons, playing with only four men, dropped a 38-to-27 game to the Blakeleys, but Bill Morgan, Wilsons forward, went on a scoring spree to rack up 11 field goals and take game scoring honors with 22 points. Frank Blakeley with 15 points and Salsberry with 11 were the big guns for the "B" champions.

OSU FIVE FACES DEPAUL TONIGHT

Blue Demons' Chances Rest On Mikan's Bad Ankle

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 25 — With a little poet license it could be said that Depaul's chances to represent the fourth collegiate district in the NCAA eastern playoffs next month in New York depends tonight on the swollen right ankle of big George Mikan, 6 ft. 9 in. Blue Demon center.

Injured in the Western Kentucky game last week, Mikan insists he'll start against the towering Ohio State Buckeyes tonight at Chicago stadium but Coach Ray Meyer, who has led the Demons to 17 victories in 20 games, is none too hopeful that his scoring ace can go the distance.

Depaul On Spot

Even with Mikan in top form Depaul probably would be in for a tough evening, for the Bucks are just about the class of the Big Ten. Last week they cinched at least a share of the conference title by winding up their league campaign with 10 wins and two defeats.

And unlike most of Depaul's opponents they won't be handicapped by the Blue Demons' height, having a giant pivot man of their own in 6 ft. 8 in. Arnold Risen, who poured in 174 points in conference competition. In addition they have a pair of tall, high-scoring forwards — Don Grate and Jack Dugger—who registered 172 and 126 points, respectively, in Big Ten games, and Guard Bob Bowen, who clicked for 125.

Cats Face Illinois

Meeting in the opener of the stadium double bill, Northwestern and Illinois will battle to determine whether the Wildcats continue in the running for a slice of the Big Ten title. With two defeats in eight games the Cats must win their remaining four contests or fall by the wayside.

Skipper Southworth Jubilant Over Martin's Return To Club

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 25—The old pepper box of the Gas House Gang is going back to the parks where he stole bases, hit, scrapped and won games for the St. Louis Cardinals for 11 years—and is Manager Billy Southworth glad!

"I surely am happy to have him back," Southworth exulted at his farm near Sunbury when he heard Pepper Martin would be back with the Cards this season.

"He is a dandy fellow. And he still can do things like throwing and running. He still has his old-time sparkle and speed. I think he will help the Cards at lot."

What if Pepper will be 40 years old next week?

"A lot of guys are going to be fooled if they think 'Pep' is creaking around on tired, doddering legs," Southworth said.

"Why, just last season 'Pep' was the fastest man on the Rochester (International league) club. He proved it in a race one day at Portsmouth."

Martin managed Rochester, a Cardinal farm, the past four seasons.

Southworth indicated he expected Pepper to be most useful as a pinch-hitter, especially against lefthanders.

At Oklahoma City, Martin said he might not be quite as fast as in the days when he was stealing all bases in sight, but he still could beat a lot of fast men in a 50-yard—or even 60-yard dash.

"I can play at least 80 games this year—and that's a conservative estimate. I think I could go 100. But Billy Southworth's a great manager and whatever he says goes.

"I'll tell you one thing. I think I'll do as good as some of the 4F'ers they got up there."

Slight Choice To Top Gem City Passers In Return Fray At 8:30

Horton And Gauron May Replace Barrett And Patterson In Ceramists' Lineup; Undefeated Reserves Will Be Favored To Notch 17th In 7:30 Prelim

PROBABLE LINEUPS

East Liverpool	Pos.	Toronto
Brown	F.	Shevelow
Skidmore	F.	Gritton
Barrett or Horton	C.	Stocks
Patterson or Gauron	G.	Kelly
Springer	G.	Grizzell or Zamborsky

The Potter hoopsters, with a possibility of two new faces appearing in the starting lineup, tangle with a tarter tonight at Toronto when they meet the dangerous Red Knights in a return engagement The tipoff for the varsity fray is scheduled for 8:30.

Preceding the main attraction, the undefeated Little Potters will be highly favored to run their chain of victories to 17 at the expense of the Toronto reserves, walloped here, 57-21, last month.

The Blue and White varsity, however, is conceded only a slight edge over the Gem City five, although Coach Bill Laughlin's passers trimmed the Knights, 48-33, on the local court in their first meeting.

Lost Grizzell, Stocks

In that battle the Knights lost Guard Carl Grizzell in the first quarter on fouls and husky Junior "Sid" Stocks, center, in the third canto. Before the latter was banished the game was closely-contested, but from that point the Potters had easy sailing.

A veteran outfit, the Knights are tough on their spacious floor, having lost only two games there this season, one to Ferry's Purple Riders and the other to the Steubenville Big Reds. Their record to date is 14 wins against six defeats.

Coach R. P. "Sid" Herdman indicated he will use George Shevelow and Dick Gritton at forwards, Stocks at center and Jack Kelly and Pete Zamborsky or Grizzell at the guards. Besides Stocks, Shevelow, Kelly and Zamborsky give the Knights an edge in height over the Blue and White.

Potters Seek 13th Win

Seeking their 13th victory in 17 starts, the Potters take the floor tonight with new faces in two positions.

Coach Laughlin hadn't fully decided to make the changes, but intimated he may shuffle the lineup and send Wick Horton to Joe Barrett's center slot and Johnny Gauron to Bill Patterson's guard post. Both Horton and Gauron have perked up the last few games and in the Steubenville Central tilt displayed form that may give them the nod tonight. Gauron was a regular last season, while Horton saw little service and this season started a few times at the pivot.

The other three positions will be occupied by the "standbys". Bob Brown and Bob Skidmore will be seen at their forwards and Jay Springer at his guard.

FAMOUS JOE TINKER ASSERTS BASEBALL NOW IS PERFECTED

By WAYNE OLIVER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 25—Joe Tinker, 63-year-old diamond veteran whose exploits as a member of the famous Tinker-Evers-Chance double play combination thrilled fans four decades ago, thinks the game of baseball has been perfected to the point that it will require no major changes for years to come.

"They can't cnange baseball," the gray-haired former star said today as he relaxed at his Lakeside home where he is convalescing from influenza and complications.

"If they lengthened or cut down on the 90 feet between bases it would ruin the game," he observed.

"If the pitcher's box were moved back the pitcher would be throwing the ball all over the place, and if it were moved closer to the plate it would cut down on the hitting—and that's what the fans like."

Tinker, who was at his peak with the Chicago Cubs from 1902-12, is not apprehensive over the possibility that football, despite the growing popularity of the professional game, will ever displace baseball as the national pastime.

"The word baseball has become synonymous with good clean sport," he explained, "and a large share of the credit must go to Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis—he saved baseball."

The center of gravity of the human body is to the right.

Sporting Angle

By BOB SHAFFER

LT. HOWARD "Lindy" Lindell, U.S.N.R., has arrived in the British Isles, according to word received here by his father, Harry S. Lindell, 221 West Fourth st.

The naval officer, former Potter cage mentor and basketball and football official, had been stationed in Idaho for more than a year.

"Lindy" came through East Liverpool enroute to the east coast a month ago, but at the time it was not known he was bound for the Eureopan theater of operations.

Mr. Lindell said there was no details accompanying the message of his son's arrival in the Isles.

Stars in the service: . . .

Bill Brown, who played a lot of halfback for the Bengals of Wellsville High the last two season's and who captained the 1943 eleven, is stationed at Great Lakes naval training station. The former Orange and Black gridder left last week to begin his boot training.

It was a feast and famine of baskets in a pair of scholastic contests played recently in Illinois and Indiana.

At Scottville, Ill., the preps of that community went on a basket-dunking spree to roll up 110 points as the befuddled Rockbridge players were handcuffed with 18.

Meantime, over at Crown Point, Ind., a new "basement" mark was recorded. Crown Point's hoopsters managed to tally one field goal four minutes after the opening tipoff and then "froze" the ball without attempting to do any more scoring. Hobart, using a zone defense, did practically nothing. The game end, no fooling, 2-0, for Crown Point.

22-Year-Old Miss Steers Cagers To Good Record

By The Associated Press.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., Feb. 25 "Ok coach, all dressed:"—Comes a boy's voice.

Miss Dorothy Douglas marches into the dressing room. "Now, men," she begins her pep talk to the Hoosick Falls High school basketball squad.

The team, coached by this 22-year-old girl, has won nine of 11 games. She also is head coach of football and baseball.

Miss Douglas took over during the football season, after a plea from students, who had lost two male coaches to the armed forces.

CHUCK KLEIN SAYS HE WILL HIT ALL HURLERS

By The Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25 — Charles Herbert Klein shed his clothes, his dignity and several pounds today in a determined—not to say violent — attempt to prove that he's still rugged enough, at 39, to knock the hide off anything a National league pitcher can throw.

The hard-hitting Hoosier is so serious about his comeback as a player that he made the acquaintance of a rowing machine, lifted a flock of weights, pedalled an imaginary half-mile on an elevated bicycle and even submitted to incarceration in a steam cabinet.

General Manager Herb Pennock commented:

"If he's in as good shape as he looks, he's really going to see a lot of action."

War Tames Bad Boys

ST. LOUIS—Juvenile delinquency as a whole declined in St. Louis during 1943, Chief Probation Officer Frank X. Reller announces. Delinquency among girls increased. Reller attributed this to a relaxation of control of girls in homes where both parents were working, whereas many young men have entered the armed forces and industry.

6 CAGE SQUADS END SEASON IN GAMES TONIGHT

Wellsville, Newell, Lisbon, East Palestine, Salem And Columbiana Bow Out

Wellsville, Newell, Lisbon, East Palestine, Salem and Columbiana cage squads conclude their regular season schedules tonight, leaving the district stage to East Liverpool and Chester, who ring down the curtain Saturday.

The Bengals, whipped by Lisbon on the Blue Devils' floor earlier in the season in a close tilt, bring their slates to a close when they clash in the Beacom Memorial gym, with the outcome looming as a tossup.

At Chester, Coach Max Tuttle's Purple and Gold tossers will entertain a highly-regarded Wellsburg quintet. The Tuttlemen, their victory string broken at seven by Warwood, will be on the rebound and are rated the edge over the Brooke countians.

A torrrid battle is forecast for the Wells High floor at Newell when Coach John Robinson sends his Big Green against the invading Beaver High cagers in a return joust. Newell shaded the Pennsylvanians, 35-34, at Beaver early in January.

Columbiana's Clippers, unbeaten in Tri-County league competition and boasting the best record in the district with 15 wins and two losses, are expected to wrap up the loop championship tonight at East Palestine when they tangle with the Bulldogs. In a non-league game earlier in the season, the Clippers walloped tonight's foe, 53-36, at Columbiana.

Salem's Quakers play their finale against Sebring on the Salem floor.

Sport Chatter

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 25—Besides turning out a basketball team that hasn't lost to a college rival this season, Western Michigan college is one institution that makes college baseball pay its own way. Since this dept. has become involved in a discussion of why so few colleges can do that, we put it up to drum beater Homer Dunham.

Mr. Fullerton

Not all the answers.

Dunham, who prefers to talk about the value of a sound all-around athletic program rathen than of his achievements as a publicist, maintains that a good schedule and sound coaching will do the trick. Back in 1928, Western Michigan too on Chicago and Notre Dame, its first major rivals; five years later Wisconsin spoiled a perfect record against all major rivals and for the past 10 years Western Michigan has made a .634 average against Big Ten colleges. The boys like to play that kind of opposition, the college provides plenty of good coaches and as a result the varsity had a turnout of about 60 candidates each pre-war season and about 100 kids tried for the freshman team. The Kalamazoo fans took to it because the college provided better baseball than the City Industrial league and scheduled its mid-week games when the factory workers were just coming off duty.

One man's opinion.

"Any college can do the same thing if the athletic heads are willing to work," Dunham argues, "if the teams are constantly poor, it means that the coach is lazy."

More of the same.

Athletic Director Frank Thomas of Alabama, another good baseball college, has much the same idea. Says Thomas: "The trouble with college baseball in the past has been that colleges didn't want to spend money on baseball. After the war I am planning to send the baseball team on a tour of the middle west and east, playing representative schools."

Service dept.

Lt. Johnny Siegal of Columbia and the Bears, Sid Luckman's pet pass receiver, likely will be one of Swede Hagberg's assistant coaches at navy next fall. The Cherry Point, N. C., marine air station entered a strong team in the recent Carolinas A. A. U. Golden Gloves boxing tournament but came out with only one title—the hard luck championship. Pvt. Frankie Rich won that when he started from his dressing room to the ring, slipped on the stairway and knocked himself out. Cadet Artie Dorrell, who was a better-than-fair fighter hereabouts before the army took most of the able-bodied nose mashers, is getting his flight training in class 44-F. What a difference the number can make.

Fairfield Upsets New Waterford In 'B' Tourney

Faces Salineville's Cagers Tonight For Title

LISBON, Feb. 25 — Upsetting their rivals after bowing twice to them during the regular season, Fairfield township's dribblers, triumphant over the New Waterford High cagers, 43-38, in the opening game of the Columbiana County Class "B" tournament here Thursday night, clashes with Salineville High for the crown tonight on the David Anderson floor.

The Indians, who also scalped the proteges of Coach Art Frank twice in pre-tournament games, drew a bye to the finals and will rule slight favorites tonight despite the upset chalked up by the Fairfielders. The winner goes to the district tournament at McDonald next week.

New Waterford's reserves, however, came through with a 26-to-19 victory over Salineville's jayvees, 26-19, and will face Fairfield's second stringers for the reserve title.

Cope and Blosser were the main sparks in the Fairfield win in the varsity tilt, the former bagging nine fielders and a foul toss for 19 points to nail scoring laurels, while the latter looped four two pointers and four fouls for 12 markers.

DePerro with 16 points and Bob Unger with 10 led the New Waterford squad.

Tied at 11-all at the end of the first period, the Fairfield quintet took a 26-to-17 lead at the half and at the close of the third quarter was on top by 33-28.

Slight Choice To Top Gem City Passers In Return Fray At 8:30

Horton And Gauron May Replace Barrett And Patterson In Ceramists' Lineup; Undefeated Reserves Will Be Favored To Notch 17th In 7:30 Prelim

PROBABLE LINEUPS

East Liverpool	Pos.	Toronto
Brown	F.	Shevelow
Skidmore	F.	Gritton
Barrett or Horton	C.	Stocks
Patterson or Gauron	G.	Kelly
Springer	G.	Grizzell or Zamborsky

The Potter hoopsters, with a possibility of two new faces appearing in the starting lineup, tangle with a tarter tonight at Toronto when they meet the dangerous Red Knights in a return engagement The tipoff for the varsity fray is scheduled for 8:30.

Preceding the main attraction, the undefeated Little Potters will be highly favored to run their chain of victories to 17 at the expense of the Toronto reserves, walloped here, 57-21, last month.

The Blue and White varsity, however, is conceded only a slight edge over the Gem City five, although Coach Bill Laughlin's passers trimmed the Knights, 48-33, on the local court in their first meeting.

Lost Grizzell, Stocks

In that battle the Knights lost Guard Carl Grizzell in the first quarter on fouls and husky Junior "Sid" Stocks, center, in the third canto. Before the latter was banished the game was closely-contested, but from that point the Potters had easy sailing.

A veteran outfit, the Knights are tough on their spacious floor, having lost only two games there this season, one to Ferry's Purple Riders and the other to the Steubenville Big Reds. Their record to date is 14 wins against six defeats.

Coach R. P. "Sid" Herdman indicated he will use George Shevelow and Dick Gritton at forwards, Stocks at center and Jack Kelly and Pete Zamborsky or Grizzell at the guards. Besides Stocks, Shevelow, Kelly and Zamborsky give the Knights an edge in height over the Blue and White.

Potters Seek 13th Win

Seeking their 13th victory in 17 starts, the Potters take the floor tonight with new faces in two positions.

Coach Laughlin hadn't fully decided to make the changes, but intimated he may shuffle the lineup and send Wick Horton to Joe Barrett's center slot and Johnny Gauron to Bill Patterson's guard post. Both Horton and Gauron have perked up the last few games and in the Steubenville Central tilt displayed form that may give them the nod tonight. Gauron was a regular last season, while Horton saw little service and this season started a few times at the pivot.

The other three positions will be occupied by the "standbys". Bob Brown and Bob Skidmore will be seen at their forwards and Jay Springer at his guard.

FAMOUS JOE TINKER ASSERTS BASEBALL NOW IS PERFECTED

By WAYNE OLIVER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 25—Joe Tinker, 63-year-old diamond veteran whose exploits as a member of the famous Tinker-Evers-Chance double play combination thrilled fans four decades ago, thinks the game of baseball has been perfected to the point that it will require no major changes for years to come.

"They can't change baseball," the gray-haired former star said today as he relaxed at his Lakeside home where he is convalescing from influenza and complications.

"If they lengthened or cut down on the 90 feet between bases it would ruin the game," he observed.

"If the pitcher's box were moved back the pitcher would be throwing the ball all over the place, and if it were moved closer to the plate it would cut down on the hitting—and that's what the fans like."

Tinker, who was at his peak with the Chicago Cubs from 1902-12, is not apprehensive over the possibility that football, despite the growing popularity of the professional game, will ever displace baseball as the national pastime.

"The word baseball has become synonymous with good clean sport," he explained, "and a large share of the credit must go to Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis—he saved baseball."

The center of gravity of the human body is to the right.

IRONDALE FIVE MEETS YORKVILLE IN TOURNEY

Special To The Review.

STEUBENVILLE, Feb. 25—Irondale High faces its severest test of the basketball season here tonight when Coach C. P. Henderson sends his charges against Yorkville, state Class B kings, in the semi-finals of the Jefferson county.

In the other semi-final tilt, Wintersville clashes with Bergholz.

Finals will be staged Saturday night, with the consolation championship battle also slated.

Skipper Southworth Jubilant Over Martin's Return To Club

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 25—The old pepper box of the Gas House Gang is going back to the parks where he stole bases, hit, scrapped and won games for the St. Louis Cardinals for 11 years—and is Manager Billy Southworth glad!

"I surely am happy to have him back," Southworth exulted at his farm near Sunbury when he heard Pepper Martin would be back with the Cards this season.

"He is a dandy fellow. And he still can do things like throwing and running. He still has his old-time sparkle and speed. I think he will help the Cards at lot."

What if Pepper will be 40 years old next week?

"A lot of guys are going to be fooled if they think 'Pep' is creaking around on tired, doddering legs," Southworth said.

"Why, just last season 'Pep' was the fastest man on the Rochester (International league) club. He proved it in a race one day at Portsmouth."

Martin managed Rochester, a Cardinal farm, the past four seasons.

Southworth indicated he expected Pepper to be most useful as a pinch-hitter, especially against lefthanders.

At Oklahoma City, Martin said he might not be quite as fast as in the days when he was stealing all bases in sight, but he still could beat a lot of fast men in a 50-yard —or even 60-yard dash.

"I can play at least 80 games this year—and that's a conservative estimate. I think I could go 100. But Billy Southworth's a great manager and whatever he says goes.

"I'll tell you one thing. I think I'll do as good as some of the 4F'ers they got up there."

OHIO VETO VOTES FOLLOW PARTIES

Rep. Bolton Lone Republican To Back Roosevelt Stand

Special To The Review.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—With one exception, Ohio's delegation split along strict party lines Thursday in the the overwhelming house vote to over-ride the President's tax veto.

Voting to sustain the President were the three Democrats in the delegation:

Michael J. Kirwan of Youngstown and Robert Crosser and Michael A. Feighan of Cleveland.

Voting to over-ride the veto were all but one of the state's Republican members, as follows:

George H. Bender, Cleveland; Charles H. Elston and William E. Hess, Cincinnati; Harry P. Jeffrey, Dayton; Robert F. Jones, Lima; Cliff Clevenger, Bryan; Clarence J. Brown, Blanchester; Frederick C. Smith, Marion; Homer A. Ramey, Toledo; Thomas A. Jenkins, Ironton; Edward A. McCowen, Wheelersburg; Walter E. Brehm, Logan; John M. Vorys, Columbus; Alvin F. Weichel, Sandusky; Ed Rowe, Akron; P. W. Griffiths, Marietta; Henderson H. Carson, Canton; J. Harry McGregor, West Lafayette; Earl R. Lewis, St. Clairsville.

The single Republican exception was Mrs. Frances P. Bolton (R) of Cleveland, who voted with the Democrats to sustain the veto.

Bolton Explains Stand

This was a surprise vote, as Mrs. Bolton voted originally for passage of the tax bill.

Mrs. Bolton asserted "the thing to remember is that we are at war. I am sure the veto was called for."

"It was not easy for me to sustain the President," the charming gray-haired Clevelander declared.

"No one knows as well as the President, however, that we are a long way from winning the war, that immense sums of money are going to be required and that as much as possible must be paid now."

Mrs. Bolton, who is the first congresswoman ever elected in the Buckeye state, said she was "shocked" at the method used by Mr. Roosevelt in an attempt to gain a new bill but "I have accepted and overlooked his manner of doing it and I cannot believe it was as serious an attack on the structure of government as other members of congress felt it to be.

"No one felt that this tax bill was a good bill," she added.

Other Opinions Cited

Rep. Kirwan agreed with his feminine colleague that the President had acted in the interest of the country in seeking to prohibit the tax bill from becoming a law.

Rep. Jennings attributed the presidential veto to "political motives" and "the President lost," he added jubilantly.

Bender, congressman-at-large, said he was "in full accord" with the attitude of Sen. Alben W. Barkley, who resigned as majority floor leader, then was reelected.

Bender predicted the Republicans will benefit greatly from the Democratic furore.

Admiration for "Barkley's courage" was expressed by Rep. Vorys, but it is a sad commentary that independent action by a Democratic senator makes news," he said.

Rep. Brehm said Barkley's action indicated congress wanted to recapture its prerogatives.

He said congress must decide whether it will "allow the President to run the government."

Tips On How To Keep Well

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Doctor finds usual meals adequate in vitamins.

I HAVE just concluded a dietetic experiment, undertaken for a group of students of nutrition, and since in some ways the results were surprising to me I venture to lay them before you.

One day I faithfully made a list of every morsel I had to eat. After breakfast I wrote down the items and their weight. Same with lunch and dinner—l'apres midi d'un dietician. I want to emphasize that I made no plans for what I should eat. I ate what was put before me or, in the case of lunch, what I chose.

No foreordained plan was made for a balanced diet, or the inclusion of what vitamins or minerals or other protective food. It was as nearly as possible the same average kind of food I have on other days left to custom, appetite and chance.

Listed Balanced Diet

Then I made a list of the food elements that are agreed upon as constituting a balanced diet, and the daily requirements by weight considered necessary by the best authorities.

Here they are:

The basic foods — Protein — 50 to 100 grams. Carbohydrate and Fat —— enough with protein to make up 1500 to 2500 calories.

Minerals—Salt (5 grams). Calcium (.45 gram). Phosphorus (.96 gram). Sulphur (1 gram). Iron (.006 gram). Magnesium, iodine, etc.—traces.

Vitamins—A (1500 units); B consisting of thiamine (1 to 2 milligrams) and riboflavin (.002 gram; C (.06 gram); D (for adults 3 units); nicotinic (.01 mg.); E, H, K, requirements not determined.

Results Surprising

Some of the results surprised me. Especially the total calorie and protein intake. I had supposed I was eating about 2500 calories. I had believed the government estimated allowances of 1500 calories a day for a sedentary bloke like me and 3000 for a worker were too low. But my calorie intake for that day which completely satisfied my appetite and made me comfortable was about 1500 calories.

I have always supposed I ate at least 150 grams of protein a day, and have been very scornful of strict nutritionists who say 50 to 70 grams are enough. I recognize that a man can live on 50 grams of protein a day, but did not think that was a desirable maximum.

Intake 73 Grams

My own intake amounted to only 73 grams. And I guess I do not eat much more other days.

The other calculations did not surprise me so much, but may be a surprise to others who are artificially stuffing themselves with vitamins, iron, etc. My iron requirement is 6 milligrams a day. I took in twenty times that amount! I got twice my iron requirement in my egg at breakfast.

I got a little more calcium than I needed. My phosphorus intake was close to the minimum requirement. I was lower in that than anything.

As to vitamins, I am flooded with them. I took in 2890 of A, and I only need 1500; enough B thiamine and riboflavin; three times as much C as requirements demand, and sunshine will give me plenty of D.

And again I emphasize I did not plan the meals to get a large vitamin or mineral content. They just came naturally in the food that was set before me.

While Barkley Spoke, His Secretary Typed Talk

By The United Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—It is tough working under pressure to get out the mail for the 6 o'clock train but that's nothing compared with typing a speech of resignation while it is being given on the senate floor.

That was the job that faced red-haired Loraine Winfrey when her boss, Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, resigned as majority leader.

She had only seven pages of his 16-page speech transcribed when he began speaking.

"I never worked under pressure like that in my life," Loraine laughed today.

"I feel like I can do anything now. I was shaking like a leaf. But Sen. McKellar (who acted as pageboy for Barkley) kept calling for the speech, and I had to get it out as fast as I could—and sent it over to the floor a page at a time."

Wednesday was quite a day in the office of the senate Democratic leader, Miss Winfrey said.

"Sen. Barkley came in about 10 o'clock and said he wanted me to take a speech. He was going so fast I just looked up but didn't say anything when he said he was resigning."

COAST GUARDS GIVEN SEA DOG FOR MASCOT

By The United Press.

BOSTON — A dog that was born at sea and never has stepped on dry land is the mascot of the coast guard cutter Commache.

The dog's name is Grondal. Born aboard the U. S. Army freighter Nevada, he and 29 crew members were rescued when that vessel sank in a North Atlantic gale in December.

So grateful were those rescued, that they presented Grondal to the crew of the Commache, the rescue ship.

Old-Fashioned Lamb Stew — Low Point Favorite

Can you make a good stew? It's an accomplishment to be proud of—and one you really need these days, for stews take little meat and make wonderful meals!

Here's a particularly good recipe . . . developed in Armour kitchens by home economists who know your problems and know all about cooking meats.

To prepare this stew for four people, get 1½ lbs. of Star Lamb shoulder or breast meat cut into 1½ inch pieces. (By asking for Armour's Star Lamb you get the tender, mild, young lamb that promises the finest flavor.) Flour the lamb lightly and place in heavy stew kettle or deep frying pan with 2 tbsps. Star Lard or meat drippings. Brown lightly. Add 3 cups water, 1 onion, 1 sliver of garlic if desired, 2½ tsps. salt, ⅛ tsp. pepper. Cover and simmer 1½ hours. Add 4 small whole potatoes, 4 small sliced carrots, ½ cup cubed turnip and cook until vegetables are tender. If desired, gravy may be thickened by stirring in 1 tbsp. flour, mixed with 3 to 4 tbsps. cold water.

Mrs. Bolton asserted "the thing to remember is that we are at war. I am sure the veto was called for."

"It was not easy for me to sustain the President," the charming gray-haired Clevelander declared.

"No one knows as well as the President, however, that we are a long way from winning the war, that immense sums of money are going to be required and that as much as possible must be paid now."

Mrs. Bolton, who is the first congresswoman ever elected in the Buckeye state, said she was "shocked" at the method used by Mr. Roosevelt in an attempt to gain a new bill but "I have accepted and overlooked his manner of doing it and I cannot believe it was as serious an attack on the structure of government as other members of congress felt it to be.

"No one felt that this tax bill was a good bill," she added.

Other Opinions Cited

Rep. Kirwan agreed with his feminine colleague that the President had acted in the interest of the country in seeking to prohibit the tax bill from becoming a law.

Rep. Jennings attributed the presidential veto to "political motives" and "the President lost," he added jubilantly.

Bender, congressman-at-large, said he was "in full accord" with the attitude of Sen. Alben W. Barkley, who resigned as majority floor leader, then was reelected.

Bender predicted the Republicans will benefit greatly from the Democratic furore.

Admiration for "Barkley's courage" was expressed by Rep. Vorys, but it is a sad commentary that independent action by a Democratic senator makes news," he said.

Rep. Brehm said Barkley's action indicated congress wanted to recapture its prerogatives.

He said congress must decide whether it will "allow the President to run the government."

While Barkley Spoke, His Secretary Typed Talk

By The United Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—It is tough working under pressure to get out the mail for the 6 o'clock train but that's nothing compared with typing a speech of resignation while it is being given on the senate floor.

That was the job that faced red-haired Loraine Winfrey when her boss, Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, resigned as majority leader.

She had only seven pages of his 16-page speech transcribed when he began speaking.

"I never worked under pressure like that in my life," Loraine laughed today.

"I feel like I can do anything now. I was shaking like a leaf. But Sen. McKellar (who acted as pageboy for Barkley) kept calling for the speech, and I had to get it out as fast as I could—and sent it over to the floor a page at a time."

Wednesday was quite a day in the office of the senate Democratic leader, Miss Winfrey said.

"Sen. Barkley came in about 10 o'clock and said he wanted me to take a speech. He was going so fast I just looked up but didn't say anything when he said he was resigning."

COAST GUARDS GIVEN SEA DOG FOR MASCOT

By The United Press.

BOSTON — A dog that was born at sea and never has stepped on dry land is the mascot of the coast guard cutter Commache.

The dog's name is Grondal. Born aboard the U. S. Army freighter Nevada, he and 29 crew members were rescued when that vessel sank in a North Atlantic gale in December.

So grateful were those rescued, that they presented Grondal to the crew of the Commache, the rescue ship.

Tips On How To Keep Well

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Doctor finds usual meals adequate in vitamins.

I HAVE just concluded a dietetic experiment, undertaken for a group of students of nutrition, and since in some ways the results were surprising to me I venture to lay them before you.

One day I faithfully made a list of every morsel I had to eat. After breakfast I wrote down the items and their weight. Same with lunch and dinner—l'apres midi d'un dietician. I want to emphasize that I made no plans for what I should eat. I ate what was put before me or, in the case of lunch, what I chose.

No foreordained plan was made for a balanced diet, or the inclusion of what vitamins or minerals or other protective food. It was as nearly as possible the same average kind of food I have on other days left to custom, appetite and chance.

Listed Balanced Diet

Then I made a list of the food elements that are agreed upon as constituting a balanced diet, and the daily requirements by weight considered necessary by the best authorities.

Here they are:

The basic foods — Protein — 50 to 100 grams. Carbohydrate and Fat —— enough with protein to make up 1500 to 2500 calories.

Minerals—Salt (5 grams). Calcium (.45 gram). Phosphorus (.96 gram). Sulphur (1 gram). Iron (.006 gram). Magnesium, iodine, etc.—traces.

Vitamins—A (1500 units); B consisting of thiamine (1 to 2 milligrams) and riboflavin (.002 gram; C (.06 gram); D (for adults 3 units); nicotinic (.01 mg.); E, H, K, requirements not determined.

Results Surprising

Some of the results surprised me. Especially the total calorie and protein intake. I had supposed I was eating about 2500 calories. I had believed the government estimated allowances of 1500 calories a day for a sedentary bloke like me and 3000 for a worker were too low. But my calorie intake for that day which completely satisfied my appetite and made me comfortable was about 1500 calories.

I have always supposed I ate at least 150 grams of protein a day, and have been very scornful of strict nutritionists who say 50 to 70 grams are enough. I recognize that a man can live on 50 grams of protein a day, but did not think that was a desirable maximum.

Intake 73 Grams

My own intake amounted to only 73 grams. And I guess I do not eat much more other days.

The other calculations did not surprise me so much, but may be a surprise to others who are artificially stuffing themselves with vitamins, iron, etc. My iron requirement is 6 milligrams a day. I took in twenty times that amount! I got twice my iron requirement in my egg at breakfast.

I got a little more calcium than I needed. My phosphorus intake was close to the minimum requirement. I was lower in that than anything.

As to vitamins, I am flooded with them. I took in 2890 of A, and I only need 1500; enough B thiamine and riboflavin; three times as much C as requirements demand, and sunshine will give me plenty of D.

And again I emphasize I did not plan the meals to get a large vitamin or mineral content. They just came naturally in the food that was set before me.

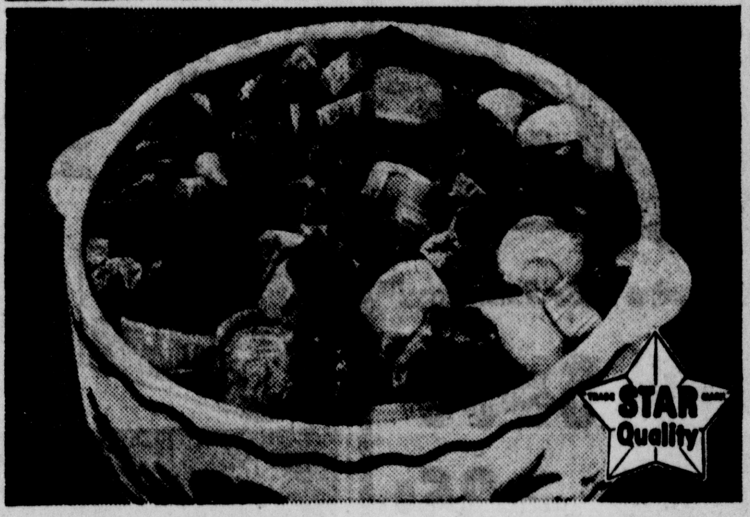
Armour Ideas Make the Most of Meat



Old-Fashioned Lamb Stew — Low Point Favorite

Can you make a good stew? It's an accomplishment to be proud of—and one you really need these days, for stews take little meat and make wonderful meals!

Here's a particularly good recipe . . . developed in Armour kitchens by home economists who know your problems and know all about cooking meats.

To prepare this stew for four people, get 1½ lbs. of Star Lamb shoulder or breast meat cut into 1½ inch pieces. (By asking for Armour's Star Lamb you get the tender, mild, young lamb that promises the finest flavor.) Flour the lamb lightly and place in heavy stew kettle or deep frying pan with 2 tbsps. Star Lard or meat drippings. Brown lightly. Add 3 cups water, 1 onion, 1 sliver of garlic if desired, 2½ tsps. salt, ⅛ tsp. pepper. Cover and simmer 1½ hours. Add 4 small whole potatoes, 4 small sliced carrots, ½ cup cubed turnip and cook until vegetables are tender. If desired, gravy may be thickened by stirring in 1 tbsp. flour, mixed with 3 to 4 tbsps. cold water.

OREGON SCRAPS CARS AT RATE OF 60 DAILY

By The United Press.

SALEM, Ore.—Sixty Oregon automobiles go to the scrap heap every day, Flod Cook, executive secretary of the highway department's traffic advisory committee, revealed.

"Approximately 4,160 cars are junked daily across the nation," Cook said. "And about 21,000 Oregon cars are scrapped every year. Junking has continued at this rate for the past two years, but the rate will increase as repairs and replacements become scarcer.

"Possibly 75,000 Oregon cars will have disappeared from the highways within the next three years. And should the war end about that time, those cars won't be replaced immediately, for it would be about six months before manufacturers could retool for automobiles."

'Met' Star Finds Bing Booms And Really Is Not A Crooner

By JOHN SELBY
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK—By pure accident, the world now learns that Bing Crosby isn't a crooner, after all. It is Rise Stevens, the operatic mezzo-soprano, who makes this startling statement, and Miss Stevens is appearing shortly opposite Bing in a picture called "Going My Way".

In addition to singing quite a lot of operatic and similar music, Miss Stevens does a duet with Bing in the picture and while watching the celebrated horseman she made her discovery.

"If Bing isn't a crooner, then what is he?" we asked Miss Stevens.

"He's a baritone. Rather a high baritone, if he'd been trained according to the usual system," After briefly scratching her golden brown hair, she added judicially, "and a good baritone, too."

The legend that dogs all crooners is that they have microscopic voices and without a mike are unable to fill anything bigger than a good-sized bathroom.

"No," said Miss Stevens, "Bing really doesn't need a mike. He has plenty of voice. I think he could fill the Metropolitan without any amplification."

RISE STEVENS
. . . Going Bing's way . . .

She knows Bing doesn't croon, because he sings a tone just as she does—not with a closed, or practically closed mouth—but with tonsils showing.

Hollywood Chatter

By Robbin Coons

The 'Most Uncooperative Actor'

HOLLYWOOD—Each year George Sanders ranks high in the Hollywood Women's Press club poll to select the most uncooperative actor.

Some news columnists who know him consider him one of the most charming actors in the film capital. Most, however, classify him as the town's prize clam.

"You'll understand my position," Sanders explained, "if you recall some of those movie magazine stories called 'Why My Marriage Broke Up' or 'I Was the Victim of Love.'

"When interviewed for publication I feel the same way a knife-thrower's assistant feels when he takes his place on the target knowing that the star of the act has taken on one too many at the nearest bar.

"Instead of having to watch those knives coming at him, I face such questions as 'Do you think ordinary girls have the deepest passion?' or 'Would you marry a girl who eats crackers in bed?' It takes some neat dodging to come out with a whole skin and your temper intact."

Like many other Hollywood stars Sanders believes his private life is his own, but he makes that conviction stick more thoroughly than almost anyone else. Only his intimate friends—and they refuse to tell—know much about his private activities.

Leonide Moguy, who directed Sanders in "Action in Arabia" at RKO Radio, offered an explanation.

"George doesn't dodge interviews because he doesn't like to talk but because he likes only to talk to people he likes."

If you can swing the conversation around to the subject that interests him he becomes a talkative man.

He talks best when he is discussing the educational system, aerodynamics, boats and astronomy. Designing and building boat models was his hobby until a shortage of materials forced him to seek a new diversion. He found it in astronomy.

One day during filming of "Action in Arabia" he showed up on the set with a picture of the moon he had made through the telescope he has mounted on the roof of his home.

"I could probably buy a better picture for a quarter," he said, "but then I would have missed the thrill of having made it myself."

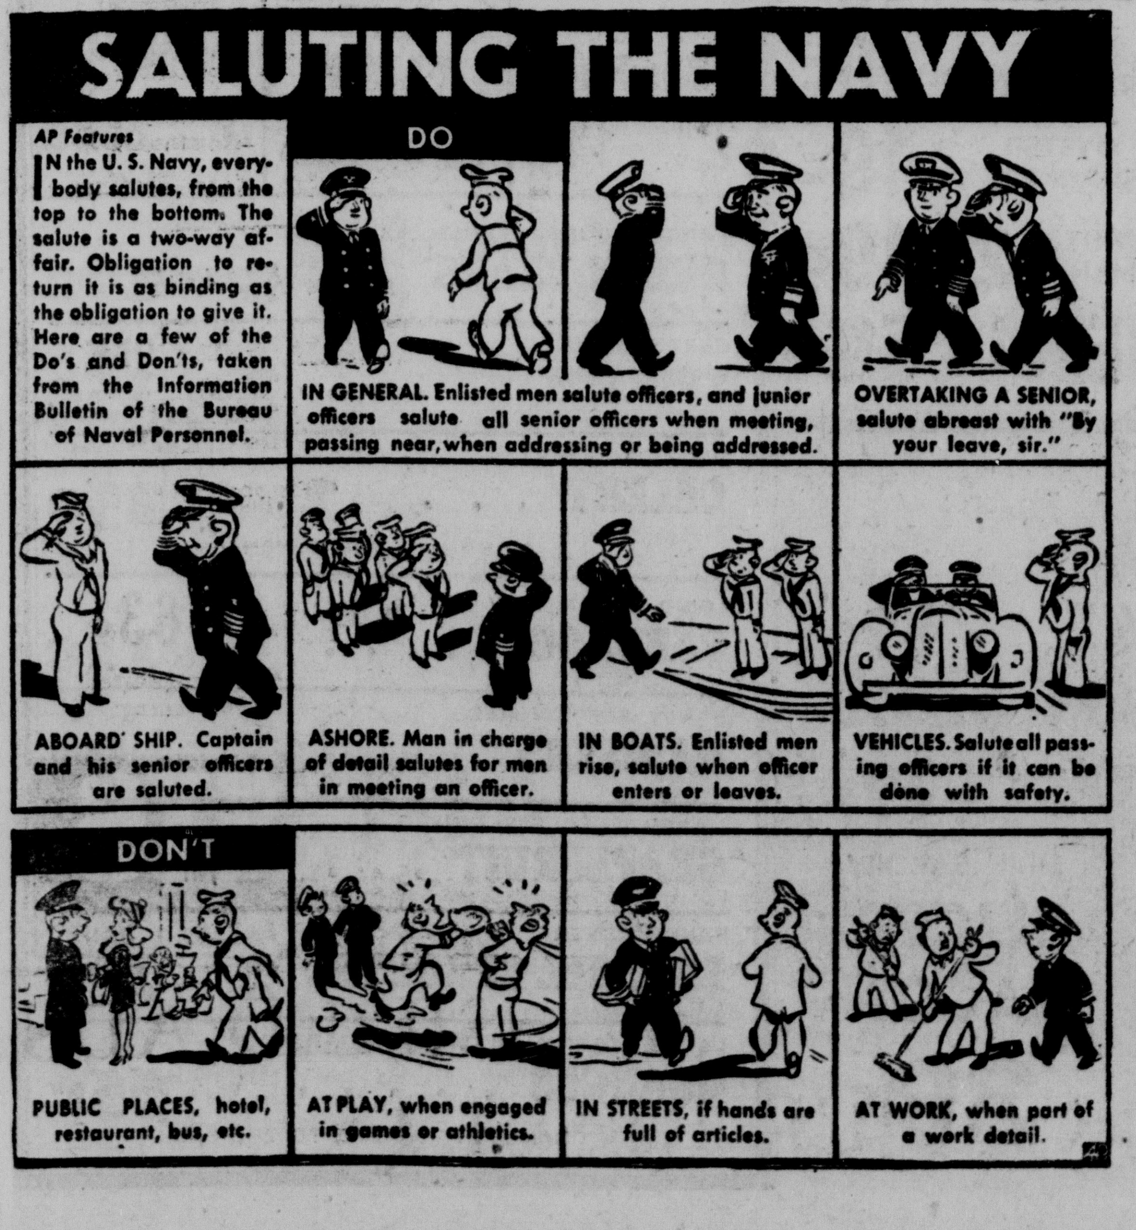
SALUTING THE NAVY



AP Features

IN the U. S. Navy, everybody salutes, from the top to the bottom. The salute is a two-way affair. Obligation to return it is as binding as the obligation to give it. Here are a few of the Do's and Don'ts, taken from the Information Bulletin of the Bureau of Naval Personnel.

DO

IN GENERAL. Enlisted men salute officers, and junior officers salute all senior officers when meeting, passing near, when addressing or being addressed.

OVERTAKING A SENIOR, salute abreast with "By your leave, sir."

ABOARD SHIP. Captain and his senior officers are saluted.

ASHORE. Man in charge of detail salutes for men in meeting an officer.

IN BOATS. Enlisted men rise, salute when officer enters or leaves.

VEHICLES. Salute all passing officers if it can be done with safety.

DON'T

PUBLIC PLACES, hotel, restaurant, bus, etc.

AT PLAY, when engaged in games or athletics.

IN STREETS, if hands are full of articles.

AT WORK, when part of a work detail.

FUEL OIL—

Coupons 3, 4 and 5 now good. No. 3 expires March 13, Nos. 4 and 5 Sept. 30. Each has value of 10 gallons. Change-making and reserve coupons good throughout heating year.

STOVES—

Certificates to purchase most heating or cooking stoves that burn coal, wood, oil or gas must be obtained from local rationing board.

LIQUOR, OTHER SPIRITUOUS DRINKS—

Ohio—Eighth period expires Tuesday for a ration of a fifth or a quart or two pints of whisky or brandy, with bonus of imported gin, rum or cordial. (In addition, through Tuesday a bonus will be given of an extra three bottles of rum—even to those who already have received their eighth period ration.)

West Virginia—Stamps 13 and 14 now good—each for a pint of whisky, or both together for a "fifth" of whisky and a "fifth" of wine, or both for four-fifths of a gallon of wine. Coupons 41 and 42 are good through Tuesday for four fifths of wine, coupons 39 and 40 for a four fifths of rum and coupon 37 for two bottles of gin or liqueurs through Tuesday.

Among New Books

By John Selby

Glamor, Drama In Dutch Country

"DRAGONWYCK," by Anya Seton.

IT WOULD be interesting to know how much of Anya Seton's "Dragonwyck" is based on history, and how much is the product of her own imagination. She has obviously done considerable research, and history has a way of supplying almost any character or situation needed by an author. Miss Seton, who is Ernest Thompson Seton's daughter, has assembled quite an assortment.

"Dragonwyck" is another version of the Cinderella story, but tricked up with a villain out of the Middle Ages. It is set in the Dutch country above Hudson, N. Y., and from this district Miss Seton has extricated the last possible drop of glamor.

Its story begins in 1844, a century in the past, and runs with agility through five or six years in which are included murders, births, mysterious tower rooms, sturdy Connecticut farmers, the tight society of the Dutch in America, steamboat races and dozens of things besides.

Boiled down, the story is this: Miranda is the daughter of stern and rockbound Connecticut farmers who live near Greenwich, where by chance Miss Seton also lives.

Through a remote connection of her mother's, Miranda is brought into the sinister atmosphere of Dragonwyck as a kind of companion to the daughter of the manor. The daughter is stupid, her mother is enormously fat and gluttonous, and the father, who is responsible for the whole thing, is a ferociously handsome chap whose egotism is equalled only by his determined use of power. Needless to say, Miranda is beautiful—but beautiful.

Nicholas Van Ryn is obsessed with his desire for a son, and attracted by Miranda as well. It ought to be possible for the reader to go on from here, and it is, if he will remember that all bars are down. He may use the grumbling Van Ryn tenants, as well as a very male and medically expert young doctor of the village.

Miss Seton is no Bronte, but she is a good enough story teller to make me believe in all this—almost.

STOREHOUSES TO USE AIR-PRESSURE ROOFS

By The United Press.

NEW YORK — An "air-pressure roof," without framework or supports, has been found practicable to build for use as a storehouse, Prof. Joseph A. Wise, of the New York University college of engineering, has announced.

Invented by Herbert H. Stevens, Jr., a consulting engineer, the roof, made of thin, flatsheet steel soldered to a steel ring base, was inflated with air from a pressure pump, during tests, to form a dome-shaped building.

The war production board gave the college of engineering a contract to investigate the possibilities of the roof and Wise reported that it was "considered feasible to erect an experimental building, 300 feet in diameter. . . . In one test 600 pounds of lead were placed on a 40-inch model and the roof withstood the weight with no mishap."

Tests indicate it could be constructed quicker and cheaper than a regular steel and wood warehouse, Wise said.

'Met' Star Finds Bing Booms And Really Is Not A Crooner

By JOHN SELBY
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK—By pure accident, the world now learns that Bing Crosby isn't a crooner, after all. It is Rise Stevens, the operatic mezzo-soprano, who makes this startling statement, and Miss Stevens is appearing shortly opposite Bing in a picture called "Going My Way".

In addition to singing quite a lot of operatic and similar music, Miss Stevens does a duet with Bing in the picture and while watching the celebrated horseman she made her discovery.

"If Bing isn't a crooner, then what is he?" we asked Miss Stevens.

"He's a baritone. Rather a high baritone, if he'd been trained according to the usual system," After briefly scratching her golden brown hair, she added judicially, "and a good baritone, too."

The legend that dogs all crooners is that they have microscopic voices and without a mike are unable to fill anything bigger than a good-sized bathroom.

"No," said Miss Stevens, "Bing really doesn't need a mike. He has plenty of voice. I think he could fill the Metropolitan without any amplification."

RISE STEVENS
. . . Going Bing's way . . .

She knows Bing doesn't croon, because he sings a tone just as she does—not with a closed, or practically closed mouth—but with tonsils showing.

Hollywood Chatter

By Robbin Coons

The 'Most Uncooperative Actor'

HOLLYWOOD—Each year George Sanders ranks high in the Hollywood Women's Press club poll to select the most uncooperative actor.

Some news columnists who know him consider him one of the most charming actors in the film capital. Most, however, classify him as the town's prize clam.

"You'll understand my position," Sanders explained, "if you recall some of those movie magazine stories called 'Why My Marriage Broke Up' or 'I Was the Victim of Love.'

"When interviewed for publication I feel the same way a knife-thrower's assistant feels when he takes his place on the target knowing that the star of the act has taken on one too many at the nearest bar.

"Instead of having to watch those knives coming at him, I face such questions as 'Do you think ordinary girls have the deepest passion?' or 'Would you marry a girl who eats crackers in bed?' It takes some neat dodging to come out with a whole skin and your temper intact."

Like many other Hollywood stars Sanders believes his private life is his own, but he makes that conviction stick more thoroughly than almost anyone else. Only his intimate friends—and they refuse to tell—know much about his private activities.

Leonide Moguy, who directed Sanders in "Action in Arabia" at RKO Radio, offered an explanation.

"George doesn't dodge interviews because he doesn't like to talk but because he likes only to talk to people he likes."

If you can swing the conversation around to the subject that interests him he becomes a talkative man.

He talks best when he is discussing the educational system, aerodynamics, boats and astronomy. Designing and building boat models was his hobby until a shortage of materials forced him to seek a new diversion. He found it in astronomy.

One day during filming of "Action in Arabia" he showed up on the set with a picture of the moon he had made through the telescope he has mounted on the roof of his home.

"I could probably buy a better picture for a quarter," he said, "but then I would have missed the thrill of having made it myself."

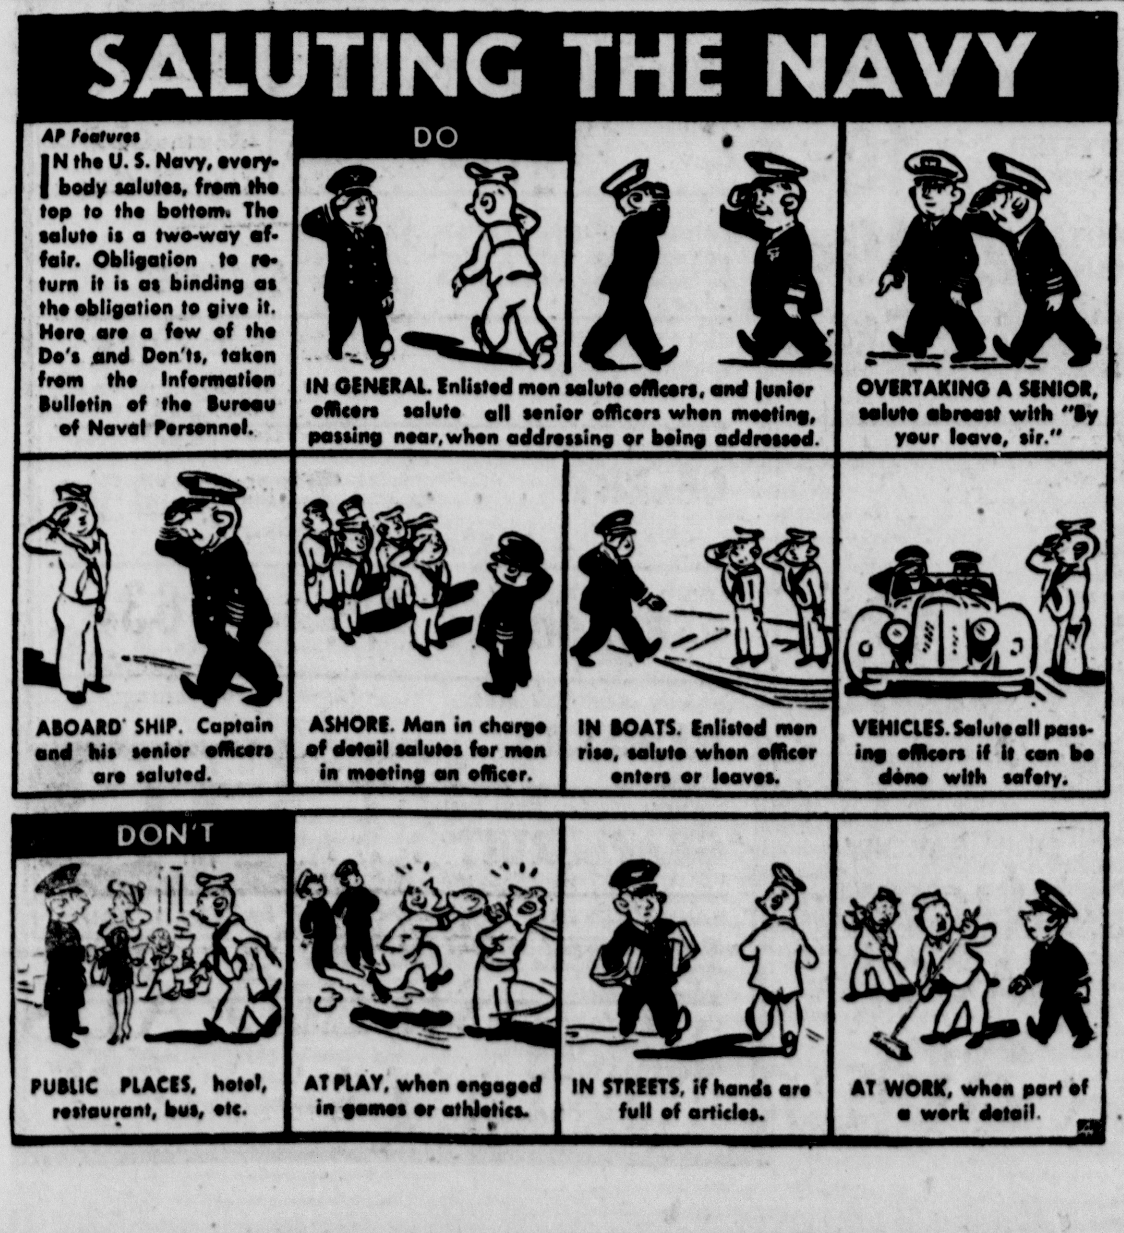
SALUTING THE NAVY

AP Features

IN the U. S. Navy, everybody salutes, from the top to the bottom. The salute is a two-way affair. Obligation to return it is as binding as the obligation to give it. Here are a few of the Do's and Don'ts, taken from the Information Bulletin of the Bureau of Naval Personnel.



DO

IN GENERAL. Enlisted men salute officers, and junior officers salute all senior officers when meeting, passing near, when addressing or being addressed.

OVERTAKING A SENIOR, salute abreast with "By your leave, sir."

ABOARD SHIP. Captain and his senior officers are saluted.

ASHORE. Man in charge of detail salutes for men in meeting an officer.

IN BOATS. Enlisted men rise, salute when officer enters or leaves.

VEHICLES. Salute all passing officers if it can be done with safety.

DON'T

PUBLIC PLACES, hotel, restaurant, bus, etc.

AT PLAY, when engaged in games or athletics.

IN STREETS, if hands are full of articles.

AT WORK, when part of a work detail.

Glamor, Drama In Dutch Country

"DRAGONWYCK," by Anya Seton.

IT WOULD be interesting to know how much of Anya Seton's "Dragonwyck" is based on history, and how much is the product of her own imagination. She has obviously done considerable research, and history has a way of supplying almost any character or situation needed by an author. Miss Seton, who is Ernest Thompson Seton's daughter, has assembled quite an assortment.

"Dragonwyck" is another version of the Cinderella story, but tricked up with a villain out of the Middle Ages. It is set in the Dutch country above Hudson, N. Y., and from this district Miss Seton has extricated the last possible drop of glamor.

Its story begins in 1844, a century in the past, and runs with agility through five or six years in which are included murders, births, mysterious tower rooms, sturdy Connecticut farmers, the tight society of the Dutch in America, steamboat races and dozens of things besides.

Boiled down, the story is this: Miranda is the daughter of stern and rockbound Connecticut farmers who live near Greenwich, where by chance Miss Seton also lives.

Through a remote connection of her mother's, Miranda is brought into the sinister atmosphere of Dragonwyck as a kind of companion to the daughter of the manor. The daughter is stupid, her mother is enormously fat and gluttonous, and the father, who is responsible for the whole thing, is a ferociously handsome chap whose egotism is equalled only by his determined use of power. Needless to say, Miranda is beautiful—but beautiful.

Nicholas Van Ryn is obsessed with his desire for a son, and attracted by Miranda as well. It ought to be possible for the reader to go on from here, and it is, if he will remember that all bars are down. He may use the grumbling Van Ryn tenants, as well as a very male and medically expert young doctor of the village.

Miss Seton is no Bronte, but she is a good enough story teller to make me believe in all this—almost.

STOREHOUSES TO USE AIR-PRESSURE ROOFS

By The United Press.

NEW YORK — An "air-pressure roof," without framework or supports, has been found practicable to build for use as a storehouse, Prof. Joseph A. Wise, of the New York University college of engineering, has announced.

Invented by Herbert H. Stevens, Jr., a consulting engineer, the roof, made of thin, flatsheet steel soldered to a steel ring base, was inflated with air from a pressure pump, during tests, to form a dome-shaped building.

The war production board gave the college of engineering a contract to investigate the possibilities of the roof and Wise reported that it was "considered feasible to erect an experimental building, 300 feet in diameter. . . . In one test 600 pounds of lead were placed on a 40-inch model and the roof withstood the weight with no mishap."

Tests indicate it could be constructed quicker and cheaper than a regular steel and wood warehouse, Wise said.

150 Attend 20th Anniversary Banquet Given By Lions Club

The Lions club celebrated its 20th birthday Thursday night and 150 members and guests attended the annual Charter night banquet in the Travelers hotel.

An address by Judge Elmer T. Phillips of the court of appeals highlighted a program of music, speeches and sound movies directed by Leo Lawrence, general chairman, and William O. McDonald, president.

The speaker was introduced by State Sen. John P. Stephenson, toast master.

Judge Phillips talked on "Christ, Democracy and America."

He urged his audience to think of post-war problems and declared:

"Whatever kind of government we have in post-war days, we must make certain America will surrender none of its sovereign rights. We can approve the governments of our allies, without becoming a part of them."

The program also included:

Invocation, Rev. Arthur E. French Jr.; club songs, directed by Charles Beorn, accompanied by Mrs. Glenn Woods, club pianist; solo, Miss Christine Sager, accompanied by Miss Jean Cowles; vibraharp selections, Miss Peggy Baker, accompanied by Miss Agnes Shadduck; vocal duet, Mr. and Mrs. Beorn; solo, Miss Barbara Peterson, accompanied by Ethel Peterson; whistling solo, Clarence (Red) Cartwright; vocal trio, Foster sisters, accompanied by Richard Waggle, and sound movies.

Six surviving charter members of the club were honored by Sen. Stephenson. Four present were G. L. Brokaw, Harry Brokaw, John A. Fraser and A. I. McLain. The others are O. E. Greenawalt and H. D. Rist. Mrs. Allan McKeever was also present at the organization of the club.

C. J. Gerker of Steubenville, governor of Lion district 13-A, was among the guests.

Committees in charge of the event were: General, Leo C. Lawrence, chairman, William F. McWhorter and Mr. Beorn; attendance, Mrs. William O. McDonald, chairman, Mrs. Edward T. Martin and Mrs. Earl Lones; table decoration, Mrs. John A. Fraser, Mrs. Charles Gerace, Mrs. A. J. Knapp and Mrs. M. M. Gottlieb, and reception, Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Keith and Mr. and Mrs. McKeever.

FOOLED, SHE SAYS. Explaining that she was brought to Hollywood with the understanding that she'd receive $200 to $1,250 a week, Bettyjane Greer has complained in court that not even a screen test materialized and that she wants a release from her contract with Howard Hughes Productions. The ex-model is Rudy Vallee's wife.

TREND IN SALES TAXES SHOWS BUSINESS RISE

Prepaid sales tax receipts in Columbiana county during the week ending Feb. 5 reflected an increase in retail business over the same period last year, it was shown today by the weekly report of State Treasurer Don H. Ebright.

The receipts were $10,554.70 as against $9,402.45 in 1943, the report showed. This year's collections so far, however, show only $44,901.11 while last year to this time the figure was $48,133.83.

The picture, however, is the same throughout Ohio, the fifth week of 1944 showed an increase over the same period last year but the year's total reflects a small decrease.

The state treasurer's figures showed that collections for the week ending Feb. 5, were $1,020,801.01 as against $986,514.94 for the same period last year while the year's total so far for 1944 was $4,454,183.53, compared with $4,420,455.38 for the first five weeks of last year.

Plans Restore Old Furnace

CHICAGO — To commemorate the discovery of iron ore in the Lake Superior district in 1844 The Inland Steel Co. has purchased the old Greenwood Furnace west of Ishpeming, Mich., and hopes to restore the furnace to a point where a cast of iron can be made. The furnace was built the last year of the Civil War for the production of charcoal iron. It was in operation 10 years.

OREGON SCRAPS CARS AT RATE OF 60 DAILY

By The United Press.

SALEM, Ore.—Sixty Oregon automobiles go to the scrap heap every day, Flod Cook, executive secretary of the highway department's traffic advisory committee, revealed.

"Approximately 4,160 cars are junked daily across the nation," Cook said. "And about 21,000 Oregon cars are scrapped every year. Junking has continued at this rate for the past two years, but the rate will increase as repairs and replacements become scarcer.

"Possibly 75,000 Oregon cars will have disappeared from the highways within the next three years. And should the war end about that time, those cars won't be replaced immediately, for it would be about six months before manufacturers could retool for automobiles."

'Met' Star Finds Bing Booms And Really Is Not A Crooner

By JOHN SELBY
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK—By pure accident, the world now learns that Bing Crosby isn't a crooner, after all. It is Rise Stevens, the operatic mezzo-soprano, who makes this startling statement, and Miss Stevens is appearing shortly opposite Bing in a picture called "Going My Way".

In addition to singing quite a lot of operatic and similar music, Miss Stevens does a duet with Bing in the picture and while watching the celebrated horseman she made her discovery.

"If Bing isn't a crooner, then what is he?" we asked Miss Stevens.

"He's a baritone. Rather a high baritone, if he'd been trained according to the usual system," After briefly scratching her golden brown hair, she added judicially, "and a good baritone, too."

The legend that dogs all crooners is that they have microscopic voices and without a mike are unable to fill anything bigger than a good-sized bathroom.

"No," said Miss Stevens, "Bing really doesn't need a mike. He has plenty of voice. I think he could fill the Metropolitan without any amplification."

RISE STEVENS
. . . Going Bing's way . . .

She knows Bing doesn't croon, because he sings a tone just as she does—not with a closed, or practically closed mouth—but with tonsils showing.

Hollywood Chatter

By Robbin Coons

The 'Most Uncooperative Actor'

HOLLYWOOD—Each year George Sanders ranks high in the Hollywood Women's Press club poll to select the most uncooperative actor.

Some news columnists who know him consider him one of the most charming actors in the film capital. Most, however, classify him as the town's prize clam.

"You'll understand my position," Sanders explained, "if you recall some of those movie magazine stories called 'Why My Marriage Broke Up' or 'I Was the Victim of Love.'

"When interviewed for publication I feel the same way a knife-thrower's assistant feels when he takes his place on the target knowing that the star of the act has taken on one too many at the nearest bar.

"Instead of having to watch those knives coming at him, I face such questions as 'Do you think ordinary girls have the deepest passion?' or 'Would you marry a girl who eats crackers in bed?' It takes some neat dodging to come out with a whole skin and your temper intact."

Like many other Hollywood stars Sanders believes his private life is his own, but he makes that conviction stick more thoroughly than almost anyone else. Only his intimate friends—and they refuse to tell—know much about his private activities.

Leonide Moguy, who directed Sanders in "Action in Arabia" at RKO Radio, offered an explanation.

"George doesn't dodge interviews because he doesn't like to talk but because he likes only to talk to people he likes."

If you can swing the conversation around to the subject that interests him he becomes a talkative man.

He talks best when he is discussing the educational system, aerodynamics, boats and astronomy. Designing and building boat models was his hobby until a shortage of materials forced him to seek a new diversion. He found it in astronomy.

One day during filming of "Action in Arabia" he showed up on the set with a picture of the moon he had made through the telescope he has mounted on the roof of his home.

"I could probably buy a better picture for a quarter," he said, "but then I would have missed the thrill of having made it myself."

SALUTING THE NAVY

AP Features

IN the U. S. Navy, everybody salutes, from the top to the bottom. The salute is a two-way affair. Obligation to return it is as binding as the obligation to give it. Here are a few of the Do's and Don'ts, taken from the Information Bulletin of the Bureau of Naval Personnel.

DO

IN GENERAL. Enlisted men salute officers, and junior officers salute all senior officers when meeting, passing near, when addressing or being addressed.

OVERTAKING A SENIOR, salute abreast with "By your leave, sir."

ABOARD SHIP. Captain and his senior officers are saluted.

ASHORE. Man in charge of detail salutes for men in meeting an officer.

IN BOATS. Enlisted men rise, salute when officer enters or leaves.

VEHICLES. Salute all passing officers if it can be done with safety.

DON'T

PUBLIC PLACES, hotel, restaurant, bus, etc.

AT PLAY, when engaged in games or athletics.

IN STREETS, if hands are full of articles.

AT WORK, when part of a work detail.

STOVES—

Certificates to purchase most heating or cooking stoves that burn coal, wood, oil or gas must be obtained from local rationing board.

LIQUOR, OTHER SPIRITUOUS DRINKS—

Ohio—Eighth period expires Tuesday for a ration of a fifth or a quart or two pints of whisky or brandy, with bonus of imported gin, rum or cordial. (In addition, through Tuesday a bonus will be given of an extra three bottles of rum—even to those who already have received their eighth period ration.)

West Virginia—Stamps 13 and 14 now good—each for a pint of whisky, or both together for a "fifth" of whisky and a "fifth" of wine, or both for four-fifths of a gallon of wine. Coupons 41 and 42 are good through Tuesday for four fifths of wine, coupons 39 and 40 for a four fifths of rum and coupon 37 for two bottles of gin or liqueurs through Tuesday.

Among New Books

By John Selby

Glamor, Drama In Dutch Country

"DRAGONWYCK," by Anya Seton.

IT WOULD be interesting to know how much of Anya Seton's "Dragonwyck" is based on history, and how much is the product of her own imagination. She has obviously done considerable research, and history has a way of supplying almost any character or situation needed by an author. Miss Seton, who is Ernest Thompson Seton's daughter, has assembled quite an assortment.

"Dragonwyck" is another version of the Cinderella story, but tricked up with a villain out of the Middle Ages. It is set in the Dutch country above Hudson, N. Y., and from this district Miss Seton has extricated the last possible drop of glamor.

Its story begins in 1844, a century in the past, and runs with agility through five or six years in which are included murders, births, mysterious tower rooms, sturdy Connecticut farmers, the tight society of the Dutch in America, steamboat races and dozens of things besides.

Boiled down, the story is this: Miranda is the daughter of stern and rockbound Connecticut farmers who live near Greenwich, where by chance Miss Seton also lives.

Through a remote connection of her mother's, Miranda is brought into the sinister atmosphere of Dragonwyck as a kind of companion to the daughter of the manor. The daughter is stupid, her mother is enormously fat and gluttonous, and the father, who is responsible for the whole thing, is a ferociously handsome chap whose egotism is equalled only by his determined use of power. Needless to say, Miranda is beautiful—but beautiful.

Nicholas Van Ryn is obsessed with his desire for a son, and attracted by Miranda as well. It ought to be possible for the reader to go on from here, and it is, if he will remember that all bars are down. He may use the grumbling Van Ryn tenants, as well as a very male and medically expert young doctor of the village.

Miss Seton is no Bronte, but she is a good enough story teller to make me believe in all this—almost.

STOREHOUSES TO USE AIR-PRESSURE ROOFS

By The United Press.

NEW YORK — An "air-pressure roof," without framework or supports, has been found practicable to build for use as a storehouse, Prof. Joseph A. Wise, of the New York University college of engineering, has announced.

Invented by Herbert H. Stevens, Jr., a consulting engineer, the roof, made of thin, flatsheet steel soldered to a steel ring base, was inflated with air from a pressure pump, during tests, to form a dome-shaped building.

The war production board gave the college of engineering a contract to investigate the possibilities of the roof and Wise reported that it was "considered feasible to erect an experimental building, 300 feet in diameter. . . . In one test 600 pounds of lead were placed on a 40-inch model and the roof withstood the weight with no mishap."

Tests indicate it could be constructed quicker and cheaper than a regular steel and wood warehouse, Wise said.

150 Attend 20th Anniversary Banquet Given By Lions Club

The Lions club celebrated its 20th birthday Thursday night and 150 members and guests attended the annual Charter night banquet in the Travelers hotel.

An address by Judge Elmer T. Phillips of the court of appeals highlighted a program of music, speeches and sound movies directed by Leo Lawrence, general chairman, and William O. McDonald, president.

The speaker was introduced by State Sen. John P. Stephenson, toast master.

Judge Phillips talked on "Christ, Democracy and America."

He urged his audience to think of post-war problems and declared:

"Whatever kind of government we have in post-war days, we must make certain America will surrender none of its sovereign rights. We can approve the governments of our allies, without becoming a part of them."

The program also included:

Invocation, Rev. Arthur E. French Jr.; club songs, directed by Charles Beorn, accompanied by Mrs. Glenn Woods, club pianist; solo, Miss Christine Sager, accompanied by Miss Jean Cowles; vibraharp selections, Miss Peggy Baker, accompanied by Miss Agnes Shadduck; vocal duet, Mr. and Mrs. Beorn; solo, Miss Barbara Peterson, accompanied by Ethel Peterson; whistling solo, Clarence (Red) Cartwright; vocal trio, Foster sisters, accompanied by Richard Waggle, and sound movies.

Six surviving charter members of the club were honored by Sen. Stephenson. Four present were G. L. Brokaw, Harry Brokaw, John A. Fraser and A. I. McLain. The others are O. E. Greenawalt and H. D. Rist. Mrs. Allan McKeever was also present at the organization of the club.

C. J. Gerker of Steubenville, governor of Lion district 13-A, was among the guests.

Committees in charge of the event were: General, Leo C. Lawrence, chairman, William F. McWhorter and Mr. Beorn; attendance, Mrs. William O. McDonald, chairman, Mrs. Edward T. Martin and Mrs. Earl Lones; table decoration, Mrs. John A. Fraser, Mrs. Charles Gerace, Mrs. A. J. Knapp and Mrs. M. M. Gottlieb, and reception, Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Keith and Mr. and Mrs. McKeever.

FOOLED, SHE SAYS. Explaining that she was brought to Hollywood with the understanding that she'd receive $200 to $1,250 a week, Bettyjane Greer has complained in court that not even a screen test materialized and that she wants a release from her contract with Howard Hughes Productions. The ex-model is Rudy Vallee's wife.

TREND IN SALES TAXES SHOWS BUSINESS RISE

Prepaid sales tax receipts in Columbiana county during the week ending Feb. 5 reflected an increase in retail business over the same period last year, it was shown today by the weekly report of State Treasurer Don H. Ebright.

The receipts were $10,554.70 as against $9,402.45 in 1943, the report showed. This year's collections so far, however, show only $44,901.11 while last year to this time the figure was $48,133.83.

The picture, however, is the same throughout Ohio, the fifth week of 1944 showed an increase over the same period last year but the year's total reflects a small decrease.

The state treasurer's figures showed that collections for the week ending Feb. 5, were $1,020,801.01 as against $986,514.94 for the same period last year while the year's total so far for 1944 was $4,454,183.53, compared with $4,420,455.38 for the first five weeks of last year.

Plans Restore Old Furnace

CHICAGO — To commemorate the discovery of iron ore in the Lake Superior district in 1844 The Inland Steel Co. has purchased the old Greenwood Furnace west of Ishpeming, Mich., and hopes to restore the furnace to a point where a cast of iron can be made. The furnace was built the last year of the Civil War for the production of charcoal iron. It was in operation 10 years.
